The following extract of a Letter, is from a gentleman having a large stake in the Canadas, and ample means of obtaining information; and will enable our readers to form a tolerably correct idea of the result of any successful opposi-tion, which may be made in England to the measures that Her Majesty's government have found it necessary to pursue, with respect to Canadian affairs.

With reference to what is said about the union of all the Provinces, we quite concur with the writer as to its ultimate necessity. The suggestion by the Earl of Durham to that effect, was violently opposed, by the faction which is inimical to the welfare of the colonies; and hence much misrepresentation has prevailed. When rightly understood however, and the peo-ple learn that the revenues and resources of each Province would remain distinct, much of the aversion that is now apprehended would be removed. And we feel assured, that the day is not far distant, when the recommendations of the Earl of Durham will not only be adopted without exception, but when that adoption will be deemed essential to the preservation of British power on this continent.

Extract of a Letter from Montreal, dated

April 24.

"By accounts which we have this day received from England, we find that ministers had broken ground on the Union question, and on the Union question are the union question and the Union question are the union question and the Union question are the union the Clergy Reserve Bill of Upper Canada; and there is a probability of a fierce opposition being made in the Parliament to both those measures Our Governor General is awaiting with great anxiety, as you may suppose, the result of these questions at home; more especially that of the Union,—for if it is quashed, neither His Excellency nor any one else will know what to be at. For myself, I have not been a Unionist for some years past-(formerly I was decidedly so;) yet I now think it the only course that can be adopted, to avert entire anarchy, and probably rebellion.

"Ultimately it will be necessary to have a Union of all the North American Provinces. believe that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick would at present violently oppose such a project; but they will have to concur in it in a few years, whether the (at present) proposed union the premises therewith connected.

Mr. NEILSON, whose altered tone of politics may be attributed partly to his elevation to the Special Council, was one of the early disciples and abettors of Mr. Papineau, and was very instrumental in sowing the seeds of discontent and aversion among the French population of Lower Canada. With characteristic caution however, he subsequently backed out, to escape the danger to which the principal actors in political affairs had exposed themselves. That being past, we again find him as busy as ever in opposing the government of his Sovereign; and among other means, selecting from a print in this Province, which is the mere vituperative organ of a similar disloyal faction, articles which are productive of little effect in this country; but which being disseminated in this way, obtain a circulation which may encourage error, and lead elsewhere to the conclusion, that in this Province responsible government is not producing wholesome and beneficial effects.

We observe in a recent number of the Quebec Gazette, Mr. Nelson asserted that the

New Brunswick papers stated, that the introduction of responsible government had rendered annual parliaments necessary; a position which was only hazarded by the Chronicle people.4-We noticed the ruse at the time, and thought wards. that disffection, like misery, makes a man acquainted with strange companions.

A new system of attack against the Sentinel has latety been concocted; and we observe in the last Halifax Times,—a tory publication— what purports to be an extract of a letter from St. John; which states among other things, that "there is but one paper in this Province that supports Mr. Howe, and that is edited by a Haligonian,—Mr. Edmund Ward, who knows nothing of the sentiments of the people in this DON.

There is such a thing as attempting to prove too much. It may all be true, that those persons from Nova Scotia, with whom the writer of the letter has conversed, are opposed to the proceedings of the Assembly, of which body Mr. Howe is one of the leading members; but we shall not go to the city of St. John, or to its Press, to discover what are the sentiments of the people of the Province, not for the very sentiments of the people of the Province, nor for the expression of any independent sentiments whatever; son .- If not sold previous to Monday the 20th any more than we would seek in the columns April next, they will then be offered at public of its newspapers, which abound with one-sided auction. statements, copied from the opposition and tory

We do not wish to say anything offensive to the gentlemen who publish the city papers; but we should be glad if the writer in question, the gentlemen who parts the gentlemen who parts is not would be glad if the writer in question, would point out which of those papers is not controuled by some individual—one of them a high legal public functionary—or body of men, who advocate tory or what are termed conservity who advocate tory or what are termed conservity. Our attention has been called to the retirement of Mr. PAYNE, who for the period of thirty-six years, has officiated as Clerk of Christ's Church in this place; discharging the duties of that situation in the most praise-worthy and proper manner, and maintaining in his public and private deportment, during a long and honorable life, an upright and consistent character.

Mr. PAYNE, having by a recent dispensation of Providence, been deprived of the partner and companion of his declining years, will for the present retire into the bosom of the family of his son at Portland, retaining a situation in the House of Assembly, to which he has of late been appointed; and we heartily join with his fellow parishioners and friends, in wishing he may long be spared to enjoy the consolation and the date hereof; and all persons indebted to the pleasure, arising from the consciousness of a
