PRESERVING?"

In his Imperial Federation address a the St. John Mechanics Institute, the above question was propounded by Prin cipal Grant. Our answer is an emphatic no! It is not worth preserving if its stability is dependent upon the latter day pessamists who take the platform to hear themselves talk, and strike terror into the hearts of weak-kneed politicians old women and young children. England's power and wealth stand higher this day, in the opinion of the world than ever before; and we are told that the empire is in need of large doses of medicated nonsense to keep her from falling into an atrophic condition. But these meddlers and muddlers know fully well the state of affairs; and as all the hackneyed subjects of the last twenty years have dried up, or become so devoid of interest, a new platform has become nec- formances are going on? Suppose the cessary for lecturers to take and hold by the ears for hours at a time, a new fad forth that without which the empire must fall to pieces. Think of a child telling ers was brought vividly to our notice at syllables with the "accent on," and so mother to keep the house in good order, or the sheriff will be down upon her! While England is so indifferent about her fate, why should her children in Canada put themselves out of the way and make a time about it? But the most remarkable thing in this new but very feeble agitation, is that we are not told what its advocates want. When the agitation in these provinces was for Responsible Government we were told exactly what was meant viz:-responsibilty of the gov: ernment to the people's representatives, and that the governor should stand in place of the sovereign, as far as it could be done, unanswerable for any wrong doing. All that we can learn from our Federationists is a United Empire, as if we were not united now, and as loyal as we could be if some of our great men and boodlers were sent to Westminister to look after our interests after attending to their own. The only glimmer of day light we are permitted to observe in the scheme is that England must reverse her free trade policy and throw her mantle of protection about her colonies. How reasonable! But they all know better. They are trading the red herring to throw us off the scent, nothing more nor less.

TRYING TO KILL BLAINE.

Some of the American newspapers are making a deperate efforts to persuade Mr. Blaine that he cannot get well. I certainly looks as if these papers were very much afraid that Mr. Blaine will not die before the Presidential campaign of 1892, and as though they feared he would be the Republican nominee. This is not the first time they have tried to kill Mr. Blaine in advance of a national campaign. In 1888, when he was in Europe, before the convention met, the Democratic press had him at death's door. According to their stories he then had softening of the brain and threatening of apoplexy, but as the world knows he has since demonstrated that his intellectual faculties were in working order, and that his bodily health was such as to permit him to fulfil the onerous duties of

Whatever else may be thought, there can be but one opinion, James G. Blaine is a distinguished man, a foremost figure in American public life, and a man whose career has earned the admiration of the people of the United States. He is widely respected there for the genuineness of Americanism, for his clear and comprehensive knowledge of public affairs, for his skill in dealing with the problems of statecraft, and for the faithfulness with which he has performed the duties of his office.

Secretary of State.

A STRANGE STORY.

There may be some truth, but no doubt a great deal of poetry combined, in the following extract which we take from a recent article contributed by the New York correspondent of the Halifax "Echo" -- A prominent ecclesiastic in New York told me the other day that Bishop Courtney's illness was largely due away by the excitment of the hours, or ancial difficulties by non-payment of the cians of great notoriety.

episcopal salary on the part 8fthe Church of England authorities in Nova Scotia. It was even averred that he spent many months in New York more than a year ago merely for the sake of curtailing expenses, and enjoyed in the hospitality of a city friend, comforts which the failure of the synod to give him his due had deprived him of in Halifax. I, of course, contradicted these extraordinary statements, which had been made to me in a whisper some months before. But it is fully believed among some of his friends that the eloquent bishop of Nova Scotia is gradually being subjected to the oldfashioned process of "starving out," and that he has for a long time regreted venturing upon an Episcopal charge among unwilling to support either their clergy I hae the presumption?" or their college.

Churchmen we know as a rule are not very liberal with their institutions-or Windsor College, largely under Episcopal dominotion, would never have run be "IS THE BRITISH EMPIRE WORTH hind some $40,000, while 'Sackville' and 'Acadia' denominational institutions, have been largely endowed by private subscrip- "Baby likes to see him roll them out, tions and generous bequests, and both are in a highly satisfactory state to-day. Why should not the rich churchman of Nova Scotia come forward and do as the Methodists and Bapist have done, and are doing every day; But what shall we say of a great church functionary, worth about a million and surrounded by rich friends, passing away without leaving the church or the college a sixpence? Here was an eran humourist himself, at least in example the antithesis of which should be practised by all good churchmen, especially by those who hold that all without the pale will be eternally punished. In other words, act by contraries.

> Would it not be a good rule to make for our public halls, to oblige ladies to qualities than his scholarship, and in doff their head gear, whenever they take their seats in a public place where perladies rebel and justly so. The obstruction to a view of the stage and performthe recent opera in the City Hall for it our ever-green friend of King William when bonners, or hats, held so lofty and conspicuous a place in front of one, completely shutting out the view. We lost more than half the opera by being thus blind-folded. The incline plane in the City Hall is very slight indeed, and even without bonnets it is hard to see over a tall person's head sitting directly in front of you, then add to this a flower garden, or a great boquet on top of such a head and what becomes of you? You can't change your seat so you must grin and submit, as we did on the night in question: Now can't something be done in the way of reforming this nuisance—(no that is too harsh a word) we mean griev- twenty pounds." ance? But will not the ladies themselves change the system, take off their bonnets and appear like the gentlemen in their hair-or don flat hoods? Come ladies set an example for the benefit of all interested, and who is not?

We read in the Ottawa papers that Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrich moved a resolution calling upon the government to bestow some mark of recognition upon the veterans who fought on the side of the crown during the rebellion of 1828. What next to drain the Dominion? Here is another ed treasury, and for what? Over fifty about 100 per minute. years have gone by scince the rebellion, during which time until now there has been no Mr. Kirkpatrick who felt himself competent to do justice to the old flag heroes and obstructionist to responsible government; Verily our lines have fallen in pleasant places, or rather on days that are dark and mysterious. But how is it that Mr. Kirkpatrick's protege failed to file their claims when shortly after the rebellion a bill was in progress through the legislature for paying the damages suffered by the old Tories in up holding the "old flag" and killing off the rebel and driving into exile SirCharlesCartier, Wm. Lyon, Mackenzie and Co. Since money is so plentiful and if this parliawhat about the claims of the 'veterans' to daughter is only forty-one. Looking like next, at twelve o'clock, noon, in front of the whom this Dominion is indebted for the plessings of free responsible government. viz? those who fought it.

Circular have been circulated in different parts of the Dominion asking for contributions toward the MacDonald monument fund; and the Lieutenant Governor it is anounced, will receive subscribtions for New Brunswick. All very well so far as it goes; but until monuments are erect- always of a cheerful disposition. All our ed in this city in commemoration of the beroic and patriotic deeds of two of New Brunswick's greatest political benefactors -Messrs Wilmot and Fisher-we cannot see why Fredericton should contribute towards a memorial for one who has been a comparative stranger to us, and whose valuable services in the interests of the Dominion have not been fully recognized by interested and disinterested parties.
