passage of the Bill was opposed by Cel. Allan, and Messrs. Taylor, Beardsley, Gilbert, Barbarie and Partelow; and it was supported by Messrs. Fisher and End; and was negatived without a division.

HALIFAX, April 8.
Clear the Way for the Freeholders.—The friends of the Governor, who did not want a division of the Great Meeting, at the Mason's Hall, on Monday last, were stricken with horror at the very idea of any body expressing an opinion but those who were freeholders—and some of the scribes of the same party are busily harping upon the same string. A printed list of those who have signed the Address, has been put forth, containing 440 names. Two or three four friends have taken the trouble to dissect of our friends have taken the trouble to dissect this list, and separate from it those, who, according to the logic on the other side, have no right to interfere or express an opinion; and will it be believed that there are no less than One Hundred and ninety of the 440 who are not Free-holders; while some are boys, some mere strangers in the place, and a few loafers of the lowest degree. Of the 250 who are Freeholders, there are not a few who, when it comes to an Election, will vote for some if not all of the power of conditates, and who, in signing the Advanced will be officed. pular Candidates, and who, in signing the Address, by no means intended to surrender their judgement, in all matters touching politics, to the parties by whom it was prepared

POSTSCRIPT.

The American papers received late last night by the mail, contain London dates to the 10th March, but nothing new. Lord John Russell in the course of some remarks on the Army estimates, stated that as soon as the Commissioners shall have made their report, an answer will be given to the counter project transmitted by the American government.

He said there was another question, the claims made by Maine to territory said to belong to Great Britain, which had led to proceedings in this quarter; and produced the necessity of protecting the stores and roads by which troops must move from New Brunswick to Canada. He said he would not then go into the nada. He said he would not then go into the general statement, but he thought the Secretary of War "would show that they were not liable to be charged with asking for too great an estimate, if they were to retain the means which were necessary for preserving this great empire in its state of safety, and an the same time of resisting aggressions, from whatever part they might come.
