Married at New York.

Mr. Arthur H. Strickland, formerly of this city, was married at New York City on Thursday, May 26th, to Miss Sibyl Felter, of Saugerties, N. Y. Arthur is one of our boys who has done well for himself since leaving here. He holds the position of foreman in Rochester Electric car wheel works. The GLOBE extends to the happy couple its hearty congratulations.

Matrimonial.

At ten o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. J. W. McCready, County Auditor, and Miss Cooper, daughter of Mr. Wm. Cooper, were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, the knot being tied by Rev. Mr. Crawley. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. Mr. and Mrs. McCready left by the C. P. R. at eleven o'clock for St. John en route for Nova Scotia. The GLOBE extends congratulations.

The New Drug Store.

Mr. William Carten has completed the work of fitting up the store on the corner of Queen and Carleton streets, and expects to be open for business about the latter part of next week. The store has been remodelled throughout and presents a very pretty appearance. A new hardwood floor has been laid, the ceiling sheathed, while the counters and fittings are done in cherry. We wish Mr. Carten every success in business.

Centennial Celebration.

The Episcopalians of Gagetown are making arrangements for a grand celebration in July of the centennial of their church. The first church was built in 1790 and consecrated in 1792 by Bishop English. The old building was burned down some years and the new edifice was consecrated in 1810. There will be an excursion to Gagetown under the auspices of the Loyalist Society, and Sir Leonard Tilley, Rev. W. O. Raymond and Jonas Howe will assist in the celebration. Rev. N. C. Hanson, rector of Gagetown, is exerting every effort to make the celebration a success.

VICTORIA MILLS BURNED.

The Loss Estimated at $45,000. The Mill Insured For $15,000.

The Victoria mills, two miles below the city were totally destroyed by fire Thursday morning. At a quarter to four o'clock, Mr. Frank Carr, night watchman, discovered fire on the roof of the boiler house, when he immediately emptied the water in the barrels that were above the flames, on the roof, and then gave the alarm. The fire meantime had got under good headway and all efforts to extinguish the flames proved of no avail. A number of firemen from the city took one of the steam engines down and succeeded in saving a quantity of lumber which otherwise would have been destroyed. The mill machinery, all of which was totally destroyed, consisted of one gang, two planers, one lath machine, two clap-edger, two shingle machines, one patent band machine, and the engine, a 23x48 cylinder. The four large boilers, it is thought will be all right.

Hale & Murchie bought the mill three years ago and last year added improvements to the extent of $10,000. The loss will be felt largely by the whole community. The firm had the whole of their winter's cut out and all ready for manufacturing. Seventy-five men are thrown out of employment.

The mill is insured for $5,000 in the Queen, $5,000 in the Royal, $2,500 in the National and about $2,500 in the North British and Mercantile.

SPORTING NEWS.

THE RING.

Jackson Defeats Slavin in a Most Brutal Fight.

The contest at the National Sporting Club London, between Peter Jackson and Frank Slavin was a battle for blood from the first round to the last. Both men fought like tigers. There was no shamming, no hugging, no falling to escape punishment, no fear on either side from beginning to end. Old and expert sportsmen say they never saw a better or as good a fight between two men.

While the fight on both sides was as fair as could be fought, it was nevertheless one of the most cruel and brutal. When Slavin received his coup de grace he would not give in, but dazed and tottering though he was, a single thought remained in his mind—he must not fall. Receiving one after another the terrific blows of his antagonist, and fainting and bleeding he staggered from one side of the ring to the other, but would not go down.

Jackson realizing the pitiful condition of his opponent, thrice turned to the referee to ask: "Must I hit him again?" Each time the referee was obliged to reply under the laws of the ring: "You must knock him out to win."

Slavin tottered up against the ropes once, and Sir John Astley, whose humane instincts overcome even his regard for the rules of pugilism, held him with both hands to prevent his falling over among the spectators.

Twice Slavin went down so far as to seize the lower rope with both hands to prevent going to the floor, while his black opponent with arm drawn back, awaited his rising to batter him down.

When the big Australian finally fell into the sawdust his face and body were covered with blood, and his form was quivering. It was three minutes after his seconds dragged him to his chair before he gave any sign of life. His left eye was closed and swelled up to the size of a hen's egg, his left ear was split up for half an inch and bleeding profusely, as were cuts on both sides of his face, and his nose and lips. It will be weeks before he is the same man again.

Two Murphys Slag Each Other.

Last Tuesday night, Billy Murphy of New Zealand and Johnny Murphy of Boston, fought to a finish at the Pacific Athletic club for a purse of $1,250.

The betting was 20 to 12 in Billy's favor. The men were trained close to a 116 pounds limit. Time was called at 9.28.

The Australian looked like a full grown man, beside a pigmy.

He scored a left in the wind and caught a left one on the chin, but a long swing landed on Johnny's chin and he staggered, dropping to the floor.

A second clip near the end of the round also sent Johnny spinning. From the third to the tenth round the fight was little more than a boxing exhibition.

In the tenth round Billy scored two hard smashes, which looked for a time like a finisher. In the thirteenth round the Bostonian staggered his opponent with a right cross under the chin and smashed him with both hands until it looked as if Billy was out. Johnny failed of an upper cut at a critical moment and Billy came back hard with his right.

The New Zealander was in a bad shape however, and had the Bostonian more length of arm, he would undoubtedly have finished the fight in this round. In the fourteenth round Billy cut the Bostonian's cheek with his right hand, drawing blood.

Rounds from 15th to 30th were marked by give and take fighting, and the many clever rallies were loudly applauded by the spectators.

In the 26th round Billy Murphy was knocked down and for nine seconds he was clearly in dreamland.

But he came up barely into the limit and was able to keep the eastern boy off for the rest of the round.

The 10 rounds following the 30th were free of fighting, and in the 40th the referee, Sullivan, announced that as no work had been done for a quarter of an hour or more, he would postpone the battle, which will be resumed some time later in the month.

The Derby Winner.

The great event of the English turf, was run Wednesday at Epsom. The course was crowded with all classes and conditions of people, from members of the highest aristocracy to tipsters and hangers on of the stables. The conditions of the race were as follows: Derby stakes of 5,000 sovereigns for the winner, 500 sovereigns for nominator of winner, 300 sovereigns for owner of second winner, and 200 sovereigns for owner of third winner. For three year olds, a mile and a half. The race was won by Sir Hugo first, Laflamme second and Deucentaur third.

One hundred and twenty of the leaders of the Lodz riots have been tried, found guilty and sentenced for Siberia. More trouble is expected. The laborers in Lodz alone number 80,000, and the nihilists and anarchists are said to be agitating among them, with a view to inciting new outbreaks.

The aggregate losses caused by the great flood, based upon reliable estimates, reach $29,000,000. This estimate does not include stagnation in business among merchants and transportation lines. A conservative estimate of amount of the damage from high waters from Kansas City to New Orleans places the figures at $50,000,000.

Several days ago three young school girls of Corinth, in resentment of parental control, agreed to meet at a certain place and commit suicide. At the last minute one backed out; another took blackberry juice, but the third, the daughter of a rev. gentleman, meant business, and drank half an ounce of laudanum. A doctor and a stomach pump saved her life.

A BIG DEAL.

$250,000 Paid for a Half Interest in the Trade Mark of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the United States.

The brilliant reputation achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Canada has not only extended to the United States, but has led to an important business transaction. One of the best known American proprietary medicine houses, the head of which is the president of a leading National Bank in New York state, has recently purchased a half interest in the trade mark of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. for the United States only, for which, we understand, the consideration was $250,000. This sale is probably the first instance in which an American institution has purchased an interest in a Canadian remedy, and offers the very best proof of the sterling merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as we may be sure that the American capitalists, before venturing so large a sum in the half interest of the trade mark, fully investigated and verified the claims made for the remedy. It is a tribute, too, to Canadian medical science, which has brought to perfection this remarkable medicine.

THURSDAY'S STORM.

Lightning Strikes Major Tucker's Farm, Burns a Barn and Kills some Valuable Stock.

The lightning Thursday afternoon visited the farm of Major Tucker, about four or five miles from the city of St. John on the Sand Cove road, and did a great deal of damage. About 3 o'clock the farm hand was engaged at work about 300 yards from the barn, when he heard a crash, and looking up, saw that the lightning had struck and ripped open the roof of the building which had also taken fire. He immediately rushed to the barn and found that the major's herd of six registered Jersey cattle, five had been killed outright, and one paralyzed by the shock. The cattle, five cows and a bull, had shortly before been driven in and fastened in the barn. The lightning appears to have scorched the face of the first animal—a fine cow heavy with calf—and then ran round in a half circle killing the others of the herd. The cattle were all lying on their sides, facing in one direction, and had apparently been killed instantly. The man at once, in some way which he cannot now explain, rolled the injured cow out of the barn, and it is hoped that she will be saved. There were two horses in the building, and they jumped when the roof was shattered and escaped through the open door. The barn was burning fiercely and very rapidly, and though the neighbors hastened to the spot and worked vigorously, it was impossible to save more than some of the smaller buildings connected with the main barn. The loss will be more than $1,000, on which there is $500 insurance in the Phoenix. In the barn were 400 bushels of oats, a quantity of heavy feed, about 30 tons of hay, several fine carriages and sleighs, harness and many other articles of value, which would naturally be collected. The building was 130x30 feet, built with an angle. A large ice house and several other out-buildings went with it. The loss is really not known as many articles must have been burned of which no notice has yet been taken.

ANOTHER CROVIN SUSPECT.

Edward Trainor, who Figured in the Chicago Mystery, is Accidentally Killed.

One more man whose suspected complicity in the murder of Dr. Patrick Cronin caused him much annoyance and brought him some notoriety, is dead. He is Edward Trainor, who, according to the friends of Cronin, was the driver of the wagon that carried the bloody trunk to the Lake View catch-basin. He was a plasterer by trade, and was working on a building in Hyde Park on Friday of last week, when a scaffold gave way, throwing him to the ground, two stories below. He received injuries on the skull which rendered him unconscious, and he died without speaking at a West Side hospital on Tuesday last.

A member of the Cronin wing of the Clan-na-Gael says that when it was known Trainor was badly hurt two of the anti-Cronin gang, named McDermott and Ryan hurried him off to a hospital and kept a close guard on him for fear that he would say something. Trainor had a partner, named William Gavin, in the plaster business some time ago, but they disagreed and separated. Several remarks that Trainor made about Gavin after the trouble have served to strengthen the suspicion that the former had something to do with the murder.

The death of Trainor, following so closely on that of Patrick O'Sullivan in the Joliet penitentiary, has caused a sensation in the Clan-na-Gael.

A GREEN GOODS DIRECTORY.

Two Men Arrested for Asking Postmasters to Help Complete it.

Post Office Inspector Jacobs, of New York, has just returned from the West, where he arrested two green goods men. The chase lasted for more than a month through Canada and the West, and Inspector Jacobs finally captured his men in Toledo. They said they were W. P. Volkmar and W. G. Turner.

They have been sending out circular letters to the postmasters of the West, Inspector Jacobs says, requesting each postmaster to send them a list of the prosperous farmers of his locality for a "new business directory similar to those of Bradstreet and Dun." They sent a dollar to each postmaster to pay him for his trouble.
