The time draws near the birth of Christ:
The moon is hid, the moon is still;
A single church below the hill
Is peeling, folded in the midst.

And once again Christmas is at hand, when throughout all Christendom there is to a greater or lesser extent rejoicing and good feeling among all classes. In one or another way, every one seeks to celebrate Christmas, and often the celebrating is very much the reverse of what it should be. But always there is good cheer or an attempt at it. The ADVERTISER wishes all its friends peace and good will and a merry, merry Christmas.

Personal Notes.

The Canadian Turkey.

Western Ontario will furnish 150,000 Christmas and New Year's turkeys for the British market this year. This is almost double the quantity shipped in 1898. But it is not one-fourth the quantity that might have been exported if the birds were procurable.—Toronto World.

The Dundas (Ont.) Banner:—"No doubt the good shooting of the Canadians will be attributed by the Boers to the exercise they got shooting polar bears out of the street car windows."

Amicus Once Again.

Greets Advertiser Readers With an Interesting Budget.

Business of a public and private nature has so engrossed our attention of late that we have neglected our duty in keeping your many patrons informed on the passing events in this part of the Moral Vineyard, in consequence of which no doubt the public as well as yourself have sustained a loss. We will now resume the pen of a ready writer, and shall continue to write and speak unless our tongue cleave to the roof of our mouth. Woe be to the correspondent who attempts to dispute our way unless he gives date and place of his hiding habitation, in that case we will deal kindly with him and show him the error of his wicked way.

"All things come to him that waits,"—and now we feel like taking off our bonnet and crying "cheers," that after a lapse of three years the prospect of having that long-talked-of bridge is looming up in the distance. We have been wicked enough in the past to suggest the moving cause of action was the near approach of an election. But since the whole business is in the hands of a Company, we feel like the member of the Legislature who, referred to by another, said although his head did shake there was nothing in it. We congratulate the people on the prospect ahead.

Since writing we have been informed that another election is to take place in the very near future to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Smith. If any person is looking for candidates they can come to Centreville. We have several here to choose from, any one of which would be willing to sacrifice himself in the dear people's interests, especially if he could get it without a contest. But that will not be allowed at the close of the 19th century.

We have not heard the result of the effort put forth to establish a pork-packing factory at Hartland.

William Trafford had an addition to his family on the 14th, a boy.

Dr. Peppers is kept busy ministering to the ills that flesh is heir to, and is fast coming into favor, the consequence of his success with difficult cases.

Rev. E. P. Calder preached in the Baptist church last Sunday. His sermon showed ability of no mean order. Since the removal of Rev. Jos. Cahill the church has no regular pastor.

We want more missionaries as the Episcopal Church has no clergyman since Rev. J. E. Flewelling vacated. Robert McDonald one of our pioneer settlers was buried last week. His was a life of toil and privation, shared by the early settlers, all of which he endured without a murmur. He endured as "seeing him that is invisible," leaving a good name, which is more to be chosen than great riches; an adherent of the Methodist church and died in the faith.

Chas. Reed buried his fourth daughter last week. Two days sickness and Dr. Brown's skill could not avail. She died in convulsions. She had a habit of eating soft stones and lime which may have hastened her death. No other cause is known.

A heavy snow storm has caused a revival of trade. At the time of writing there is a good prospect of rain. Trade is good, money plenty and waiting for investment. Prices in Centreville market are: turkeys, 10, geese, 8, chicks, 6, oats, 30, beans 1.50, Butter, 15. Tea can be had from 25 to 35c., and sugar we are anxious to get clear of at 5c.

The holidays are fast approaching, and as our efforts have been to interest your many readers, we now wish them all the compliments of the season.

Complicating Christmas.

We are Widely Departing from the Best Way to Celebrate the Day.

Edward Bok writes, in the December Ladies' Home Journal that "there must be some radical and growing departure from the right and best way of celebrating Christmas when each recurring year we hear a larger number of men saying, 'Well, I'll be truly thankful when this Christmas business is over.' And they are led to this remark generally by seeing their wives, mothers, sisters or daughters reach Christmas day utterly tired out, with the prospect of a seige of illness as soon as Christmas is over. And it must be confessed that this state of affairs exists in thousands of homes. Women themselves frequently acknowledge their satisfaction when the day is over. Now there is always something wrong when we make a burden of our pleasures. And if one of our sources of pleasure in the calendar's greatest gala day is derived from a feeling of thankfulness that it is over, there is something askew either in the way we prepare for, or spend, the day."

New Brunswick's Need

Hon. C. H. Labilois, Commissioner of Agriculture, talking with the Globe Friday said he was greatly encouraged by the steady development of the agricultural and dairy interests in the province. More butter and cheese are being manufactured, more wheat sown and new mills being established. Another gratifying feature is the steady increase in the growing of fruit. From all parts of the province the reports were encouraging, and the outlook was that next year would see even greater activity in these particular lines. The present need of the province, Mr. Labilois said was a pork-packing establishment, and he had faith that one would be erected ere long. He felt sure it would be a success from the start.
