

Hartland and the Sentinel.

A Hartland correspondent writes as follows to our veteran contemporary;

The Sentinel's editorial "About Hartland" was timely and certainly in a right spirit. A wholesome rivalry between neighboring towns produces a healthy growth, but when that rivalry partakes of the saloon and slum spirit, and consists in club and mud throwing, the time so spent is no credit to either. Hartland seems confident that its future will be one of prosperity and developments but in our growth, we certainly do not wish to see Woodstock go back, and if one half of the things told of by a correspondent in the last issue of the ADVERTISER be true, and we hope they are, then your progressive town must certainly "boom" in the next twelve months.

A word now to my fellow citizens of this pushing, hustling village. Gentlemen, you have made a good start but it is only a start, there should be an united effort of all our people to bring industries here; unless we can bring labor and give employment to the masses, then there is little prospect for future development; unless you can get factories and industries to employ the bone and sinew of the country our village will soon be at a standstill. I would respectfully ask what has become of our board of trade? It came to life with great promises of future service, but for months we have heard nothing from it. Where are you, Board of Trade? Industries are being established all around us and why are you not making an effort to bring some of them here? Wist ye not that you should be about your business. What has become of the corporation scheme, is it dead? We sincerely hope not; an incorporated town is then in position to do business and to look after its interests as it cannot possibly do otherwise.

Cows Are Scarce.

J. Frank Tilley, Dairy Superintendent tells the Dispatch that it is only within the last few months that he ever heard a farmer say that dairy cows were scarce in this County. There are more dairy cows here this winter than last. Last winter you could buy one for from $15 to $18 while this winter $25 is a low figure and no one wants to sell at that. The low price of hay and oats and the increasing interest in dairying is no doubt the cause of this change. Mr. Tilley says he wrote to Prof. H. H. Dean of the Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont. and asked him how much a farmer was getting for his oats by feeding them to his cows and making butter that he sold for 17 cts per lb. Prof. Dean answered that oats fed with other grain gave a return of about 38c. with butter at 17c. besides leaving on the soil a more valuable fertilizer.—Dispatch.

Who Is To Blame?

That is the question the FAMILY HERALD and WEEKLY STAR, of Montreal, always asks subscribers who become indignant if they miss a few copies of that wonderful paper, owing to their own neglect in not renewing in good time, and it is a fair question. The publishers long ago warned their subscribers not to wait until January to renew, as they could not guarantee regular delivery if the names were once taken off. Thousands of new subscribers are clamouring to get on their lists and clerks are working day and night to meet the demand, but the publishers certainly cannot be blamed if old subscribers neglect to renew in good time, and consequently miss a few numbers. Many subscribers consider every number to be worth the year's subscription (one dollar), to say nothing of the beautiful premium picture, "THE THIN RED LINE" which is given free to all yearly subscribers.

Paper Clothing

'The ever inventive Japanese,' says the Washington Sentinel, 'are now making underclothing of their finely crisped or grained paper. It is very tough, and at the same time very flexible. The paper is not sized, and is not impermeable, and when it has been wetted it is difficult to tear.'

One might imagine a paper shirt would feel somewhat stiff and uncomfortable, but it seems that this is not so, and that after it has been worn an hour or two it no more interferes with the transpiration of the body than would one of cotton or linen.

A Talking Crow.

The latest curiosity in Bethel, Me., is a talking crow which entertains the boys and girls. The bird was found in the woods over a year ago, when young, having fallen from its nest and broken a wing. It was taken home and cared for, but showed no inclination to talk until a few months ago. It talks as well as parrots, but favors words containing "o," and "Hello, hello, Moses, Ora! Whoa there!" cause the passerby to turn quickly at times.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.
