McDONALD'S AUTOMATIC CAR

Mr. McDonald, of Port Morien, Nova

Scotia, who is the inventor of the above named coupler, is in town in the interests of his invention. It is an automatic coupler in the fullest sense of the word, and if it is taken on its merits, it will surely be the coming ear coupler. The method of working it is very simple. The link enters the draw head, striking an arm which flies Powdered back, at the same time raising a catch in the top of the coupler, and drops the catch into a slot which holds it securely. Many men have been killed while coupling cars, and this coupler is put in as a preventitive of this danger, and on account of the men not having to go between the cars, nor in any way handling the pin or coupler, all this will be done away with. All the railway men who have examined it, join in saying that it is the most complete coupler in existence, and that it fully meets the requirements of the men and at the same Insect time does the work it is guaranteed to do. Manager Pottinger also speaks very highly of it, and is in favor of its adoption on all Powder. government railways, but the Master Car Builders' Association has to be consulted before anything can be done. Mr. Mc-Donald is going to Thousands Islands to the Association there, where it meets tomorrow, and he expects to have his attornevs there as well. Should arrangements be made by which the coupler will be taken by the Car Builder's Association, it will be the institution of another promising busisiness for Canada, and another mechanical triumph for Canadians.
