Provincial Rights Are Hit By The Federal Taxes On Income

 expenditures. While there are feeble protests against increased taxation, the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities keep on making the burden heavier for the taxpayers.
 While the Dominion income tax was inflicted as a war measure it has been continued ever since the war terminated and now it is seen that Ontario will join forces with the Dominion to soak the taxpayers a little more.

 If New Brunswick adopts a measure to tax incomes that will make three levies on incomes and if the practice should be extended there would be very little of the salaries left to those earning them.
 Eventually it will be found that the taxpayers can pay no more and then the Governments will be compelled to curtail expenditures and live within their incomes.
