ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying ailment, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the surface becomes warm in bed, so terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore-ulcers and tumor form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are especially affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or Irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

IT IS AN ALIMENT ENTIRELY DIFFERENT AS TO CAUSE than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging and burning character; the same itching, burning, and stinging. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

SAM BROWN'S FIRST KILLING.

A Nevada Desperado Whose Career of Crime Was Started by a Bully.

"At my first meeting with Sam Brown, the famous desperado, he did me an honor that few men would care to receive," said Wash Parker, an old-time Nevada. "He invited me to be my companion on a two days' wagon journey. I was starting out one morning with a wagon and a pair of horses from a little mining settlement under the name of Goldcrop. As I came opposite the hot la large man standing on the veranda hailed me and asked if I was going to Virginia City, I answered yes, and he said:

"I reckon I'll go along with you." "I'm Sam Brown," he added. "Maybe you don't have much confidence in me, since hearing my name, but I reckon we'll travel along together all right."

"Well there wasn't anything to be said but 'All right,' unpa board," and Sam Brown with his pistol hanging in his hand and his pistols bulging out under his coat came out to the wagon and took his seat beside me. He provided a civil enough companion and we got through to Virginia City all right with nobody killed on the way. He had taken along a bottle of prepared cocktails and I had a box of cigars, so that the time passed rather sociably as we made our journey.

"We went into camp that night at Sandy Springs, about half way to Virginia City, and in the course of the evening he told me something of his life and adventures. One thing in particular that I remember was the way he came to start out on his career of killing. I don't recall whether it was in Texas or Missouri that this affair happened, but it was when I was a young fellow, green and chicken-hearted, to use his own words in telling it. There was a certain gambler in the town who used to bully and abuse him whenever they would come together, and whenever the gambler saw him in a saloon he would kick him about and drive him out of the place. One day a man unfriendly to this gambler said to Sam:

"Why do you stand all this abuse from that gambler? Take this pistol and the next time he crowds you, kill him."

"Sam took the advice and the pistol, and the next time the gambler went for him, instead of sneaking away and looking sorry he shot his tormentor dead. After he had thus got his hand in, killing men who were to Sam and he made a long score before his own time came.

"Though, as I said, we made our journey together all right, I knew it would take me too long to stay in partnership with him, so I thought to enjoy Sam Brown's society. I wasn't sorry to see him down at the Primavventura saloon in Virginia City, where we took a drink together, and he went out our different ways."—New York Sun.

A Sled Seventy-seven Feet Long. The people of Farmington, N.H., believe that Farmington holds the record for the greatest "coast-r" in New England. Its prominent qualities are length, strength, speed and beauty. It was built by its owner, Harvey Pearl, a painter. Its object was to win a wager that he would coast across the bridge of the hosiery mill, which is a half mile from the foot of the hill on Main street.

The big sled, which is known as "Uncle Sam," is seventy-seven feet long and carries seventy adults. Mr. Pearl always steers, and has taken big loads down the hill running a mile a minute, without ever meeting with an accident. He is a man of great strength and steady nerve. He recently lifted clear of the ground, a stone roller which weighed 1,000 pounds.

Mr. Pearl gave a coasting party for the children Friday afternoon. In honor of the event the schools closed, and business was practically suspended, and Main street, thoroughly iced from the snow-drift, was thrown open for the coast-rs. Mr. Pearl, besides accommodating eighty-five on Uncle Sam, used his last season's triple runner for the benefit of about forty-seven. Uncle Sam was used exclusively for the children, except on the last trip, when, with seventy-two passengers, mostly grown people, it broke the town's coast-r record by about 700 feet, winning a barrel of apples and an oyster supper for the party.—Boston Journal.

Stole the Shoes From His Feet.

"I have been in some pretty tough tows in my life," remarked a well-to-do individual, as he pushed his way into a downtown saloon last night, "but I never struck one till now where they'd pinch the shoes off a man's feet." The man was bare-headed and in his stocking-socks. His woolly appearance created a general laugh, and he was vigorously pined with questions, until the following story was learned: Welsh—that was his name—had just beaten his way from the west on a freight train and after waiting some days was down on a step near Fifth and Lombard streets. Here he fell asleep and when he awoke his shoes, "hat and necktie were missing. He said whoever did the trick was very slick, as he had just got the shoes off himself. Several of his listeners went to their homes nearby and got old shoes for the unfortunate, but none of them seemed to fit. The last sign of the man was walking up the street with the tails of shoes in one hand, a bundle of sticks in the other and a last season's straw hat on his head.—Philadelphian Record.

Stub Ends of Thought.

Cupid doesn't fatten on a steady diet of corn beef and cabbage. A million dollars in gold can't buy a meal for a hungry heart.

To women there are three kinds of men—men, lovers and husbands.

Various facts go to show that a man's age may be as ripe as the man himself is green.

Courtship is seldom a training school for what comes after.

A wise woman will never marry the man who believes that the wife should be entirely dependent upon his husband.

Sometimes a man put into their pocket books much more than their money.

It is a dangerous thing for a man and woman to lie to each other until they are married.

In daily living it is as wise not to know as to know.

Champagne.

There are two peculiarities about champagne drinking which are capable of explanation. The one is the rapidity with which the wine exhilarates, notwithstanding the small proportion of alcohol it contains. This is due to the carbonic acid gas evolved, which is inhaled while drinking, for it is the property of this gas to expedite the action of anything with which it is associated. It is estimated that one glass of champagne is equal in effect to two glasses of still wine of the same strength and its more rapid action is due to the fact that it is the sort of lethargy or deadness which follows after excessive champagne drinking. This is analogous to the stupor produced by carbonic acid gas, but it is assisted and intensified by the excess of acid deranging the stomach. The undigested sugar turns into acid, and thus it is that too much champagne is apt to produce dyspepsia.—New York Record.

NECESSARY PUBLICITY.

THE PRE-EMINENT VALUE OF GOOD ADVERTISING.

The Newspaper the Only Natural Medium of Business-Bringing!

Advertising is business. If it wasn't business, it wouldn't be a part of business.

The man who cannot utilize advertising in his business has no business to be in business, and generally isn't.

When six hundred thousand successful business men have advertised, do advertise, and intend to advertise, we will not talk to the man who doesn't believe in advertising, and who is stagnating in his own folly, attempting to believe that he is the exception which proves the rule. Supposing he is, what man of sense dares follow the rule of exception, when immutable laws of success demands necessary publicity? Make up statistics for yourself. How many successful men in your town or city do business without advertising? Will you be with the successful majority, or in the risky minority?

Does advertising pay? Read the answer in the success of the six hundred thousand business men who know that advertising pays.

There is annually expended in America one hundred and fifty million dollars in advertising of all classes, the bulk of this money going into regular periodicals, and daily and weekly newspapers. The proven value of advertising in magazines and other national publications, has no place in this city, for local business men, who obtain the bulk of their business from the city in which they do business, and from within a radius of not exceeding one hundred miles, the great proportion coming from not exceeding ten miles.

Business has suffered from business depression, but no business depression ever exceeded beyond its epidemic limit, and every depression has been followed by better times, all the more brisk from their contrast with preceding months.

The most successful business men prove, by liberal expenditure, that there never have been times so dull that extra advertising did not pay. The foolish business man cuts his publicity appropriation when business appears to be poor, and allows the neighbor in business to cut into his old customers, and keep new ones away from him.

One has only to judge folks by himself to be convinced that few people buy anything, beyond perishable necessities, without due consideration. A woman seldom buys a hat, a cloak, or any other article for her own use, or for the children, except when the matter has been thoroughly reflected upon, and the market investigated.

While men are quicker buyers, most of them think before they buy, and as the majority of men, so far as buying is concerned, are under the direct domination of wife, mother, sister, or some other woman, we cannot be far out of the way in saying that most goods are purchased with two or three weeks consideration.

If the times have been hard, or are hard, they will buy almost as much, but they will buy necessities and fewer fancy luxuries, when it times are particularly good, they will buy foolish luxuries instead of so many necessities. The times regulate the class of their buying.

Ninety per cent. of the people don't know what to buy.

The majority of people are like sheep. They can be led by real or presumed argument. Many a woman who intends to give a poor relative an oil stove can be made to buy a first class cooking range. Many a father thinking of presenting his son with a bicycle or sled, can be made, with proper advertisements, to purchase a good bicycle or sled, which is cheaper in the end, and more satisfactory all around.

If the times be particularly dull in town, it is partly your fault. You can make them lively. If the advertisers in the city are slow, unliberal, the best opportunity is offered the enterprising merchant to take business away from them. Where all the merchants are progressive, then liberal advertising is all the more necessary.

The advertisement should not present more than one point at a time unless the articles be divided by advertising rules, or other distinct divisions, which make the advertisement not a conglomeration of advertisements, but a directory of distinct attractions, separately presented.

It is remarkable how attractive can apparently unattractive articles appear, if well displayed in the store, and well advertised in the newspapers. The original advertiser will convince people, who are not regular customers.

TRUTH TRIUMPHANT!

The laws of the Medes and Persians were unalterable, but science asserts its nobility and is ever making itself more resplendent with new discoveries. Nature's great law is that of progress. From the days of Adam, with his primitive suit of fig leaves; to the present hour, the noble art of

TAILORING

Has been conspicuous for its splendid achievements. Gentlemen, I am cosmopolitan in my predilections. I am prepared to make garments suited for the balmy days of summer, and also such as are fitted for the hyperborean blasts of winter. I am also in a position to make suits that will, in point of fit, show the beautiful outlines of the human body almost as well as the statute as it comes from the sculptor's chisel.

Gentlemen call at my establishment in Moncton as my fits are warranted, and my workmanship open to the keenest inspection.

I have now on hand a full line English, Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Worsted Coating, Overcoating and Fancy Trousering. Now is the time for you to call and leave your order for a summer suit or over coat.

CHASE'S CHAPTER

1. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a combination of valuable medicines in concentrated form as prepared by the eminent Physician and Author, Dr. A. W. Chase, with a view to not only be an unfailing remedy for Kidney and Liver troubles, but also tone the Stomach and purify the Blood, at a cost that is within the reach of all. The superior merit of these pills is established beyond question by the praise of thousands who use them—one pill a dose, one box 25 cents.

2. When there is a Pain or Ache in the Back the Kidneys are speaking of trouble that will ever increase unless relieved. We have the reliable statement of L. B. Johnson, Holland Landing, who says: "I had a constant Back-Ache, my back felt cold all the time, appetite poor, stomach sour and belching, urine scalding, had to get up 3 or 4 times during night to urinate, commenced taking one Kidney-Liver Pill a day; Back-Ache stopped in 48 hours, appetite returned, and able to enjoy a good meal and a good night's sleep; they cured me."

3. Constipation often exists with Kidney Trouble, in such a case there is no medicine that will effect a permanent cure except Chase's combined Kidney-Liver Pills, one 25 cent box will do more good than dollars and dollars worth of any other preparation, this is endorsed by D. Thompson, Holland Landing, Ont.

WOMAN'S NEED

Women suffer unspeakable tortures from muscular weakness, caused by impaired nerves and poor blood. Uric Kidney acid poison, unsuspected, weakens the nerves and poisons the blood. By and by, if the Kidneys do not properly purify the blood, then comes prostrating, retroversion, etc. Blood 75 per cent. pure is not a nourisher—it is a death breeder.

Delicate women need not be told how much they would give to get and STAY well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health. It cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally. Something is needed to insure free and natural action of these organs, one 25 cent box of Kidney-Liver Pills will prove to any sufferer they are a boon to women, can be used with perfect confidence by those of delicate constitution.

One Kidney-Liver Pill taken weekly will effectually neutralize the formation of Uric Acid in the blood and prevent any tendency to Bright's Disease or Diabetes. For purifying the Blood and renewing the system, especially in the Spring, one 25 cent box is equal to $10 worth of any Sarsaparilla or Bitters known. Sold by all dealers, or by mail on receipt of price, EDMANSON, BATES & CO., 45 Lombard Street, Toronto.
