mules to drink,
and teach the turkeys how to swim
so that they wouldn't sink;
And milk about a hundred cows and
bring in wood to burn,
And stand out in the sun all day and
churn and churn and churn!
And wear my brother's cast-off clothes
and walk four miles to school
And get a licking every day for breaking some old rule;
And then go home at night and do
the chores once more,
And milk the cows and feed the hogs
and curry mules galore;
And then crawl wearily upstairs and
seek my little bed,
And hear dad say, "that worthless boy
he isn't worth his bread!"
Oh, we'd like to be a boy again, a boy
has so much fun.
His life is just a round of mirth from
rise to set of sun.
We think there's nothing pleasanter
than closing stable doors,
And herding hens and chasing bees
and doing evening chores.
Glassville is still undergoing the operation of rejuvenation, the time-worn and rather dilapidated looking building occupied by Mr. Fitzgerald is in the hands of the builders, and gives promise of a newer and neater appearance, after the trying ordeal. Mr. James Love, has put up an invitation for the sun to shine on us, in the shape of a tastefully made awning extending along the entire front of his handsome store. Business seems to be booming, for we noticed recently a constant stream of vehicles passing our office on Miramichi Avenue, all bound for the city to feast their eyes on the attractive goods our stores have on view.

Facts for the Curious.

A silver spangled Hamburg hen, will lay 239 eggs per annum, each egg weigh- ing 1 11-16 ozs. She will require 5 1-4 oz. of food per day, her flesh will weigh, at six months old 2lb 3oz. the bones 4 1-2oz. She is hardy in any soil or climate, very seldom wants to sit, development good, and the flesh is delicate.

A Rouen duck reaches maturity at two years old, it then weighs 6 1-2 pounds, it will consume one dollar's worth of food per annum, lay eggs worth a dollar, and when well cooked and placed on a table, is enough to delight a gourmand.

The annual consumption of eggs in the United States is estimated at over 500, 000,000 dozen, and, at sixteen cents per dozen (a fair average price) represents a value of over $80,000,000—double the value of the product of all their silver mines.

A LETTER FROM AMY ROBSART.

A friend in the old country writes us, that a letter in the hand of the unfortu- nate Amy Robsart is still in existence. It is, or was, in the possession of the Rev. J. E. Jackson, of Abingdon. The letter is addressed to a Mr. Edney, a costume- maker, and reads as follows:—"edney, wt my hartly comendations thesse shalbe to desier you to take ye paynes for me as to make this gowne of vellet whiche I sende you wt such a collare as you made my rosset taffyta gowne you sente me last & I will se you dyscharged for all. I pray you let it be done wt as moche speade as you can, and sent by this bear- ar frewen the carryar of oxforde, & thus I bed you most hartely fare well from comnare this xxiij of auguste.—Your assured frind, AMYE DUBBLEY."

Scraps of Funniosities.

LYESON IN NATURAL HISTORY.—"How do you tell the age of a hen?" "By the teeth." "A hen hasn't any teeth." "No: but I have."

It was the absent-minded schoolmaster, who in explaining to his pupils the parable of the barren fig tree, and said: "Behold the wig tree, how it fithereh" and quite recently said to his wife over an occasion for family rejoicing: "The fattid calf has returned, let us kill the Prodigal son."

At an examination in a highly advanced centre of scholastic training one of the questions set down was—"Who was Martin Luther?" One pupil answered it as follows: "Marta Luther was one of the five foolish virgins, and one outstripped the other, but I don't know which." Another scholar being told to relate the parable of the sower, did so in the following words: "A certain sower went forth to sow; and as he went he fell by the way side, and the fowls of the air came and devoured him."

President at a Farmer's Convention after a long and pithless oration: "Some of our farmers have lost a great many sheep from a disease known as—a disease known as—bless my soul, I cannot think of it, and yet I have on the tip of my tongue."

Yes, Dry Rot, came from weary listener.

CANOE-FLING.—She: Which lock do you like best, Jack? He: One I haven't been through yet, but want to. She: What lock's that. He: Wedlock.

The Supply of Babies.

It has been computed that about 36,000,000 babies are born into the world each year. The rate of production is, therefore about seventy per minute or more than one for every beat of the clock. With the one-a-second calculation every reader is familiar, but it is not everyone who stops to calculate what this means when it comes to a year's supply. It will, therefore startle a good many persons to find on the authority of a well-known statistician that could the infants of a year be ranged in a line in cradles, the cradles would extend around the world. Aberdeen, which is 'always to the fore' in good works, contributes her share towards this remarkable and never failing supply.
