The New "MONARCH" ALL-STEEL RANGE

IN THE creation of the NEW MONARCH (shown above) Enterprise has produced a Range so appealing in beauty, so improved in cooking efficiency and convenience and so strongly constructed that it sets a new standard in range construction.

The MONARCH burns either coal or wood, different fire box lining and grates being supplied for these fuels. All fire box parts are extra heavy, the fittings alone weighing 69 lbs. Ash removal is accomplished easily, and the danger of spilled ashes or live coals is eliminated. The fire box for wood is especially roomy and takes sticks up to 26 inches long. All grates are removable without bolts. Coal fire box measures 17x8x8 inches and for wood is 26x9 1/2x8 inches.

The top, always highly polished and easily cleaned, contains six heavy eight-inch covers—an essential for the average home. It is roomier than usual. The covers are guaranteed against cracks for a lifetime and the top will always remain dead level. With reservoir, top measures 28 1/2x30 inches and without 28 1/2x39 1/2 inches.

The closet on the NEW MONARCH is the most useful ever put on a Range. It is extra deep and has a heat pipe in the back; it is fitted with two of the latest style doors each one dropping down and forming a most convenient shelf.

Other features include finely spring-balanced oven door with new exclusive Enterprise unbreakable and quick adjustable spring, which is kept out of the heat zone; convenient broiler lever; roomy pouch feed; simple slide damper control; accurate latest type thermometer and white-walled oven.

The former Enterprise Monarch has been Canada's finest steel range for over twenty-six years—the New Enterprise Monarch now marks the way of a new era—sets a new standard in cooking equipment. Oven 18x20x13 inches. Size of pipe collar 7 inches. Approximate shipping weight 650 lbs.

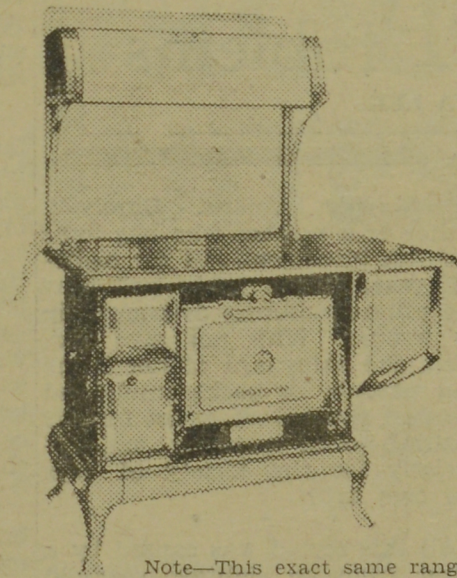

Can be supplied either with reservoir or with two sizes of waterfronts. Made in four finishes, viz., standard nickel trim, pale grey porcelain, spring green and cream porcelain or suntan and cream porcelain.
