New Meat Market.

Beatty & Burden have started a new meat market in the shop 2nd door below Murphy's Bakery, Regent street, and have now on hand a fine assortment of meats of all kinds. Everything kept in "apple pie" order, and courteous attention to customers. We have enjoyed the acquaintance of these young men for many years, know them to be in every respect trustworthy and to understand their business and bespeak for them a good share of the public patronage.

McGoldrick & O'Brien.

Two of our young friends, who have been in the employ of Kitchen & Shea, the well-known plumbers and tin-smiths, have started on their own account in the McManus building, Regent Street, and are ready to attend to all those who may favor them with their patronage. They are reliable and energetic young men and thorough masters of their trade.

Blackmer's Jewelry Store.

The fine watchmaking and jewelry establishment of the late R. Blackmer is now run by his brother, Fred Blackmer and has fallen into good hands. Mr. Blackmer thoroughly understands every detail of the business and is ready to welcome all former friends of the establishment and as many more who wish to come.

Harness Making.

We have great pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the veteran West End harness-maker, James D. Reid. His patent bridle is something that no owner of horses should be without.

New Hardware Store.

Our friends, Z. R. Everett and Gus. Tweeddale, the latter so long in the employ of the well-known firm of R. Chestnut & Sons, up town, have combined their capital and will open a large hardware store in the Wiley building on May 1st. For the present they are running their business at Mr. Everett's old stand down town. They wish all intending purchasers to call in at least and get acquainted with the new firm.
