RADIO NOTES

Frederic William Wile will not carry a $2.00 greenback.

Raising chows is a hobby of Charles Butler, chief WLW control engineer.

Quite by accident, the Hall Johnson Singers introduced a new novelty in their Harlem Serenade heard over the Columbia network. Jester Hairston, tenor, was assigned to pinch-hit for William Bowers, fellow tenor, in a solo. But Bowers, through a misunderstanding, started singing the solo and left his pinch-hitter standing flat-footed before the microphone. "Then, by jove," says Hairston, "that man Bowers forgot the words and I had to finish the song. That's once when two boys did a solo."
