

Around the Maritimes

The southern parts of New Brunswick were visited by some freakish weather this week. Monday evening thunder showers were reported from various districts, and Tuesday morning a snow-storm put in an appearance.

The sentence of death passed on Thomas Hagarty, Bathurst, has been commuted to life imprisonment. Hagarty was convicted of the murder of his cousin, Frank Hagarty, or South Tetagouche.

The body of Mrs. Helen Creary, of Saint John, was found floating in the Reversing Falls last Thursday morning. About the same time the body of Emanuel Poirier, also known as Perry, was found in his flat on Mill Street. Police are investigating both cases.

Representative lumber shippers and operators from Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia met at Halifax this week for the purpose of completing their organization, as the Eastern Canada Lumbermen's Association. One of the subjects under discussion was the advisability of appointing a permanent representative to have headquarters in London, England.

There is a "milk war" under way in Saint John. The retail price per quart has been twelve cents, but of late this has dropped, in some cases, to as low as seven cents. Dealers and producers have met with Premier Tilley in an effort to have the matter straightened out, as it is felt that the reduction will eventually be passed along to the farmer supplying the milk.

The Fredericton Hebrew congregation is giving serious consideration to plans for building a synagogue on Westmorland Street. A local architect has been engaged, and if it is shown that the work can be done within the estimate considered, tenders will be called for the erection of the building by contract. A definite decision will probably be reached by the end of the week.

With demand for soft steel products increasing steadily, officials of the Sydney steel plant stated that they hope the 1934 output will reach 100,000 tons. New markets have been found in Great Britain and British Dominions.

Within the next two weeks, 2,500,000 feet of Nova Scotia lumber will be shipped to Great Britain in the steamship Ottawa, it has been reported. Supplied by the McGregor Lumber Company the wood will be loaded at Mulgrave and Pictou and is consigned to Liverpool, England.

Nova Scotia apples will have their first overseas trip in a completely refrigerated ship when the S.S. Laura sails from Port Williams next week, with 14,000 barrels. The Almerna, which will follow the Laura, will take 20,000 barrels. Both boats are chartered by George Chase. Nova Scotia apples are still maintaining a good price on United Kingdom markets.

Trial of Nicholas Markadonis, charged with the murder of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Stephen Markadonis, was scheduled to open in Sydney this week. The twenty-eight-year-old mother was shot down in the kitchen of her home at Glace Bay on July 20 while filling a milk bottle for her infant, Nicholas, eighteen, was arrested a few hours after the shooting and has been in jail since.

Definite word was received at Amherst last week from Hon. J. A. MacDonald, provincial minister of agriculture, to the effect that the Nova Scotia Government would grant $3,000 to the Maritime Winter Fair in Amherst. Members of the Amherst Exhibition committee were elated over the news, and business men of the town feel confident that New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island governments will follow suit and that the Winter Fair will be resumed in 1935.

P. G. Muise, vice-president of District 26, United Mine Workers, and William Hayes, former international board member, were in River Hebert and Joggins last week completing negotiations with coal companies there in regard to wage contracts. New contracts were signed with the Maritime Coal Company at Joggins, the Fundy Coal Company of that place, and the Victoria Coal Company at River Hebert, in which there were some alterations made in favor of the miners.

Quadruplets Were Helped During Infancy Period

Family Resources Provides For Them of Late Years.

During the first few years of life the Mahaney quadruplets were given some special attention by the public. The children were frail and needed special care. In order to provide this, public subscriptions amounted to $1,393 and the children were under the special care of their own doctors and nurses for more than a year. Miss Huijota Dykeman, director of Public Health Nursing Services informed "The Maritime Broadcaster" that the children were provided with special nursing care, milk, etc., and that Miss Meikeljohn took a special interest in the children until November, 1924, when Miss Dykeman took over her duties and the Mahaney quadruplets were given some special attention until they were well past the infant stage.

The Women's Institutes and the Red Cross Society also took special interest and helped with donations. During the last few years, however, public interest in the children has waned and they are practically dependent upon the family resources.

"Save My Chee-ild"

With smoke and flames all around her, this brave young lady is jumping into the life net held by firemen. The thrilling "rescue," despite the fact that it was made for the edification of the news-reel companies, actually did necessitate considerable daring on the part of all the participants.

before, the people, every one of them, must analyze all situations carefully before acting and be satisfied and convinced in their own minds that what they will do will be in the best interests of the province as a whole.

It is the easiest thing in the world for some man to tell you how your business should be run but the chances are that if he were given control he would make a mess of your affairs. A man might be a high grade physician but he would be a dud at managing a farm. Another might be a good golfer but he would be unable to swing an axe with enough skill to cut enough wood to keep himself warm.

It is well to remember that men make governments. The people must not be swayed by party politics and vote blindly for any particular man because of party affiliations. It is time that the people of New Brunswick got away from the dyed-in-the-wool political party idea. It is not party this province needs but MEN. Watch the candidates as they are offered. Choose wisely the men you wish to represent you. Consider whether these men are seeking office for the sake of building up the province or if they are mere tools of others or out for their own personal gain. Choose your candidates well and do not be swayed by party, your own selfishness or hope of gain and above all, do not be stampeded into voting until you have given prayerful consideration to the matter or for whom you should vote. In this voting, yourself, your country and the welfare of future generations are at stake.

TIRED OF LIFE AT 155

The world's oldest woman is tired of life and wants to die. She is Staniojka Bakitch, aged 155, and she lives in the little mountain village of Javasha, near Petch, Jugoslavia. Her seven children, born more than 120 years ago, are all dead. Nearly all the inhabitants of the village where she lives are her descendants, some being of the fifth and sixth generations. She was asked the other day her opinion of modern girls, and this was her reply: "When I was a girl I used to milk 100 goats a day; modern girls can't milk more than twenty."
