

OUR ADVERTISERS.

Regular Friends and Temporary, Combine for The Large Issue.

As usual we get out a paper of an enlarged size and issue to be scattered broadcast throughout the city and the country districts to make room for extended ads. of our regular patrons and new ads. of those who only go in for the holiday season. As a matter of fact, considering the price we pay for publication, there is not decent wages for us in it; but we are not going to be behind the rest in pluck and enterprise. Owing to lack of space it is impossible for us to give our friends more than a short notice, but we give it with all our heart, thanking them sincerely for the generous interest they have taken in us and our enterprise in years past, and hoping for a long continuation of these pleasant relations. First on the list comes

C. E. Duffy

The well known lawyer of Carleton street who enjoys the confidence of the public to a remarkable degree, and whom we have found in all our dealings with to be a kind, genial, affable and honorable gentleman.

John Harvey

The up-town photographer, who has established a reputation for good work which few can equal.

John Richards

Represents only the best Insurance Companies and every risk is promptly paid. It would take too much space for us to tell our good opinion of him.

W. Harry Steeves,

The new dentist has won golden opinions. You have only to make his acquaintance and you will hereafter be his firm friends.

Queen Hotel,

Over whose destinies the genial and obliging JOHN A. EDWARDS and his estimable wife preside, is second to none in all this broad country. Just try it.

The Waverly

Has much more than a local reputation and its genial and obliging managers are all that heart could wish.

Continues at the old stand to successfully and satisfactorily represent the interests of his clients.

Black, Bliss & Nealis.

Dr. F. W. Barbour

Has made a success of the dentist business, but is all the time making improvements. "Perfection" is his motto, and he will not stop short of it.

An Inch

Represents Mr. Spencer Inches' ad in our paper, but it is far from representing our own opinion of this excellent gentleman.

Anderson & Walker, Tailors.

See notices in another part of the paper.

R. Chestnut & Sons.

Old friends and old advertisers know that I have nothing but good to say of them, and that is the verdict that we have heard from all who have had any dealings with them.

F. B. Edgecombe,

The well-known and popular dry goods merchant sends his own notices and we will let him speak for himself.

Robert B Adams,

Undertaker and Cabinet Maker, has a long experience in the business and we can cheerfully recommend him to all who are in need of services in these lines.

Miss Rose Hayes

W E Seery

C. Fred Chestnut,

The popular druggist, has everything required in his line.

J. D. Hanlon,

Undertaker, will attend to any business requiring his attention in the best possible manner, and at the lowest living rate.

W H Carten,

The genial and enterprising druggist, still does business at the old stand, and is qualified in every respect to meet the demands of his ever increasing trade.

John J Weddall

Is prepared for the Christmas holidays with everything in the dry goods and notion line that can cheer the hearts of child, woman or man.

G T Whelpley

James G McNally,

The up-to-date furniture dealer, announces in a two-column ad. the wonderful bargains he will give this year for the holiday season. It will pay to give him a call.

Alonzo Staples,

The cheerful, good-natured druggist, invites all his customers and as many more as wish to give him a call. They are sure of good treatment.

John Moore

Lemont & Sons

A glance at the bewildering array of everything conceivable for the holiday trade in the spacious variety store of Lemont & Sons will "astonish the natives" and make them wonder "What next."

N H Lindsay

Will attend to the wants of the "inner man" at his popular Restaurant, Regent St. Everything neat, cheap, clean and good.

R. Staples, St. Mary's

is on deck as usual and his Rooster is game. You can hear his cock-a-doodle-doo clean across the river and it is an early bird that gets ahead of him. Guess his weight (the rooster and the block on which he stands on exhibition in the window) and get the splendid lamp and table.
