

To the Editor of the Presbyterian Witness. CAVENTISH, P. E. I., Oct. 3d, 1855.

DEAR SIR,— On the suggestion of the Rev. Mr. Gordon, Missionary of the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, the congregation of Cavendish and New London in connection with that Church, resolved to send a Church Bell to the Rev. Mr. Geddie, formerly pastor of said congregation, now missionary to the heathen in the island of Anse-au-Loup, and the Rev. Mr. Sutherland, pastor of the Free Church congregation at New London, having signified his desire that his people should co-operate with us in this testimony of our esteem for our beloved missionary, his generous offer was cordially accepted, and the liberal contribution of £10 0s. 2d. was by Mr. Sutherland placed at our disposal in aid of that object. This, with the sum of £16 14s. 0d. contributed by our own congregation, will be more than sufficient to accomplish the purpose intended.

It appears by the enclosed list and note to be the wish of Mr. Sutherland's contributors to have their list of contributions published, which, if you will have the kindness to insert in an early number of your valuable paper, you will confer a favor on our generous friends, and oblige,

Your obedient servant, WILLIAM MCNEILL, Acting Sec'y. Cavendish For. Miss. Soc'y.

List of Contributions from the Free Church Congregations, New London, in aid of the Bell to be sent to the Rev. Mr. Geddie to Anse-au-Loup.

Table listing names and amounts of contributions, including George McKay, Mrs. John McKay, Mr. William Graham, etc.

over by Miss Ross. I expect to see the list published in the best way of acknowledging the sums and their appropriation to the object intended. A. SUTHERLAND. New London, August 14th, 1855.

Latest European News. TELEGRAPH DESPATCH.

The Atlantic Steamship Baltic, arrived at New York, on Thursday morning, Liverpool dates to 5th inst. Consols are quoted at 87 1/2. Bank rates of interest advanced to 5 per cent. Allies gained a brilliant victory at Eupatoria. Russians have captured a large Turkish convoy of provisions and men, destined for Kars. Allies mining Sebastopol, preparatory to blowing up the city. Great preparations are making for bombarding the North side. The Allied fleets had departed on secret expeditions. Manchester advises unfavorable, cotton market declined one eighth. Flour market firm, with a good and steady demand. Wheat and corn also in good demand. Holders firm. Provision market firm.

SECOND DESPATCH!

A second despatch was received at the Merchants' Exchange Rooms from New York on Friday afternoon, 19th inst., as follows: The Allies had blown up that portion of Sebastopol then in their possession. Large divisions of the Allied troops were preparing to attack the Russian forces at Baidar and Eupatoria. The destination of the Allied fleet, recently sailed, was supposed to be Nicolaeff or Odessa. A Russian division was defeated near Eupatoria, by the Allies, on the 27th September. Collision is anticipated between the Western Powers and the King of Greece on account of the Russian propensities of the latter. Gortschakoff admits the loss of about one thousand men for twenty days previous to the termination of the siege; but he says in conclusion—"We are now free and a new war commences."

At last advices Kars still held out but its provisions were nearly exhausted. It is anticipated, however, that the snow will compel the Russians to retire from before the place. A letter from Revel estimates the Russian marine losses in that part of the Baltic last year at 40,000 tons of shipping. The restriction on the importation of Salt into Prussia has been abolished. The Danish Constitution has been publicly promulgated at Copenhagen. The Revenue returns of Great Britain show an increase of nearly Eight and a half millions, owing chiefly to the Income Tax.

Spirit of the French Press.

The following extract from the Moniteur is well deserving of attention. The Moniteur is the official organ of the French government and its views may therefore be looked upon as the Emperor's. There will be little danger of the alliance so long as the leading journals hold the language of courtesy and praise:—"The capture of Sebastopol has caused the greatest joy in England as well as in France. In fact, it was just that, after having shared the dangers and the sacrifices of the war, the peoples should take an equal share in the glory of the triumph. Since the commencement of the struggle, France and England, united by the intimate community of views and efforts, have shown a sort of emulation in providing each according to its resources the means of assuring success. If France was able to send out more soldiers, England provided a greater number of ships, and nevertheless collected successively to the Crimea 80,000 troops, collected from all parts of her immense empire."

"Thanks to the prodigious naval armament of the allied Powers, their flags rule on every sea, and exclude Russia from it. The enemy has seen his ships blockaded or burnt in his ports, his coasts devastated, his commerce annihilated, his foreign relations destroyed. From the Sea of Azoff to the White Sea, from the Baltic to Kamiesch, Russia is imprisoned by our fleets. While by force of courage our soldiers triumphed over the desperate resistance of the Russian army, the combined fleets destroyed their provisions and intercepted their communications, at the same time that they kept up abundance in the allied armies, and brought them daily new reinforcements. Our own maritime resources would scarcely have sufficed for the transport of our troops and the enormous quantity of material which such a war at a distance of 800 leagues from the country demanded. The English Admiralty placed 50 vessels of the Royal and commercial navy at the disposal of France, which conveyed to the Crimea nearly 40,000 of our troops with 2000 horses and 7000 tons of material. Every one knows, moreover, that if Bomarsund fell under the blows of our soldiers, it was chiefly the English navy that took them there."

In the phases of this war, at Alma and at Inkermann, as at Bomarsund and at Swaborg, the armies and fleets of England and France have mingled their blood together and emulated each other in bravery for the common cause. At the Tchernaya our allies hastened up to our support as we hastened up to support them at Balaklava. In the last and victorious efforts against Sebastopol, English and French equally fulfilled their heroic task. Of several different points of attack one only was conquered at first; but the triumph is not the less due to all the corps of the allied army, which, mutually supporting each other and sharing the resistance of the enemy, finally compelled him to abandon the walls of that town which even his despair could no longer defend. Thus the Commander-in-Chief of the French army was only just when he attributed to the English army a large share of glory in the success of that great day's work."

"As regards the pecuniary sacrifices which our allies have imposed upon themselves, they are equal to ours, if they do not exceed them. The amount speaking of the loan of 100,000,000 francs, it is true, by France as well as by England, but contracted for entirely by our neighbours, nor of the 50 millions advanced to them to the Piedmontese Government to enable it to give us the so useful assistance of her brave soldiers, England has spent in this war nearly 400,000,000 francs last year, and has provided so that she can spend this year more than a milliard, if necessary. This enormous burden and all these sacrifices the English people knew how to support, like the French people, not only with resignation, but with that energy which proves that it will spare nothing till its object is attained; and it may be said that, with our neighbours as well as ourselves, the nations are satisfied with following and supporting its Government, but goes in some measure beyond it, by providing it with all the means for assuring the triumph of a cause, the justice and grandeur of which are equally understood by both peoples."

Return of the Kane Expedition.

By late American papers we learn that the propeller Arctic and the bark Release, which sailed from New York in June, in search of Dr Kane and his followers, had returned to that port on the evening of the 11th, having on board the Doctor and his party. The Expedition was discovered at Disco Island, in Davis Straits. It appeared that Dr Kane pushed his vessel as far north as 81°, when she was frozen in and remained all the winter, sending to an Indian village, about eighty miles south, for provisions, which were supplied by the inhabitants. In the spring they abandoned the ship and made their way southward in sledges, until they reached the town of Upernivik, a Danish settlement on the west coast of Greenland, from whence they were conveyed in a Danish vessel to the Island of Disco, where they were found by the searching expedition. Three of the party died from exposure; Pierre Schubert, Jeff and Baker, seamen. The remainder were more or less frost bitten."

On the 4th of September the bark Rescue narrowly escaped shipwreck by coming in contact with two icebergs, which stove her bulwarks and carried away her boats. The two vessels were fast in the great pack for several days, and thought they were frozen in for the winter, but succeeded in getting out. Last winter was unusually severe in the Arctic regions. Many natives perished from exposure and starvation, and had to eat their dogs, the extreme cold having prevented hunting expeditions. No traces were discovered whatever of Sir John Franklin and his party.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS, OCT. 15.—To be assistant Teachers of the Normal School.—C. W. Randall, Esquire, the Rev. W. M. Mulholland. To be Commissioners of Schools. For King's County—Edward Moran, Esq. For Cumberland—The Rev. Robert E. Crane, the Rev. James Rogers. To be Principal Deputy Surveyor of Crown Lands for Cape Breton—William G. Ousley, Esq. To be Warden of River Fisheries for the County of Sydney—Hugh McDonald, Esquire.

A correspondent informs us that the Bridgetown Agricultural Exhibitions and Cattle Show, which took place last week, under the patronage of the Lieut. Governor and the Central Board of Agriculture, was a most satisfactory affair in every respect. The weather proved favourable and a great number of persons attended, including several members of the Central Board from this place. An official report of the day's proceedings is in course of preparation for the press. Meetings were held in the County of Yarmouth last week, for the purpose of eliciting the opinions of a majority of the inhabitants in respect to the adoption of the Municipal Incorporation Bill. The Township of Yarmouth has adopted the Bill, and an election of Wardens and Councilors will be held on the 3d November. In Argyle, a large majority has voted against the incorporation of that Township.

EMIGRANT AGENT.—An Emigrant Agent from Scotland, visited Halifax recently. The Boston Chronicle thus speaks of the Agent and his mission:

"John Sutherland, Esq., emigrant agent, from Wick, Scotland, passed through here yesterday, on his way to Antigonish. Mr. Sutherland has during the past few years forwarded 13,000 emigrants to British America. He has also for some time held the office of government emigration agent for Australia, to which Colony upwards of 5000 emigrants have been sent under his control. He is during the present summer been on a tour through the Eastern States, and Canada, taking New Brunswick and Nova Scotia on his way to Scotland, with a view of collecting information relative to the field best adapted for settlement of Scotch emigrants. He has travelled 4000 miles in the States of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, besides through large districts of Canada, and he speaks in glowing terms of the great agricultural capabilities and growing wealth of these countries. We were inexpressibly gratified however, to hear him assert that some portions of the soil of Nova Scotia, over which he has passed, are fully equal to anything that he has seen in the West, and that it is only necessary that Nova Scotians emulate the energy and industry characteristic of the people in those countries which he has lately visited, in order to rival them in prosperity."

Syme, the Sapper who was convicted of the crime of murder some time since, made his escape from the Penitentiary last week.—A reward of £100 was immediately offered for his capture, and yesterday Constable Caulfield, assisted by Gardner, Campbell, and Fraser, succeeded in taking him. He was found in a barn in the vicinity of the quarries, on the other side of the North West Arm, sleeping beneath some hay. He was a most pitiable looking object, when brought, barefooted, to the lock-up. It is extremely gratifying and cheering to know that in this section of the Island—and we believe the statement will admit of general application—the harvest has terminated successfully, yielding an abundant Crop of Bread Corn and Oats. The Potato Crop is also in now being gathered, and produces a large yield, as well as one of good quality generally. The consumers of Bread Stuffs will be now rendered independent, in some degree, of foreign Flour and Meal, both which, strange to say, still command high prices.—C. B. News.

New York, August 3, 1850. I do hereby certify that I have been suffering from a pain in my side and breast for a long time and after trying many remedies came to the conclusion that my liver was affected. I immediately commenced using Dr. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, and the few that I have taken have already given me more relief than all the other medicines put together. I went to a clairvoyant to consult him; after examining me carefully, he advised me to continue the use of Dr. M'LANE'S PILLS that they would effectually cure me.
