TOWN TALK.

What the Editor Sees, Hears and Comments on, that is of Interest to Our Community.

Harry Burt's popularity, among the citizens of his race, in this city, has fallen several degrees since his alleged persecution and ill-treatment of the prisoner, Wright.

It is significant that it was only an Englishman, of the lower order, that could be got to perform the whipping. Canadians of all colors and degrees of character alike, refused such a cruel and cold-blooded task.

If it had been possible for "His Honor" Judge VanWart to have carried into execution his wish, in regard to the prisoner, it would have been wiser for him to have let it out to his brother, the doctor, who, it is presumed, has a much better knowledge of surgery,

There seems to be no dinner or other public gathering among "the notables" of our city, but what a certain smirking smooth-headed agent bobs up serenely like a jack in the box. If he had sense enough to see that the sole object of these society leaders, in admitting him, is for the sport they can have at his expense, he would keep away and confine himself to his own element.

A certain Regent St. plumber had been missing several of his tools, and at last, although the possessor of several pipe wrenches, he could not find one with which to do a job. As this is a very necessary article in a plumber's outfit, he found it necessary to replace it, and accordingly proceeded to the shop of a certain junk dealer, for that purpose. What was his surprise to find among the samples handed out for his inspection, the identical pipe wrenches he had lost.

"Where did you get these pipe wrenches?" "Tom brought them here," he replied. "Who is Tom?" asked the plumber. "Don't know," replied the junk dealer; "Big fellow with a moustache." Since then the junk dealer has been enquiring of everybody, if they have seen "Tom," and when asked who "Tom" is, always giving the same description:—"Big fellow with a moustache."

It appears that the 'bloody bloomin' Britisher who belabored the coon, applied for admittance in the R. E. C. I., but was refused. This is something surprising, as we have always heard that there were three things on earth that refused nothing:—The Army, the Man-of-War and the Gallows.

The hearty congratulations we receive on all sides, on the occasion of our recovery from our long illness, is very gratifying to us, coming, as we know it does, from friends who are interested in our welfare. We thank them heartily for their good wishes.

We also heartily thank those who have so kindly called on us and attended us during our sickness, particularly Mr. Michael Shannon and others in the "Barracks"—Mrs. Ryan's folks, and Ernie Brown.
