After a long series of experiments in creaming milk, the Wisconsin experiment station reaches the following conclusions: 1 .- In skimming by the Cooley system, the syphon should be set so as to leave at least one inch of skim milk with the cream. 2.-The efficiency of creaming by deep setting is greatly influenced by the character of the herd, the milk from some herds creaming very close, while that from other herds under tne same conditions, creams poorly. This difference may amount to as much as one pound of butter per 100 pounds of milk. 3 .- Delay in setting may cause a considerable loss with the milk from some herds and scarcely any with that of others. To avoid the possibility of such loss it is recommended that milk be set as soon as possible after milking. 4-Deep setting without ice under the most favorable conditions results in considerable loss, and where the water used is not lower than 50 degrees F. the loss is excessive, reaching in some cases as much as 25 per cent of the total fat in the milk. 5.—The centrifugal system of separating cream overcomes all of these Small stones on the land should be broken difficulties, giving an efficient creaming with milk from all sources, either directly after milking or after standing several hours. 6-The Baby separator No. 2 may be used with

The following is a good hit by the Elgin Dairy Report : "Most creameries are idle or half idle for want of milk. The cows went dry, or half dry for want of grass, right here in the center of the great grass belt of the continent. Discouraged men sell off cows. discouraged dairymen abandon business, all because the cows did not have grass enough. It is amazing how much there is yet to learn about growing grass. Yet most everybody thinks he knows all about so simple a thing. Our dairy people have lost sight of this, and devoted too much time to butter fats, total solids, etc." This is the tendency of so much Mathematical rations are as good as hints, tomfoolery. Amid the boom of testers, many have become so interested in ascertaining the fat percentage of the product that they have overlooked the first essentials of production and so have neglected to properly feed their cows, and become stranded on dry land. A Barber Shaving While Asleep.

A barber recently performed a rather clever feat. The shop was full of customers, and one of them was undergoing the operation of shaving, when it was noticed that the barner had his eyes closed, though he still kept passing the razor over the face of the visitor. After some time, and when the operation was finish ed, what was the surprise of those in the shop to hear the barber exclaim, 'Oh, no; not yet,' at the same time opening his eyes.
