

Relic of Great Explorer Found On Pacific Coast

Medallion Commemorating Captain Cook's Search For Northwest Passage Comes to Light—Is Considered of Priceless Value.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE COOK MEDALLION

By PERCY C. RICHARDS, Central Press Canadian Correspondent
 Victoria, B.C.—Out of the dim past has come a treasured relic, probably the most highly prized of its kind, reviving memories of the adventurous voyages of Captain James Cook, the great discoverer, who did so much to chart the east and west coasts of Canada in the days before there was a Canada.

The relic is the famous Cook medallion, considered by historians to be of great value to archivists. A similar medallion of priceless worth, which commemorated Captain Cook's visit to Australia is known to be held in a public museum in New South Wales.
 Discovery of the medallion, which has been deposited with the provincial archives here, was made through the efforts of Rev. Father Anthony Terhaar, O.S.B. Due to Father Terhaar's historic (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

Diatomite Found In Rich Deposit In New Brunswick

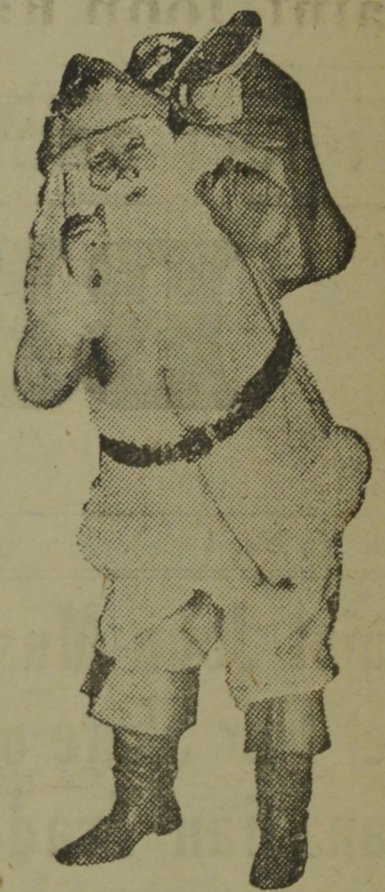

Charlotte County Find Expected To Yield 135,000 Tons.

Rich deposits of diatomite have recently been discovered in New Brunswick, four areas being located in Charlotte County, according to the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways. Diatomite is formed from shells of diatoms which inhabit salt and fresh water and when the plant dies the shell falls to the bottom of the sea, lake or river. About 4,000 tons of diatomite is consumed annually in Canada, 60 per cent. in the sugar refineries for filtering purposes. It is estimated that the new deposits will yield 135,000 tons of diatomite.
