How Dollars Are Made!

By Stopping the Little Leaks

And losses great fortunes are accumulated. A loss of a few dollars on a suit of clothing may seem a small thing to some men, but it is losses such as these that make many men poor. The man who, instead of dealing with us, goes elsewhere and gets poor, shabby goods and slip-shod, careless work in the making-up of these goods, is likely to look poor and feel poor, too, before many years. Gentlemen, stop these little leaks by dealing only with our firm, and you will then be sure of having clothing that will look well, wear well and fit well.

ANOTHER BOSTON MURDER.

Boston, June 11 .- The third murder in this city within a period of twelve days ccurred late this afternoon in a store at the corner of Shawmut Ave. aud Castle street, where Daniel J. Sullivan, a provision vender, was shot and killed by Albano Sylvesta, an Italian grocer. The stables where the murder took place are owned and occupied by a score or more of hucksters. About half past three o'clock proceeded to back his wagon into one of the stables, but in the attempt he accidentally backed into a wagon driven by Albano Sylvesta, who was also putting up

The two men never got along well together and when Sylvesta's rear wheel was struck, after a few pointed remarks he drew a six shooter and fired at Sullivan, who by this time had jumped from his wagon to the ground. The shot missed him and he started on a run to a small blacksmith shop in one corner of the yard owned by Daniel Murphy. Sylvesta fired two more shots, and just as Sullivan reached the door of the shop he fell to the ground, shot in the region of the heart.

Policeman Moses Brown and J. J. Driscoll heard the shooting and ran down into he yard from Shawmut avenue, but before hey reached the shop door Sullivan was dead. When Sullivan fell, Sylvesta fled and took refuge in a house adjoining the stables on Castle street. After a short search he was found in a toilet room by the patrolmen, and taken to Station 5, amid the derisive shouts of an excited crowd. Several witnesses were also escorted to the station. The dead man was thirty years old, and married, and lived at Melrose sereet. Sylvesta is a middle aged man and had a wife and family at 6 Oneida street, where he also conducts a grocery business. He has always borne a good reputation, and has never been ar rested since he has been in this city. He came from Italy three years ago. Chairman Martin of the police commi sion called at the station shortly after the shooting, and complimented his men or their quick work in arresting the murderer. The latter will be arraigned in court to

BOUND TO DIE.

MILLIONAIRE OGDEN'S SUCCESSFUL ATTEMP

NEW YORK, June 12.—Yesterday afternoon Millionaire Charles Walton Ogden killed himself in Central Park. He was a nember of the Metropolitan University, of Colnmbia College Alumni Association. Religious mania and ill-health developed in him a suicidal tendency, and he had been closely watched, but eluded the vigilance of his family while they slept and wandered about nearly all day before killing himself. A policeman who was on duty in the west drive of the park heard a shot in a clump of bushes on a small hill near the driveway. Running to the spot he found Mr. Ogden lying nconscious. The bullet had entered the back of the right ear and had gone out in front of the left ear. A revolver was found beside the body. The policeman found in Mr. Ogden's pocket two bottles, one of aconite and another containing a white liquid. The aconite bottle was half empty and some of the other liquid was gone, and Mr. Ogdens lips bore evidence that he had swallowed the poison. Dr Goldsmith who arrived in the arsenal ambulance, saw at a glance that there was no hope of saving Ogden's life. The poison he had taken was sufficient to kill him, and the bullet had pene trated his brain.

FREDERICTON, June 12.—In Lea vs.

Wallace court considers.

The court to-day delivered judgment in the case of H. W. Little, rector of the parish of Sussex, making absolute the order nisi to bring up the proceedings of the ecclesiastical court, which resulted in Daniel J. Sullivan drove into the yard and Mr. Little being deposed from the ministry and deprived of all privileges and appur enances of his position as rector of Sussex. The court was unanimously of the opinion that the charge of which Little was found guilty by the board of triers of making a false statement to Jos. Hornbrook conerning a conversation had with Rev. J. Roy Campbell was not a charge involving either dishonest or immoral conduct within the meaning of the canon under which the proceedings were taken. The allegation of the essential element of Mr. Little's knowledge of the falsity of the statement. was lacking. Judge Tuck went further than the other members of the court and adjudged that there was not sufficient evidence to prove the charge as made.

St. Malo, June 12. -Particulars have een received here of the desertion of the assengers of the British vessel Why Not, by the crew, after fire broke out on board of her, while on her way to the Island of

It appears that fire was discovered in Riding, Merchants' and Church clubs, and the Why Not's hold on Saturday and for justice he is at once thrown into a while the sailors were attempting to quench dark, damp, subteranean cell. Armenian s a bucket was dropped over board. A boat was lowered to recover i and the captain jumped into this boat and was followed by the crew. One passenger prang over board, and swam after the poat into which he was reluctantly taken. The deserted passengers were greatly alarmed and the excitement among them increased when the small boat was seen to be pulling for Erquy, where the crew eventually landed. Taking advantage of the breeze, the passengers handled the Why Not as best they could, and succeeded in beaching her near Erquy.

The incident caused intense excitemen t St. Brieux, the nearest town to Erquy, and the matter is being thoroughly investigated by the authorities.

The Captain of the Why Not, although ot under arrest, is closely watched by the police. It is understood that the British consul here will take the matter up, and upon his report will depend fnrther

A DESERTERS CAREER.

HALIFAX, June 12.—Samuel Gingell deerted from H. M. S. Crescent nearly a year ago while the ship was at Hong Kong. He shipped in the merchant ship Selkirk for Boston, arriving there last spring, came to Halifax in the Selkirk and deserted her here. Last week he signed on the barque Ancyra for the run to Liverpool. Two days ago he refused to work on the Ancyra, saying he was not obliged to strike a blow till the ship weighed anchor. The captain intimated his intention of making him work, when he ran up into the rigging, took off his jacket and made signals to H. M. S. Crescent. A boat crew quickly put off from the warship and Gingell disclosed his identity and surrendered himself to the marines.-

TURKISH BRUTALITY.

SOME HORRIBLE STORIES TOLD OF THE PERSECUTION OF ARMENIANS.

THE LIFE OR DEATH OF ORIENTAL CHRIS-TIANITY NOW PENDING

Boston, June 11.-A reliable American citizen in Turkey, in a letter about the situation in Eastern Turkey received here,

"There is one theme which concerntrates attention, namely the condition and the prospects of the country. It is not only the cause of common humanity which interests us, the question now pending holds within it the life or death of Oriental Christianity. Are these wicked and Godless fanatics to be permitted to dip their swords further in the blood of innocent Christians not only in general massacres, but on highways, in their own homes, in their fields, and worse than all, in the prisons by the hands of the government itself. Day after day the pitiful story is told over and over again of pillage, burning, torture, murder, violence, rape, adduction, confiscation, desecration of churches etc.

Mere human aid is entirely insufficient. The intricates of the political question involved put the solution of the problem far beyond our reach.

The letter gives a new story concerning the state of Turkish prisons. In the Bitlis prison there are seven cells, each one large enough for ten or twelve persons Between twenty and thirty were crowded into each one. There are no sanitary arrangements. Armenians found in these cells have to do their own purchasing through the Zabtieths and at the double price. They are deprived of immediate communication with those outside and etters directed to them are not delivered. When they are allowed to write it must be in Turkish. And to get it written two plasters, or bread equivalent to the daily ration, must be given.

The daily allowance of bread by la v should be 300 drams, but it is never more that 250, and that is dirty and poorly baked. Often it is not delivered. The water is undrinkable.

Armenians often have to drink the "Khuliteh" water. This is the water of the tank where the Turks perform ablutions for prayers. Should one dare to ask and severity of the Turks.

Scores of cases are specified wherein death and suffering resulted from prison abuses. From this appalling list the folowing few examples may be cited:

Caspar Phapoian of Avzud village, Moosh, had his head and arm broken by the prison keeper with an iron shovel. Mihran Damadian of Constantinople was taken to Moosh, being beaten and ill-treated by the way. He was brought to Britlis with his leg broken. Muggerditch Sughertisian of Britlis died few days after release from prison from the effects of ill-usages sustained in prison, Malkhass Aghajanian and Serop Malkhassian of Avzud village of Moosh were beaten into a fainting condition. Malkhass was burned in eight places and Serop in twelve places with hot irons. Another citizen of the same village was stripped to his shirt and drawers and beaten till he fainted, and he was violently forced to the Saepthi office, where he was branded in sixteen places with red-hot ramrods. He was kept standing on his feet for five days and nights without food or drink. He was also subjected to violent beatings and pluckingout of hair. The letter contains many other references to inhuman treatment on Kurdish officials in various localities, and concludes by pointing out that in many cases it was directed towards Christians on account of
