Woodstock has voted to expend $1,000 in 1878 for building sidewalks in the city. Shiktehawk has very wisely decided discard its harsh Indian title, and wishes henceforth to be known as Bristol. That is sensible: Shiktehawk was always a shibboleth to spellers. The damaged pier of the Railway Bridge at Woodstock has been repaired, and greatly strengthened. The Bridge has not settled in the least, and trains are running over it as usual. A boom, constructed with rudders, eight hundred feet long, is hung above the

On Friday evening the Temperance Bill was moved into committee by the Premier who remarked that in his opinion it would be better to prohibit the traffic altogether, but this would give an opportunity to the people to express an opinion on the principle of prohibition and prove the sincerity of prohibitionists. Sir John, while thinking a stringent license law the best, yet he proposed to give this a fair trial and would help to · perfect its details to the best of his ability. Mr. Speaker Anglin protested most solemnly against the bill as injurious and tyrannical No majority should dictate to a minority what they should eat, drink and wear. Poor abused man! but then why should he not fight hard for his own pet interests? A telegram to Sheriff Temple from John Pickard, Esq., gives the gratifying intelligence that the bill passed this morning at 2 o'clock.

IRISH VOLUNTEERS.

We have pleasure in calling attention to to the following memorial addressed to her Majesty which has already received several hundred signatures of persons asking to be enrolled as volunteers, under the same regulations as guide their services in England aud Scotland and the Colonies :- "We the undersigned residents in Ireland, desire (in view of the present unsettled state of Europe) to tend to your Majesty our services in support of the to your Majesty our services in support of the honor of the Empire. We are prepared, and hereby ask to be enrolled, under regulations simular to those governing the volunteer forces in England, Scotland. and the Colonies. We desire thus to prove that we are not behind any portion of your Majesty's subjects in our readiness to make personal sacrifices for the purpose of strengthening the defences of the country." We thoroughly endorse, and sympathise with, the admirable and patriotic spirit which suggested such an idea so particularly opportune, at a moment when Europe is so unsettled, and any moment may stars launched into all the dread horrors and tremendous responsibilities of war. The people of this country feel very keenly the fact that they are excluded from taking as active and prominent a share in these respon- II ern Red Clover Seed for sale low by sibilities as do their brothers across the Channel; and this offer comes from them with a double grace when the acceptance of it would serve to show the Czar that there is no sympathy in Ireland with any attempt on the part of himself or of his Ministers to The Insolvent Act of 1875, imper or trench upon British interests and that. Irish people would repel any attempt by Russ a or any other Power to put these into jeopardy. This is as it should be, and we make no doubt that peer and peasant alike will unite in this movement, to which we wish all success. The Irish like all warmhearted people, are a particularly sensitive race, and resent with peculiar keenness any shadow of doubt cast upon their loyalty. As a distinguished nobleman was heard to remark the other day, "The very fact of her Majesty's uniform being put upon an Irshman would impress him with a sense of his responsibilities and duties, and thus go a long way towards making him loyal .- Dublin Tumes.
