Very Quiet.

With the Normal School, city schools and university closed, things in general are pretty quiet just now in the celestial city. In addition to this having has commenced and the farmers are "hard at it," consequently trade is very dull all along the line.

A Bad Job.

That macadamizing job on Queen street between Carleton and Regent, does not do Roadmaster McKay any credit. It is about the most disgraceful city job that has been done for many years. The idea of throwing a lot of broken stone along our principal street and there leaving them uncovered for weeks, not fit for horses or carriages to travel over. What is the chairman of our roads and streets thinking about?

Turner's English girls who performed in the Mechanic's Institute, St. John, Thursday evening reated quite a furore previous to their appearance in that city, and the papers have contained letter after letter condemning the show. People write and talk about things they know nothing about, and as Turner's English Girls give a good clean performance with no objectionable features at all, these people find themselves in a rather absurd light. The W. C. T. U. aud other organizations should not be too ready to condemn an attraction hich they know nothing about, and have er seen. One writer signing herself W. C. T. U. says: "A Fredericton paper describes the performance as "disgraceful." No such notice of their performance ever appeared either in a Fredericton paper or in any Fredericton despatch that this paper is aware of. The following letter from H. B. Clarke, Mgr. Academy of Music, Halifax, appeared in the St. John Sun on Thursday:

"Dear Sir-George H. Turner, manager of Turner's English Girls' Co., asks me to write you endorsing his company. I do so with pleasure, and can assure you there is nothing objectionable to the most fastidious; on the contrary a clean and very attractive burlesque and vaudeville show."

That Cow Pasture.

That picket fence which encloses Colone Maunsell's cow pasture, adjoining the post office, should be painted. Situated on our most public thoroughfare and in the most conspicuous place in the city a cow pasture is not a very grand institution at any rate. Were it somewhere on the Springhill road it would not be so bad, but right on front street it looks very disgraceful, more especially to strangers. If Col. Maunsell would have a nice cedar hedge put inside that picket fence then his cows could graze there, and no one would know anything about it. Act upon this Colonel and send some of the men out for a lot of cedars.
