

Harvey Station.

The weather for the past few days has been very severe, and the roads are in bad condition, owing to the recent heavy snow-storm.

Many of the young men are beginning to return home from the Maine lumber woods. Melvin Magee, who has been employed by Mr. Thos. Robinson at Magaguadavic, has returned home, with a very sore hand.

Mr. G. G. Stack is busily engaged hauling shingle wood, we wonder why; we wonder why.

A very happy event occurred at the residence of Mrs. Matilda Moody, Acton; on the 25th inst., when her youngest daughter, Janie, was united in marriage with Mr. James Embleton, of Harvey. Rev. J. A. McLean tied the knot in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The couple received many handsome and costly presents. At 7 p. m. the guests were disturbed by the sound of music and on going to ascertain the cause, saw, the light infantry of Acton, commanded by Lieut. Col. J. T. Sullivan, and the Scotch Highlanders, command of Gen. Rodgers advancing in fours, and keeping time with the excellent music of the Acton Brass Band, in charge of Band Master Rosborough. They proceeded to the rear of the building, where they halted and fell into line. Then came the command:—"Ready;" "Present;" "Fire;" and the hills echoed and re-echoed with the roar of musketry, intermingled with the lively music of the band. At 7.20 a flag of truce was hoisted and the firing ceased. The bride and groom then appeared upon the scene and welcomed the serenaders. Refreshments and liquors were served, which occupied half an hour's space, after which a salute was fired in honor of the event, and the serenaders marched to their respective homes.

Mrs. Thomas Halford is slowly recovering from a severe illness. She is attended by Dr. Keith.

The people of Acton and vicinity are very much alarmed at the sudden appearance of some wild animals in a jungle back of Acton. Two young men, while out hunting some time ago, came across some peculiar looking tracks, which looked very much like as if two cod fish had been trailed along in the snow, but one of the boys, with the aid of a powerful magnifying glass, found out that this was not so, but was unable to tell what specimen it belonged to. Hundreds of experts have viewed the tracks and are unable to solve the mystery.

On account of the space devoted to Rev. Father McDevitt in this issue and other matter of first importance, we have been obliged to crowd out Timothy's interesting Talks to Young Women. It will appear again in our next, however.

President McKinley and the Republican party have now taken the place, in the Government of the United States, of Cleveland and the Democratic party, and although always a strong and uncompromising Democrat, we can scarcely regret the change. It is to be hoped that the new Administration's trade policy will not be more mischievous and its foreign policy may be dictated by honor, straight-forwardness and manliness, qualities that were sadly lacking in the Cleveland Administration.

If we go on taking Wiley's Emulsion, we will soon not be able to pay our grocery bills. We have scarcely finished a bottle and our appetite, which up to the time we began taking it was very moderate, has grown to such proportions that we really feel fearful as to the future. Our strength has also grown with it, and from the condition of a poor, lame old man, hobbling about on a stick all winter, we can now run again and "capture the kids" and expect shortly to be able to get out to call on our country friends to tell the wonderful effects produced by
