A Synoptic History of the Times.

Itemised and Arranged for every-day Convenience.

DANNEMORA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Martin Foy was successfully electrocuted at Clinton Prison at 11.50 o'clock Monday morning, for the murder of his mistress, on May 13th, 1892.

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—News has been received here that a man living on the Labrador coast murdered his wife, his mother-in-law, the wife of a neighbor and little boy. No arrest had taken place when the courier left the scene of the murder.

THREATEN TO LYCH HIM.

Horrible Crime of a Vermont Frenchman on His Daughter.

WATERBURY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The report of the most horrible complication of crimes ever committed in this section has been received here from St. Lawrence County. The crimes were perpetrated on Wednesday last, at Alburg, a small station on the Northern Adirondack Railroad. Zebedee Duya, a Frenchman from Alburg, Vt., has been living for some time with a Miss Thompson, and they are the parents of a little girl, three and one-half years old. On Wednesday night the girl was assaulted in a manner too horrible for publication, by her father, after which she was taken from the house and her skull crushed in with a large stone. He then took her into the house where she remained unconscious for two hours. After she regained consciousness the brute attacked her with a sharp instrument, and cut a large gash in her right cheek, after which he sewed it up. The girl's mother did not dare to report the matter. Duya swore he would kill her. At last the mother mustered courage, and Friday told a part of the story to a Justice of the Peace, who issued a warrant, and Duya was taken to Dickson Centre, five miles distant, and locked up. Doctors made an examination of the child, and found out the truth of the statements. The doctors state that blood poisoning would set in, and that recovery is impossible. Many citizens talk of lynching, and it is doubtful if the fiend lives until the examination is completed.

A GHASTLY LIST.

The Dead and Injured in the Grand Trunk Railway's Awful Wreck.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 25.—Following is the list of dead and injured in Friday's awful wreck on the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway near here.

One of the female bodies is believed to be that of Mrs. W W Henry, of Woonsocket, R. I. One of the male victims is believed to be Wm. Lewis Wilson, of 832 Sheridan road, Evanston, Ill. A valise with his visiting cards and other pieces was found in the wreck.

Many of the 25 unidentified are suspected as being from Ontario.

DHULEP KING DEAD.

Expires from a Stroke of Paralysis in Paris PARIS, Oct. 23.—The Maharajah Dhulep Sing, died in this city yesterday from the effects of a paralytic stroke.

Dhulep Sing, G. C. S. I., was the son of the famous Rinyat Sing, the Rajah of Punjab, and was born in 1838. Dhulep was an infant when his father died, and the demoralized state of the regency and army induced the British ministry to annex the principality under certain conditions; one condition being that the young maharajah should receive four lacs of rupees, £40,000 per annum. He afterwards became a Christian, took up his residence in England and was naturalized. His mother, the notorious Rane, also resided in England up to the time of her death in 1863, but resisted steadfastly all persuasion to become a Christian. It was at one time supposed that the Maharajah would take for a wife the Princess Victoria of Coorg; but in 1864 he was married at the British Consulate at Alexandria to a young Protestant lady, a British subject. She died in 1887 and in 1889 he married in Paris Miss Ada Douglas Wetherill. In 1885 he presented to the British Government a claim for increase of pension, payment of personal debts and other things to which he considered himself entitled. This claim being disallowed he left England for India but was not permitted to land. Having expressed deep regret for the course of hostility which he had pursued against England, Her Majesty, by the advice of her ministers, pardoned him.

SPORTING NOTES.

The improvements at the New Orleans track, costing over $20,000, are completed.

Billiardist John Roberts, will return to England next week.

The Coney Island Athletic Club has been closed until the Corbett-Mitchell fight. It may not be opened then.

Ever since Edgardo, 2.13½, was a two-year-old he has been lame. (Commercial.)

A Terre Haute, Ind., sportsman is suing the Street Railway Company of that city for $500 damages for the loss of an English setter which was run over and killed by a motor car.

No pacing stallion, living or dead, has sired as great a ratio of extreme speed as Brown Hal, 2.12½.

Some turf sags have figured out that when a horse is trotting at 2.20 gait his feet move a little faster than a mile in 1.10.

Bicycle riders are away ahead of the horses. The wheelmen's best record is 1 minute 58 1-5 seconds.

Gordon Sim 2.20½ was named after the nom de plume of the gifted turf writer, Chas. J. Foster editor of Hiram Woodruff's book.

Zimmerman has won 101 bicycle races this season, the greatest number ever captured in the same length of time by one rider.

Julian P. Bliss, Chicago's Pocket Hercules, will not race next year, he says. The plucky little rider won $5,000 worth of prizes during the past season.

New York Times.—An effort should be made to induce Tommy Conneff to enter one of the big universities. Now that George W. Orton is a student at the University of Pennsylvania the long distance runs in the intercollegiate games will be at the Canadian's mercy.

The 16 participants in the recent New Jersey run of ordinaries have formed a permanent organization styled the Original Order of High Wheelers, and will hold a high wheel run once a year as long as such machines can be found limited to the riders who took part in the last run.

Biddeford Journal: Allen Lows says that Rigby will make a great training track. Some horse owners are of the opinion that it will have to soften before horses can stand much work over it without getting sore up.

There are two things to be obtained from breeding to a poor stallion, says the American trotter, one is an inferior colt and the other is experience. The first no one wants and the latter no one wants to pay for. So it is wise to shape your course so that you will not obtain either—in this way.

Jack Dempsey, failing in securing a match with Burro, has determined to go on the stage. Corbett's manager, William A. Brady, is going to give him an opportunity. He signed a contract with Dempsey yesterday to appear for the balance of the season with The Bottom of the Sea company. Dempsey is to spar with Costigan, his trainer, and possibly play a swell part. In the contract between Dempsey and Brady a clause exists allowing Dempsey to quit in case he succeeds in arranging a fight.

Back to Health and Strength.

Wm. J. Witter, Franklin, Man., writes: My sister had very poor health for six or seven years, and looked as though she was going to the grave. I got some of your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for her, and they completely restored her to health. I regard them as a wonderful medicine. Shun all substitutes, and beware of imitations. May be had from dealers or by mail, post paid, at 60 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Brockville, Ont.

Alaska has four newspapers.

Paris now gets its water supply from six great springs; it travels through eighty-three miles of aqueducts.

The numerical strength of the Church of England in England has been estimated at 13,750,000. The members of the Anglican church in the United States number about 1,650,000.

Helium is the name given by spectrum analysts to the metal supposed to be present in the sun. A meteoric which recently fell in Missouri contains 25 per cent of a metal which gives spectroscopic results which lead to the belief that it is identical with helium.

Before the meeting of every English Parliament the vaults beneath the Houses of Parliament are religiously searched, the custom having been kept up ever since the Guy Fawkes plot.

A curiosity in the cutlery line has been made in a Meridan (Conn) factory. It is a perfect pocket knife, with thirty blades, shears, files, piercers, awls and other tools. It weighs one eighth of an ounce.

There is ample material for the plot of a comedy in the experience of a Dakota stranger who left his wife in a Chicago hotel, went out for a walk and forgot both the name of the hotel and its location.

Three well known sporting men, Peter Jackson, Joe Choynicki and Parson Chas. E. Davies will be in Bangor next week. There is some talk of a match between Choynicki and Steve Donnell.

Many of the houses in Holland have a special door which is never opened save on two occasions, when there is a marriage or a death in the family. The bride and groom enter by this door; it is then nailed or barred up until a death occurs, when it is opened, and the body is removed by this exit.

Poisonous snakes are so numerous in Venezuela that snake bite is almost as common there as in India. But there fewer fatalities, for the natives have discovered that a plant known as the oculo-millo, when powdered and applied to the wound, results in a cure in almost every case.

Hollis P. McComber is a Boston cigar dealer who proposes to make smokers independent of the visible supply of matches. He has invented a chemical preparation that is rubbed on the business end of a cigar. When the pointed end of the cigar is cut off and the smoker begins to puff the preparation ignites, the cigar lights itself, and there you are.

For Sunday Contemplation

No power can ever die that ever wrought for truth.—Lowell.

We can not always oblige, but we can always speak obligingly.—Voltaire.

Tell me with whom thou art found and I will tell thee who thou art.—Goethe.

Never be afraid of giving up your best, and God will give you his better.—J. Hinton.

Till religion becomes the desire of our hearts it will not become the business of our lives.—Hannah Moore.

Infants' manners are moulded more by the example of parents than by the stars at their nativity.—George Herbert.

All who have been great and good without Christianity would have been much greater and better with it.—Colton.

Doing nothing for others is the undoing of one's self. We do much good to ourselves when doing much for others.—H. Mann.

A religion that never suffices to govern a man will never suffice to save him; that which does not sufficiently distinguish him from a wicked world will never distinguish him from a perishing world.—Howe.

You despise books; you whose whole life is absorbed in the activities of ambition, the pursuit of pleasure, or in indolence; but remember that all the known world, excepting only savage nations, are governed by books.—Voltaire.

It is a sign of the greatness of our nature that we carry within us the seeds of happiness or unhappiness, and that, in spite of our intimate and necessary relations with the world, we are fundamentally independent of it. Of itself it can neither give us peace and content, nor take them away.

Who doth good by loving deed or word, Who lifteth up a fallen one or dries a tear, Who helps another bear his heavy cross, Or on the parched and fevered lips doth pour A blessed draught of water sweet and cool, Becomes co-workers with the Lord of All; Secures a rightful share in His success And in the happiness that springs therefrom.

A maze of the pride of intellect, the Bible is simple and sweet and blessed to faith. To the ritualistic Jews a stumbling-block, to the faithful and lowly it is nothing short of the power of God. It comes to us as the sun rises out of the horizon upon him that watches for it, and shines upon him in all its sublimity.

When any one was speaking ill of another in the presence of Peter the Great, he first listened to him attentively, and then interrupted him. Is there not a fair side to the character of the person of whom you are speaking? Come, tell me what good qualities you have remarked about him. One would think that this monarch had learned that precept, Speak not evil of another.
