Among The Best

HERBIE "SUGAR" CAIN is a comparatively new star in the National Hockey League firmament, but already he has earned a place for himself because of his performances last season and during the present schedule. He was with the world's champions last year and the Montreal Maroons' supporters like his style.

February 14

Men's Figure Skating Championship—Won by Karl Schafer, Austria.

Men's 10,000-Meter Speed Skating Race—Won by Ivar Ballangrud, Norway.

February 15

Two-Man Bobsledding Competition—Won by United States (Ivan Brown and Alan Washbond).

Men's 50-Kilometer Ski Race—Won by Elis Viklund, Sweden.

Women's Figure Skating Championship—Won by Miss Sonja Henie, Norway.

February 16

Hockey Championship—Won by Great Britain.

Men's Ski-Jumping Championship—Won by Birger Ruud, Norway.

Fanning FOR THE FANS

By LLOYD M. YOUNG

GREAT BRITAIN WON THE hockey championship at the Olympics and heartiest congratulations to them. They won it fair and square and were the better coached team during the series, going through without a defeat. They clinched the first place and championship. Canada was second, but lost one game to England which put them out of the running. Coach Nicklin knew just what to do, and at the crucial time he order his team to go out and do it and they won. The Canadian team scored lots of goals but did not score them at the right time, as with the weaker teams they piled up scores as high as 15 in one game, but when they bumped against Jimmy Foster it was a different story. Fans in this section of the country remember Foster and his superb net-minding with the Hawks. The team in front of Jimmy scored the goals and he kept the piece of rubber out of the cage.

MR. GILROY DOES NOT seem to practice the highest sport ideals, as in the Toronto Star he says that the Canadians got a raw deal at the Olympics. However, the real sport will say that the best team won and more power to them. There seems to be quite a thing to this amateur sport now and just why an amateur, or so-called amateur, should not be allowed to play just where he would like to is a funny thing. He is not getting paid for it and this is a free country. Such was the case in the Olympic games when the stars were picked and sent over to try and win the crown for us. Mr. Gilroy made a bad mistake when he sent over a bunch of boys on a man's errand and because they did not win he comes back with word that they received a raw deal. Send the winners of the Allan Cup over if you want to win the Olympic title, but offer them the same as the present team received for the trip.

THE BEAVERS AND YORK All-Stars are having a fine time trying to get in the win column, and after two games they are playing a third one as we go to press. The brand of hockey they are putting up is interesting and well worth watching and anyone that sees the games goes out the door afterward with a feeling that they have seen a real game of hockey. The first two games of the series ended with a 1-1 tie at the end of the overtime period, and the next games will have to provide a winner to meet the Northern section winners later. The date has not been decided as yet. The crowd at the Forum last Friday night was encouraging to the players, and they will try to come through so as to give the public more hockey and possibly a championship.

LARRY AURIE SHOWS HIS PACES

The speedy forward shown above is LARRY AURIE of the Detroit Red Wings, who is playing on one of the fastest forward lines in the National Hockey League. He was also a member of one of the highest scoring lines last year, but so far this season they have not reached last year's high standard. A very reliable player, Aurie can always be depended upon to give the fans a thrill, particularly when the travelling is rough.

Saturday Night Musings OF THE SPORT WORLD

I SUPPOSE every sports writer in Canada will have something to say about the Canadian hockey team losing the Olympic title. There will be some consolation in the fact that England won the title, with Canada second, and the United States, third. But in Canada there will be a lot of talk about this fellow Gilroy, who has assumed the powers of a dictator so far as hockey in this Dominion is concerned. First of all he had somewhat to say about the operation of hockey in the Maritimes and through his efforts the Big Four League here ceased to function. Then when Halifax players were selected for the team to represent the Dominion he got rid of them and placed on the team players from other sections of the Dominion.

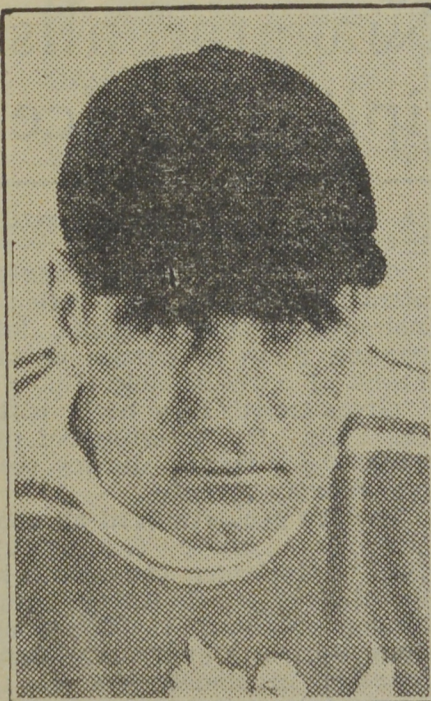

There was a cock and bull story about the Halifax players wanting money for their families while they were away but why a request such as that, especially when it was not granted, should cause the players to be dropped from the team is hard to understand. They were just as much entitled to have their families considered as other members of the team.

Gilroy went to Europe for the winter sports and did his best to bar members of the British team from participating in the games. He did not help sport in the Dominion while he was here and he gave the Dominion a black eye when he lodged his protests in Germany. He even went so far as to say that amateur hockey in England was a mere racket. If it is a racket in England what has the same Gilroy made it in Canada.

The centralization of control of sport is not working out so well. It is like business that becomes centralized, it eventually becomes top-heavy and topples over. Gilroy has had a chance to attend the Olympic winter sports. He has had his fling, now the Canadian hockey body should have its innings and "fling" Gilroy so far that he will never be heard of again so far as sport is concerned. Had the gentleman in question wished to make hockey a pure game he should have started long ago when he was at home and not waited till the eve of the Olympics to do his cleaning, or what he seemed to think was cleaning. After he left Canada he would have been better off had he let the teams decide the championship on the ice rather than in the council chamber. Gilroy has given the Dominion an example of what the head of an athletic body should not be.

I am sorry to give him so much space, but I hope this will be the last time I have to mention him excepting to announce his retirement from all sorts of sports in this Dominion.

Goes to Maroons

LORNE CHABOT, in his day one of the finest goal-tenders in the National Hockey League, has been sold to the Montreal Canadiens by Chicago Black Hawks. He was later traded to the Montreal Maroons.

Clever Forward

GORDON PETTINGER

appears to have made a permanent place for himself in the National Hockey League. When Detroit brought him up from the International League he was the leading scorer in that section, and he continues to show good form. He is a very clever marksman and a valuable asset to the Red Wings' aggregation.
