FINANCIAL.

There has been quite a scare in United States financial circles during the past week over the gold question and the redemption of United States silver certificates, which has even extended itself to New Brunswick and made itself felt in St. John. The result in St. John was that several of the banking institutions there refused to receive the U.S. Silver certificates on any terms, but the Bank of New Brunswick continued to receive them at a discount of 1 per cent as before. The whole trouble arises out of the relation which the value of silver at present bears to that of gold in the market. The market price of silver has been steadily deprec iating for the last few years, owing to the increasing supply of that commodity, and the fact that the demand for it did not increase at the same rate. The result of this depreciation, if it were allowed to work its natural course, would be to im poverish the owners of silver mines and the dealers in silver. But the Republican government attempted to create an artificial market for silver, by passing an act known as the Sherman Silver Bill, by which it was provided that the United States government would buy up $4,000,-000 worth of silver every month, or $48,-000,000 per year which was to be stored in the treasury vaults, and against which the well-known silver certificates were to be issued. These represented either $1 or $2 payable at the treasury department of the U.S. in silver. But the silver collar of the U.S. is only worth 63 cents at market value; so that if the holders of these certificates were paid in silver, they would lose 37 cents on the dollar. So that if the U.S. government eventually re ceived them in silver, some heavy financial loss must fall on the heavy holders It was, however, thought that the governgold worth 100 cents to the dollar, prothat the government is prepared, if necates, which he said, would all be paid than Mr. Strudee can ever hope to be. for in gold; and since this declaration the financial situation has considerably im proved. While there is probably not very much cause for alarm, still the latest reports from Montreal indicate that the silver certificates will soon go to discount in the United States. The New York banks are compelled to pay gold or legal This competition will close May 30th, 1893, tender at the clearing houses, and this will operate to discredit silver very generally throughout the States. The Montreal banks have been cautioned by their New York correspondents against receiving the silver certificates at all, and it

Yesterday's St. John Telegraph contained an item in reference to the late occurrence in this city which would naturally lead to a feeling of shame on the part of every citizen of the town, and all the more so because the reference alluded to is apparently well deserved The occurence spoken of is the which took place upoccasion of the awarding of the yearly contract for 300 tons of coal for the water works, by which it is said that Mr. Frank I. THE TARRIFF.

Hon. Mr. Foster has been in Montreal. during the past week, and has had th proposed conference with the prominent business and manufacturing delegations there. It appears from the reports which have appeared thus far in the Montreal papers that the consultations so far held. have been solely with the representatives of those manufacturing interests for whose benefit the tarriff was in the first place framed. The finance Minister has talked with the wholesale grocers, the druggests and manufacturers of proprietary articles, the manufacturers of cements and drain pipes, and the glass manufacturers, all of whom substantially uphold the continuance of the present tarriff duties. If there are any reductions asked for, they are so small as to be almost unnoticeable, and certainly not such as would effect any appreciable change in the present tarriff. It was feared from the first that this state of things would at the critical moment resolve themselves into mere councils of war between these ancient allies and enemies of public prosperity, the Tory government and the manufacturing interests, who, it appears, are legislating sloely for their own and each others in earnest about the matter, if he wants reliable data whereupon to ground a policy of tarriff reform, let him for conscience sake avoid relying on the opin-

GREAT NAVAL PARADE

A Beautiful Spectacle in New York Bay QUARANTINE, R. I.. April 26. The phantom ships which sailed in out of the mists of the sea yesterday were bright and majestic realities in the glorious sunshine this morning. The clear skies and bracing breezes gave setting to a panoramic scene whose beauty and suggestiveness has never been surpassed. In the sharp clear light of the early morning every distinctive feature of the great warships stood out in bold relief as anchored in two great columns they stretched out over the whole surface of the bay. The most striking feature of the scene was the absolute silence that prevailed during the early hours of the day. But it did not last long. As the morning wore on and preparations for weighing anchors began the scene changed to one of brisk animation and life.

The bay became alive with pleasure craft of every description, and patrol boats had a difficult task to keep the anchorage grounds clear of intruders, and to permit the formation of the columns in which the stately procession of vessels were to pass through the Narrows into the upper bay and to move up Hudson River to their assigned stations and there await to-morrow's review.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Admiral Gher- F'ton, April 4rh, '93, -td ardi's flagship gave the preliminary signal to weigh anchor and fall into line. The starboard or right hand column looking toward the bows of the vessels was com manded by the British Admiral, Sir John Hopkins; the port or left hand column was commanded by Admiral Gherardi and consisted of the American fleet with some of the visitors thrown in to balance. A start was made promptly at 9.45. benefit. If the finance minister is really Thousands of people were gathered along the various points of vantage to witness the spectacle. Steaming neck and neck the two admirals and their flagships led the way at the rate of between eight and nine knots an hour. Three hundred yards separated each ship from the other and this distance was maintained with absolute precision.

The time occupied in passing the forts was exactly half an hour. After the naval ships had passed the Narrows and entered the upper bay the fleet of excursion steamers, yachts and big boats fell and became a volunteer escort. The scene then became one of combined grace, animation and beauty never to be forernment is doing its best to humbug gotten. ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Young Man Rescued From Death. In the Montreal Police Court the other morning, Moses Murphy, an inmate o St. Bridget's Home, was charged with attempted suicide. He was taken to No. 7 Police Station by a friend who told Sergeant Clarke that Murphy had swallowed a quantity of paris green. The officer was energetic, and at once sent for Dr. Rourke, who came hastily, and an hospital was improvised in a corner of the guard-room. The victim began to repent and he begged the physician to save his life. Dr. Rourke did all in his power by administering emetics, an UPPER GAGETOWN, April 24.-Special finally Murphy was convalescent, when coiminal charge against him.
