

The return of Sir John A. Macdonald from Victoria, B. C., is gazetted.

The latest invention reported in Europe is phosphoreous paper, writing or print on which can be read in the dark.

The Glasgow policeman who arrested Mr. Lewis Potter, one of the City of Glasgow Bank directors, had once been his contractor.

Spurgeon will be presented by his congregation with $25,000 on the completion of his 29 years' labor as a Baptist minister, December 31.

At the last lunar eclipse, Roho Sahib, a pious Hindu, weighed himself and gave his weight in silver coins to the poor. Go thou Hindu and do likewise.

The Ottawa Citizen says Sir A. T. Galt has gone to England to consult the Imperial Government relative to opening up trade between Canada and the West Indies.

The Russo-Turkish war has cost 70,000,000 roubles—the rouble is nearly 70 cents—and the annual interest on the Russian debt, and inflated the currency by 500,000,000 roubles.

The rumored elevation of Mr. John Walter, of the London Times, to the peerage has gained such consistency that his constituents of Berkshire are looking about for a candidate to fill his seat in Parliament.

Mrs. Dupanloup, late Bishop of Orleans, left his wife to become a nun at the cathedral of Orleans, and $5,000 to his grandson a son of M. du Boys.

The Princess Mary, aged four, daughter and youngest child of the Grand Duke of Hesse, died on Saturday of diphtheria.

The Athens Archeological Society is about to purchase the houses and huts built on the site of the Temple of Delphi, remove the materials to a distance of a league and begin excavations and investigations.

The Monitor of Bucharest publishes the appointment (a telegram says) is regarded as evidence that the decisions of the Congress upon the Jewish question are being taken into account by the Roumanian Government.

Two interesting burglars have been arrested at Adelaide, Australia, who distributed themselves in a distance of 100 miles and began robbing and murdering on the 10th of August.

Mrs. Tenyson, the wife of the poet, is, and has long been, an invalid. A great part of the time she is confined to her bed in a drawing-room, where she receives her guests, and delights all with her wit, grace and cleverness of her talk.

There were 108 murders last year in Switzerland, in a population of less than 3,000,000. Capital punishment has been abolished in that country. There were 397 suicides, a greater proportion than obtains in any other European country.

A navy who hurled a stone at the wife of the Bishop of Sodor and Man and drew a knife on the Bishop, has been sentenced to three days' imprisonment. The Bishop pleaded for his assailant and left a sovereign to be given to him on his release.

Ten years ago over 1,000,000 acres were devoted to potato culture in Ireland; now only about 450,000 acres are thus employed. The decrease is attributed to the great uncertainty attending the cultivation of the crop, and to new methods of foraging cattle.

England is beginning to receive news from Southern Russia, and a representative of a German house has invaded Sheffield and is offering scissors and such like goods, reasonable and well adapted for the trade from 15 to 40 per cent. below the manufacturers' prices.

There are in London 1,928 architects, 971 surveyors, 5,677 bricklayers, 853 carpenters, 6,229 masons, paviors and 27,719 plumbers, painters and glaziers, and 8,000 workmen.

On the fifth day of the great walk in London, Rowell, who had travelled about three hundred and forty five miles, announced his intention of nominating himself for the office of Mayor, but within twenty five miles, walked one lap and then ran eleven miles more; a wonderful performance.

A new map of Cyprus, published by one of the most eminent of British geographers, says that the average temperature of the island is 52 degrees centigrade in February and 82 in August; in other words, the winter temperature averages 126 degrees Fahrenheit and the summer over 179.

The Michigan Supreme Court has decided that a married woman who has lent money to a firm, of which her husband is a member, is entitled to recover against the firm, even though the indebtedness was contracted by her husband acting in the firm's name and without the knowledge of his partners.

It is stated by the Whelan that the Russians have ordered their four cruisers at New York to remain in American waters until spring. Several vessels belonging to the Pacific squadron, under orders to proceed home, have also received instructions to remain at Vladivostok for the present.

The Memphis Appeal led through the epidemic a book-keeper, 8 compositors and 10 men from the press-room, while 16 members of the families of its employees died. The Aetna lost its business manager, 2 printers, 5 compositors, a porter, 4 carriers, and the Leader 4 compositors.

The English papers are advocating planting the Escallonia, or blue gum tree, in Australia, in Cyprus in order to drive away malaria. It not only drains the ground, but also attracts the rain. In Algeria, in the Roman Campagna, in South Africa, and in California, it has been used with much success for these two purposes.

A correspondent of the Times writes in connection with the Glasgow Bank failure:—"Probably one of the reforms in the banking system of the day which will be soonest attempted is a large reduction in the amount of fixed deposits received by any joint-stock bank, or at least a rule limiting it to some fair proportion of the reserve fund."

Notwithstanding the dullness of trade in London, building is particularly active at present in the London suburbs, and many old quarters are pulled down and replaced by more expensive buildings. At the same time there are more houses, floors and offices to rent than ever. In some portions of the city fully twenty per cent. of the available space seems to be unoccupied.

London Truth says, "looking-glasses, or to use a more comprehensive term, mirrors, are very nice and very useful in their proper place, but to line the entrance to a theatre with them on both sides is always a typical of the term, 'blocking.' It took me quite an hour, not more than fifteen minutes to get from the theatre to the street the other night, simply because in front of me there were ladies, and on each side mirrors."

The British gubnot Condor recently went to Buenos to investigate an alleged outrage on the British Vice-Consul. The St. Petersburg Globe has a strongly worded article on the event, which it says constitutes a clear violation of the neutrality of the Black Sea. It says that the British Vice-Consul is a man of no account. Does England wish to measure Russia's forbearance? Who is now seeking war?

Near the shores of Lake George, the Loch Katrine of America, I saw an oak and a maple so joined that they seem like one tree. I am reminded by this of the oak and maple of England with its gnarled and twisted trunk, and the young shoot of America with glorious promise of the future. May the union of the two trees on one root be always typical of the union of America and England.—Dean Stanley.

Mr. Gladstone's ideas on Spiritualism are expressed in the following answer to a letter sent him on the subject:—"I do not share or approve the temper of simple contentment with the material world which is the basis of Spiritualism. It is a question, in the first instance, of evidence; it then follows to explain, as far as we can, such facts as may have been established. My own immediate duties prevent my getting into any kind of controversy on the subject, but I called out several reasons, without any fear that imposture will rule or that truth can be mischievous."

It may be confidently asserted that never since the application of steam propulsion to ships has the British navy been so relatively so strong as at the present time; and there are complaints that it is not more powerful. The former fleets of beautiful wooden screw-ships, whose predecessors of the 18th century were of the same type, and subsequent paddle-wheel steamers, are fast disappearing from the navy list for either fighting or cruising purposes. Numbers of the wooden line-of-battle ships, which were provided with auxiliary steam power, but whose days were passed mainly under canvas, and others that have never made a cruise—indeed that had become antiquated before they were completely useless—whose outlines and beauty of architecture may be said to have culminated, are in the same category. In fact, wooden squadrons may be seen in the harbours of Portsmouth, Devonport, and other dockyards, some being famous names, and some "pierced" for from fifty to one hundred and one guns, which are now as useless for purposes of modern warfare as the old paddle-ships or the fifty-gun ships which were born on the British flag. The effective force of the British navy may now be divided into ships for great naval battles, ships for coast defence, and unarmoured cruising vessels. There are at present in the navy list, it is quite impossible to classify them according to any former standard. The present collective fleet as presented in the navy list consists of nearly four hundred vessels of all kinds, including the half-dozen steel corvettes and the half-dozen steel frigates, and does not include one hundred and thirty-four laid up or employed in permanent harbour service, which are never likely to be sent to sea, and some being famous names, and some "pierced" for from fifty to one hundred and one guns, which are now as useless for purposes of modern warfare as the old paddle-ships or the fifty-gun ships which were born on the British flag.

The Daily News observes in speaking of the Steel Flotilla:—"Our steel flotilla is being rapidly increased. Preparations are being made for building fast iron corvettes to be used with wood, at Chatham, and five gunboats of the same metal are also ordered to be commenced forthwith. In the meantime the first of the half-dozen steel frigates, the Mercury, has already been ordered to be built at Portsmouth, and the Mercury is still on the stocks at Pembroke, but all the rest of the steel vessels in the first group have been launched. The Conestoga is the largest of these four thousand tons, with engines of 2,300 horse power, and, like these, is designed for a swift and powerful fast iron corvette, and is not intended, therefore, to give the vessels protection from heavy guns, but simply to afford a strong building material, while at the same time being able to carry a few guns, and to find a way if possible of harmonizing their plans. We are pleased to hear that they will, in all probability, come to an agreement, to amalgamate their interests in one line."

A great tract of fine settling land lies to the east of Fredericton, but there is little hope of its being settled unless it is made easily accessible. The proposed railway to run from Fredericton across the country to intersect the Intercolonial would do much to open up this fine track. The sooner it is constructed the better it will be for the country of New Brunswick and Northumberland.

We, last week, stated that the directors of the Miramichi Valley and Central Railway met in Fredericton to discuss their several projects, and to find a way if possible of harmonizing their plans. We are pleased to hear that they will, in all probability, come to an agreement, to amalgamate their interests in one line.

A railway from Fredericton to New Castle by the Valley of the Miramichi, which would cross a fine country for the way, through lands fit for lumbering and settlement. A line by the other, (the central route), starting from Fredericton, would cross to the coal fields of the Grand Lake, and extend over to Wolford on the Intercolonial, and make a detour from the Grand Lake to St. John. There is said to be much poor land in the country between Grand Lake and Wolford.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

The authorities and the citizens are making great preparations for the reception, in the coming month, of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. The Saratoga may arrive at the mouth of the harbor of Halifax today. If it has had at all a favorable passage, it will appear on Sunday at latest; in that case the landing of the Vice-regal pair will take place on Monday.

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the County, dropped him after Nomination Day, and his arrangements without a word of explanation, and to his mind "savoured strongly to a fault."

There is many a man bound to city life, immersed in business cares, and oppressed by debt who would fain, if he could, rid himself of the trials by which he is tied, and in consequence live again in the country, on a farm. The wish, perhaps, arises amidst the very thickest press of life in the moon day glances of the people in the various parishes towards him, with the view to discourage him; a number of prominent men who had encouraged him failed to give him the support they promised; Messrs. Thompson and Collier with whom he had canvassed the