

New Radio And Electric Store Has Opened Its Doors

Frank D. Thorne Starts Business at 47 King Street.

A new business venture has been launched in Saint John by Frank D. Thorne, who has opened a store at 47 King Street, where a large stock of radios, electrical goods, toys and novelties are being sold. The new concern is operating under the name of Royal Radio and Electric.

Mr. Thorne has been connected with the radio business since its first introduction to Saint John people. He has made a close study of the needs of the radio owners and has established a radio repair and service department in connection with his store. Besides radio and electrical goods, the new concern is handling a line of Christmas toys. It is catering to the short-wave set enthusiast and can supply all equipment and parts for the amateur set builder and owner.

The new store is at 47 King Street, next door to the Royal Hotel, and those interested in radio will find it to their advantage to talk over their problems with Mr. Thorne.

MODERN FACTORY METHODS MAKE NEW SHOES OF OLD

To the many of us who must of necessity have shoes repaired frequently for the sake of economy, will welcome the news that at last shoes may not only be repaired but actually renewed by modern factory methods. Gordon's Shoe Repair, 173 Union Street have completed installation of a full factory progressive system for rebuilding shoes, including a MacKay stitcher, Goodyear welt machine, and a series of buffers and polishers of the latest type. From the time your shoes are received until finished they go through a series of operations exactly in the same sequence as shoes fashioned from new stock, with the result that they look fit and wear like new shoes. Interesting, too, is the fact that this method costs no more than ordinary repairs. Gordon's Shoe Repair cordially invite you to see them renew shoes by this method.

Traffic Regulations

REGULATIONS to govern traffic have been drawn up for Saint John, but many of them do not gain much attention from drivers of vehicles. As a matter of fact, generally speaking, the traffic control is designed to make the streets and highways safe. Naturally these regulations centre around vehicles, but it must be remembered that the roads were made for people to use. Certain automobile drivers seem to think that the people on the highways are mere pedestrians and not to be classed with the people in motor vehicles. As a result of this attitude the people who must walk are subjected to inconveniences that the laws never intended.

In Saint John there are certain stop streets where vehicles must come to a dead stop. These stops should be made back of the foot-path section so that persons will not be delayed or endangered. At the intersection of Union and Mill streets, cars coming down Union will stop right across the pathway and pedestrians are compelled to wait, although vehicular traffic continues along Dock and Mill.

What is wanted is for the vehicles to stop on the streets back of the stop signs so that pedestrians may have a chance to get along. If the drivers of motor vehicles would observe the regulations it would be much easier to get the pedestrians to conform.

Gurd's

IS THE "SUPER-SATURATED" GINGER ALE (LETTING YOU IN ON THE REASON FOR GURD'S GOODNESS)

* One of the basic elements in Ginger Ale is Carbonic Acid Gas, and to a large extent Ginger Ale's Goodness depends on the way this gas is blended with other ingredients contained. Under inferior methods of bottling this valuable gas is in many cases in the neck of the bottle unblended, to escape as soon as the cap is removed, or in large lots through the beverage escaping almost instantly the drink is poured. When this gas is properly blended every particle of liquid matter has its component part of gas perfectly balanced so that when the cap is lifted millions of tiny bubbles arise as positive proof of true carbonation or super-saturation—GOOD Ginger Ale. Look for finer bubbles—they're FINEST in GURD'S. LEADING PHYSICIANS recommend properly carbonated "FINE BUBBLE" GINGER ALE FOR ALL ACID CONDITIONS OF THE BODY—AS GOOD FOR YOU AS IT IS GOOD.

BE SURE TO ASK FOR "GURD'S"
