A STUPENDOUS MILL.

D. Frazer & Son's Industry at Temiscouata

The gigantic lumber mill of D. Frazer & Son at Fort Ingalls on Temiscouata Lake began running week before last; and the first shipment of short lumber passed through Hartland on Monday.

When it is said that this mill will give employment to 150 men and cut up 20 million of lumber a year some idea of its size and capacity can be framed. The main mill is 196 feet long and is 88 feet wide in front. The boiler room is 30x40 and engine room 30x60 feet, built of brick and covered with metal roofing. The smoke stack is a tremendous affair; first a foundation of stone, then a brick structure 15 feet in height, and surmounted by an iron funnel 90 feet high and five feet in diameter. The engine is of tremendous power, of the compound type.

There are two gangs, one of which is a Wicke's Oscillating Stop Gang, which will take in eight large logs at one time. The slabber squares the lumber in preparation for the gangs. There are two trimmers, cutoffs and so forth.

The mill will turn out many millions of shingles every year. There are eight machines made by Dunbar in Woodstock, which will run continuously the year around, as with the clapboard machine.

Fort Ingalls is 38 miles from Edmundston at the mouth of the Cabano river, on Lake Temiscouata. Only a wilderness now, it is expected that a second Millinocket will spring up there on a small scale. The long lumber will be shipped north to River de Loup, while the most of the short lumber, shingles and clapboards, will come down this way.

Messrs. Frazer have an immense acreage of lumber limits—something like 800 square miles, on Squadic and Green rivers. They will employ this winter 400 men. Fred Boyer of East Florenceville, who has employment with the firm the year around, was down looking for men last week. Wages are $18 and $20 for ordinary hands, which price is better than for some time.

Another Wedding.

On Wednesday, September 20th, the home of Mr. George Dewitt of Somerville, was the scene of a happy event when the youngest daughter of the house, Miss Bertie, was united in marriage to Guy, eldest son of Mr. Henry Birmingham of Victoria. The ceremony took place at six o'clock p. m., and was performed by Rev. Mr. Canill in the presence of about a hundred guests.

The bride was dressed in white muslin trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Nellie Fripp of Woodstock, was bridesmaid and was dressed in white and heliotrope muslin and carried heliotrope chrysanthemums. Mr. Holly Birmingham of Hartland, acted as groomsmen.

The spacious parlors were richly decorated with flowers, and the ceremony took place beneath an arch of flowers and asparagus. The groom entered the room supported by the groomsmen, the bridesmaid followed and then the bride, leaning on her father's arm. Miss Bessie Ferguson played the wedding. A great many beautiful presents were received.

An elegant supper was served and after spending the evening very pleasantly with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Birmingham drove to Victoria Corner, where they will live, followed by rice, and the best wishes and old shoes of the assembled guests.

LOST AND FOUND.

Mr. Phillips Again Disappears—Recurrence of the old Malady—More Sensation.

The story which appeared in the ADVERTISER some weeks ago of the strange disappearance of George E. Phillips of Northampton is still fresh in the minds of many readers. It will be remembered that he left home one evening and was not heard from for several days and finally his wife received a telegram sent by him from Fredericton. He said he had gone down in a canoe unconsciously. This showed mental aberration.

Last week the papers announced that Mr. and Mrs. Phillips had left for England on a visit, and going via Boston intending visiting Mrs. Phillips' parents at Worcester. This week a further sensation was created when Mr. Phillips once more disappeared. A Boston despatch says:

"It appears that Mr. Phillips, who is suffering from the effects of injuries sustained from falling from a horse several months ago, was seized with an attack of the old trouble, and while temporarily dazed, boarded a train which carried him to New York. He arrived in that city Sunday morning, and the next day returned to the home of his brother-in-law in Worcester. He is in a weak condition, but expects to leave for Europe in company with his wife on the Pavonia, which sails from this port September 30th.

A Complaint.

Mr. Editor: I see in the Carleton Sentinel and the Dispatch reference made to our post master. Now it may be the parties who wrote that want his place. I remember some years ago the English mail was carried by coach and four horses, and the driver carried a horn with which he announced his coming. Now I would suggest that our post master be provided with a horn to sound his approach and as he is a man considerably along in years and a coach and four horses being out of the question, it should be all right to allow him to continue the use of a wheelbarrow.

Your correspondent would call the attention of the Inspector to the fact that the mail on the Woodstock-Simonds route is carried by a man who is almost every day intoxicated and the mail is not safe in his hands. Often his team is found off the road in fields and door yards along the way. The people along the way declare it is shameful that such a man is allowed to carry Her Majesty's mail. And so say I—

HARTLAND CORRESPONDENT.

Mr. Hurst's Prize Winners.

Charles W. Hurst of this village exhibited several coops of his thoroughbred poultry at the St. John exhibition. Mr. Hurst, who has quite extensive poultry yards here is a close student of the feathered tribes and through the intimate knowledge he has gained of their habits, likes and dislikes, and by careful rearing he has been able to produce fowls for the shows that are a credit to him.

At the Exhibition Mr. Hurst's birds captured prizes as follows:

Buffcochin, cock, third prize
" hen, " "
Minorcas, S. C. White cock, 1st prize
" " " hen 3rd "
Australians, Blue cock, 1st "

In all there are 3 first 1 second and 3 third prizes.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

Bernard Brown of Simonds Lost—Friends and Relatives Anxious

The people of Middle Simonds are wildly excited over the strange disappearance of Bernard Brown, a man 65 years of age and a resident of that place.

He ate his dinner on Monday last, then left the house without a coat on. He has not been seen since, except possibly by a boy, who thought he saw him going up the hill towards the woods back of the house. A search party was out all day yesterday, but at the time of going to press no tidings had been heard of him. His friends are very anxious about him. No cause can be given whatever for his disappearance. He had lately complained of his head troubling him and it may be another case of temporary mental derangement.

Limb Crushed.

On Thursday a man named Tapley, a resident of Florenceville, had a leg badly crushed in a hay press at Easton, Me. The limb was terribly mangled and the poor man was taken to Presque Isle where Dr. Boone dressed the wound but he was brought to his home in Florenceville before the leg was set.

To Test the Engines.

A peculiar looking car may have been seen on the trains this week. It is a car equipped with apparatus—exquisitely fine mechanism—for testing the speed and strength, the hauling capacity, of the engines. It is provided with cyclometers, tension measuring apparatus and aerometers and maned with skilled mathematical engineers.

Successful Winter Wheat.

Darius Nixon of Lower Brighton sowed half a bushel of winter wheat last fall, and as it was planted on sod ground the grass came up between the furrows along with the wheat. He recently threshed out thirteen bushels of as pretty wheat as was ever seen and also three bushels of splendid grass seed. A sample of the wheat can be seen at Campbell & Nixon's store.

Musical Recital.

The musical recital to be given by Miss Margaret A. Day will be held on October 20 in the Forester's Hall Hartland, at 8 o'clock. Further items of interest in regard to the recital will be given in next week's paper.

Dreyfus Pardoned.

The French cabinet has pardoned Dreyfus. The decision caused no excitement whatever as very little interest seemingly was taken by the Parisians. It is reported that Dreyfus with his wife has already left Rennes.

This book is written by a practical grower and will save you many time and trouble from the start. Starting right is more than half way towards success.
