CUY FAWKES' DAY.

THE ORANGEMEN'S CELEBRA-TION OF THE

Frustration of the Gunpowder Plot.

Turned Into an Opposition Committee

Last Saturday evening being the 5th of November, and Guy Fawkes' Day, the Orangemen of this city met at the York Street restaurant to celebrate the frustration of the gunpowder plot. Mr. Lindsay, the popular proprietor, who is noted for his ability as a caterer, excelled himself on this occasion; handsomely decorated tables, laden with an abundance of all the delicacies of the season, greeter the eye of each person as they entered the large dining room, which was also tastefully decorated. After all had partaken liberally of the edibles, County Master Pitts arose and in a few appropriate remarks proposed a toast to the Queen. Mr. George Parker, one of the oldest members of the Order, was then called upon by Bro Pitts for a few remarks, but, being still busily engaged disposing of the good things spread before him, declined to respond, and a guest, was called upon. Mr. Beckwith began his address by remarking that it was the first time he had had the pleasure of meeting with the Orangemen in any of their celebrations, and he felt it a great honor to be there. He, as a member of the Sons of England, and holding a high position in that society, a society with principles similar to those of the Orange Order, felt proud of the action taken by the Orangemen in the late election-but perhaps politics are not in order?

Gleaner reporter-Go on, go on. County Master Pitts-Let her gush.

Mr. Beckwith having received the consen of the County Master and Gleaner reporter, proceeded to do up the Blair government in one round and sat down, after proposing a toast to the representatives of York, amid thunders of applause from the chairman and a number of his supporters. Some of the party refused to drink to this toast and remained seated.

after several preliminary movements in the ing. shape of whiping off his chin and pulling down his vest, managed to ejaculate that "he was too full for utterance," (a remark he borrowed from Mr. Geo. Parker) and sat down with the expressed intention of "sticking to the Orangemen."

followed, and immediately took up the political question. In his remarks he stated that the slurs cast upon him, the representative of the orangemen, were an insult to the orangemen as a body.

A voice-Oh no, not at all.

An-an-an-and gentlemen, I tell you the little circulars did the business in York and will do good service in Queens to, and don't you forget it, and, and, and we'll bury Andrew G. Blair so deep that he won't ever come up again, no sir ree-bob, he won't, not by a jugful and don't you forget it, either. I tell you we are the people, ain't we Nat, eh, old boy! Nat-Of course we are.

You bet we are, and we'll show them that Pitts is not quite so crazy as they take him

And now, gentlemen, I will call upon County Master Ncales, of Queens.

Mr. Neals, upon rising DID mention the fact that the lodges had met for the purpose of celebrating the frustration of the gunpowder plot, but immediately drifted into the same channel as the previous speakers. He informed the meeting that although he held three government positions in Queens he was willing to sacrific all for the cause, and trust to Providence. He, as County Master of Queens, felt sure that if the orangemen of Queens could be worked as they had been in of Fredericton Junction. York, Mr. Blair would stand a very poor show of representing the county of Queens.

Mr. J. De Veber Neales might have, but did not, enlighten the meeting as to his reasons for so suddenly becoming so bitterly opposed to the government. He refrained from telling them how he had been ambitious enough to aspire for nomination, and desired to represent Queens as a government supporter in the late election. He did not tell them that his partner, Mr. Ebbitt, had secured the nomination he so much coveted, but declined to accept it, the understanding being that in case Mr. Ebbitt declined Mr. Neales would be the nominee. He did not tell them that the people absolutely refused to have him as their representative in the stead of Mr. Ebbitt. He did not tell them how he then sought nomination as a ropresentative of the opposition in H. Berry for 2,400. There is some 1,800 that county, and was refused. I had to hold my arms away from my body, and had to have my arms, back and legs bandaged by my faithful wife twice a day. "Finally a friend who was visiting at our house, urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began by taking half a teaspoonful. My

Stomach Was All Out of Order

But the medicine soon corrected this, and in six weeks I could see a change in the condition of the humor which nearly covered my body. It was driven to the surface by the Sarsaparilla, the sores soon healed, and the scales fell off. I was soon able to give up bandages and crutches, and a happy man I was. I had been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for seven months; and since that time, nearly two years, I have worn no bandages whatever and my legs and arms are sound and well.
