

Avondale.

Avondale is rapidly coming to the front, and is ranking among the first villages of the county. It has a well equipped woodworking factory run by James E. Barter & Co., and a well stocked country store conducted by S. G. Barter who also runs the cheese factory, which the farmers of that section find a paying institution. Clark's grist mill is famed for the good quality of flour and meal it turns out, and at present is undergoing thorough repairs at the hands of H. M. & H. P. Stevens. Geo. F. Burpee has a well equipped lumber mill consisting of rotary saw, lath and shingle machines, planer, etc., and does a large business in the manufacture of cheese boxes.

A new Baptist church has just been dedicated, and it is really a credit to the place.

Quite a number of new houses have been recently built, among which are nice residences by Geo. F. Burpee, Frank Stoddard, Geo. Rockwell and Mr. Kennedy, and John McCready is adding to his outbuildings.

Avondale is surrounded by a populous and prosperous farming community; about fifteen miles from Woodstock, and only seven miles from Hartland. The inhabitants are greatly interested in the Hartland bridge that does not exist, and with the other thriving villages, of Lakeville, Waterville, Simonds, Williamstown, Victoria St. Thomas, etc., bemoan their unjust ostracism from the railroad and market.

Cause and Effect.

The students of a certain big medical college of this city, says the Philadelphia Record, are enjoying a good joke at the expense of one of their professors. The case in question was that of a young man suffering from nervous trouble who was introduced to the clinic.

In some diseases of the nervous system there is an interference of the blood supply to the smaller blood-vessels of the skin. A common symptom, for instance, is a blue spot in the finger tips. The subject before the clinic on this occasion seemed to the physician to afford an excellent illustration of this condition.

'Look at this young man's hands,' he said. 'Do you notice anything peculiar about them?'

The students went closer to investigate, but no one ventured an opinion that anything unusual was to be seen.

'What?' went on the professor. 'Can't you see the condition of the patient's blood indicated there in the blue color of his hands? That proves—'

But at this point the patient's mother, who was sitting near by, interrupted.

'Why, doctor,' said she, 'that is blue dye. He works in a tannery.'

The students laughed, and the professor laughed, too, but he suddenly changed the subject.

For anything in stoves or tinware or other kitchen furnishings, go straight to the Hartland Hardware Store. They carry everything in the hardware line, and are always glad to show goods, and give time to good men.
