

COUNTRY NOTES

Sights and Sensations of the Rural Districts.

Kingsley and Claudy.

The much needed snow has come at last, but is not very evenly distributed, as some parts of the road are bare, while on others the drifts are almost impassable.

Some people were very much disappointed on not receiving the Jan. number of THE JOURNAL, owing to the illness of the editor, but we are pleased to learn that he is again on his feet, and able to attend to business.

The many friends of Mr. John Cullian of Claudy, who left here some time ago to accept a situation at Cardigan, will be sorry to learn that he recently met with a painful accident. While ascending a ladder some of the rungs broke, and he fell a distance of 20 feet, injuring his back severely. However, no bones were broken, and he is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Pheeny, mother of Mr Philip Pheeny, died very suddenly at her son's residence, Kingsley, on Jan. 28th. She ate her breakfast with the rest of the family, and soon afterward complained of feeling unwell, and died almost instantly.

We welcome our young friend Willie McCann back from the lumber woods—A widower has taken up his abode with a grass widow for the present.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. J. W. Tabor, one of Fredericton's enterprising merchants, has opened a grist mill, and the farmers feel that, in this, a long felt want has been filled. The old water-mill has done good service in its day, but in this progressive age, it should be relegated to the shades of the past.

Johnny has returned from the bush, and as Neill the hostler has his flyers in ship-shape condition, pedestrians had better keep their own side of the road.

Miss Bessie Pheeny, has returned from McAdam.

An amusing spectacle, for those who like to watch others sparking, occurred at a house, a few evenings ago. A young man occupied a chair, while his sweetheart perched on his knee, while ever and anon he would administer to her a rousing "smack in the mug" which sounded, for all the world, like a horse pulling his hoof out of the mire.

Mr. Frederick Dunphy of Keswick lost a valuable horse recently. The animal was apparently all right when fed for the night, but on going out in the morning Mr. Dunphy found his horse dead.

(For lack of space we must leave out the rest.) WOLFIE.

Money Saving Sales.

The Special Sales, now in progress at Fred B. Edgecombe's, should and do awaken a great interest in the Celestial City and among suburban people; for it gives them an opportunity to go to a great many of the departments in this popular store, and purchase goods, in many cases, for less than they cost. These sales will continue through the month of February, and anyone having a little spare cash, can invest it to the best advantage at Edgecombe's.

Avery Morehouse,
TAXIDERMIST.

All kinds of birds and animals mounted. A specialty in mounting moose, elk, caribou and deer heads. Rugs made to order.
Upper Keswick, York Co., N. B.

Orders by mail promptly attended to.

John G. Adams,

UNDERTAKER,

OPP. COUNTY COURT HOUSE

QUEEN STREET

Residence over Warerooms,

TELEPHONE 26.

W. W. ESTEY

Having purchased the business recently carried on by J. C. Miller, York Street, is now prepared to serve the Public from a Fresh and well selected stock of Family Groceries and Fresh and Salt Fish, Confectionery, Canned Goods, Soaps, etc.

Mr. Estey is determined to please, and he respectfully asks from the public, a trial order as a starter.

Watch this space for further announcements.

New Spring Goods.

NEW CARPETS

—IN—

All Wools, Unions, Tapestries, Brussels, Axminsters and Hemp.

NEW ART SQUARES

In the Very Newest Designs.

New Lace Curtains,

New Curtain Poles,

New Roller Blinds.

AT

DEVER BROTHERS.

BOOTS AND SHOES!

YES

Boots and Shoes.

IF YOU WANT THEM, GO TO

J. P. McMANUS'

He is still at the Old Stand opposite the Barracks, but will be found after the first of May, opp. the Normal School.

MISSES' LINED BOOTS, 11s to 2s,

AT A GREAT REDUCTION,

AT McMANUS' SHOE STORE.

Goods as Cheap as ever at

J. P. McMANUS' Shoe Store