MCKIM'S DIRECTORY OF CANADIAN PAPERS FOR YEAR

Montreal.—Prefaced by a digest of the present day condition of Canadian business, in which a steady increase in purchasing power as well as a cautious increase in actual spending are specially featured, the 1936 edition of McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications is just off the press. It reports an increase in the Canadian Publication field, listing the new total at 1,786.

Larger than its predecessors, this edition of the Directory is the twenty-ninth in an unbroken annual series that was started by the McKim Advertising Agency in 1907, 18 years after its founding in 1889.

Giving essential information about newspapers, magazines, farm journals, trade papers and miscellaneous publications, the Directory also presents condensed but highly useful market information about the various provinces, and about the particular cities and towns where publications are located. Populations, industries and outstanding characteristics of market areas are some of the features included.

As in past years, this directory will be sent to an ever increasing list of manufacturers and other firms in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, interested in advertising in Canada. Enquiries concerning the Directory should be addressed to any of the six McKim Advertising Agency offices, at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax and London, England.
