

AS WEARY WALKER,

The Great Traveller Sees Us.

A dude of a fellow who blacks his boots and changes his shirt every once in awhile, moves into your town, and seven pastors and fourteen deacons and their wives and their cousins and their aunts call on him before he gets his piano off the truck, and invites him to join their church.

"And then speaking of churches reminds me of jails. Take my advice and keep out of jails. You don't want no jail. Let Woodstock have 'em and fill 'em. Wait awhile and if your hoodlums keep on in the way they should not go, you can get a penitentiary.

Weary Walker closed his mouth abruptly as he thought he saw a policeman coming down the street, but he opened it again to say as he rose to his feet: Oh, yes, don't think because you are so big that you need another Sunday. You can't keep one half decently. Go to—! more Sundays! And Weary Walker with a look of disgust walked away, and the reporter was carried home on a shutter and was shut up in his room a week with two Sundays at the end of it.

Poisonous Plants.

The berries of the yew have killed many persons, and it is pretty well known nowadays that it is not safe to eat many peach pits or cherry kernels at once. Among the garden plants commonly in vogue which possess a poisonous nature botanists mention the jonquil, white hyacinth, and snowdrop, the narcissus being also particularly deadly—so much so, indeed, that to chew a small scrap of one of the bulbs may result fatally, while the juice of the leaves is an emetic. There is enough opium in red poppies to do mischief, and the autumn crocus, if the blossoms are chewed, causes illness. The lobelias are all dangerous, their juice, if swallowed, producing giddiness with pains in the head. Lady's slipper poisons in the same way as does poison ivy. The bulbs seem to be the most harmful. Lilies of the valley are also as poisonous. The leaves and flowers of the oleander are deadly, and the bark of the catalpa tree is very mischievous. The water dropwort, when not in flower, resembles celery, and is virulent.—Scientific American.

A Duel.

Duels which they had fought formed the topic of conversation among a party of Frenchmen, and one of them declared that he had inflicted upon an antagonist the most dreadful fate that a duelist had ever met.

'How was it,' asked everybody.

'I was at a hotel, and I chanced to insult a total stranger. It turned out that he was a fencing master.

'One or the other of us,' he declared, in fearful wrath, 'will not go out of this room alive!'

'So let it be!' I shouted in response; and then I rushed out of the room, locked the door behind me, and left him there to die!

WANTED—SEVERAL TRUSTWORTHY persons in this state to manage our business in their own and near by counties. It is mainly office work conducted at home. Newburg Junction.

Manzer Downey has erected a blacksmith shop on the premises of Darius Downey. As he is a bright, energetic young man, he should do well.

The conveying of the mails has changed hands. Jeremiah Dickinson now has the job. It was driven formerly by the Downey family, who looked after it, for nearly twenty-four years.

Wm. McGee, sr., has purchased the Joseph Robinson farm for his son, Wm. McGee jr. The amount paid was nearly $2,000.

Wint Dow, section man, was thrown from a hand car a few days ago and quite seriously injured. No bones were broken.

A baby girl made its appearance at Mark Kinney's the other night.

A New Business.

The ADVERTISER has added a new line to its Job Printing business. This is Sign and Placard painting. Everything in this line done in first class shape by a competent and skilled workman. A specialty is made of illuminated placards for show windows and general advertising purposes. This will in many cases take the place of large posters and printed placards. This work must be seen to be appreciated. See samples at this office.

Your Rheumatism

Paine's Celery Compound
The Only Medicine That Works Complete that Permanent Cures.

The ablest and best men and women of our country—doctors, clergymen, lawyers, bankers, merchants and literary women—highly praise and recommend Paine's Celery Compound as a sure cure for rheumatism and sciatica.

Remember well that disordered nerves, faulty digestion, and a slow and incomplete nutrition of the body invite rheumatism, just as they do nervous debility and neuralgia. There is no surer start for rheumatism than a run-down, nerveless condition.

You cannot cure rheumatism by outward applications. The disease is due to internal troubles and must be constitutionally attacked and got rid of.

Paine's Celery Compound gives a healthy tone to the stomach, increases the appetite, and regulates the bowels, liver and kidneys, so that they easily throw off poisonous matters that the sluggish system has allowed to lodge in the blood, causing rheumatism and like disorders.

Bear in mind that rheumatism neglected means increased sufferings and certain death. Be wise while you have a fair measure of strength left. Use Paine's Celery Compound and banish the enemy that has no mercy when it obtains the mastery. It solely remains with you to determine whether you will banish danger or remain in misery and wretchedness.
