

GLASSVILLE.

A RETROSPECTIVE HISTORY OF ITS RISE AND PROGRESS. BY MARCHMONT.

In our preceding sketches we directed a few hasty retrospective glances at the history of the Glassville colony. Originally a Scotch, and we might say, a presbyterian settlement, it now embraces people of all these three nationalities Scotch, English and Irish, and people of different religious denominations—Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Baptists, Methodists, with a few Roman Catholics in the neighbouring settlements of Aberdeen. The Presbyterians, as might be expected, are by far the most numerous, in the aggregate the wealthiest, and decidedly the most intelligent and influential. Indeed, within the whole parish of Aberdeen, there are only some half-dozen families, or thereabouts, of Calvinistic Baptists, the same of Free Christian Baptists, a few "scattering" Methodists here and there, three or four Episcopalian families, two or three Roman Catholic families, and, we believe, one or two disciples of Col. Ingersoll, who swear by THE AGE OF REASON and THE TRUTH SEEKER. By far the greater mass of our people, however are Presbyterians—representatives, it may be said, with one or two unimportant distinctions, of the brave old Covenanters, to whose heroic defiance of STAN CHAMBER intolerance, tyranny and cruelty we owe so much for the ultimate victorious vindication of our civil and religious liberties,—

"Persecution dragged them into fame,
And chased them up to Heaven."

representatives of a church of a "noble army of martyrs," so many of whom, like the prophet of old went up to their reward on chariots of fire—representatives of a church that rallied its "soldiers of the cross" under the victorious banner, the famous BLUE BLANKET, and was ever in the van "amidst the ranks of war," when the glorious Reformation Bugle was pealing its jubilee notes of deliverance from land to land—representatives of a church that has sent its missionaries to every corner of the globe, and is to day, next to the English Church, one of the most numerous, powerful and influential protestant bodies in "The Grand Old Historic Land," in India, in Australia, in the United States and in the Dominion of Canada.

The Presbyterians of Aberdeen have a very fine church in Glassville, and are under the spiritual supervision of the Rev. J. K. Boairdo, who has filled the pulpit for a longer period than any previous incumbent.

Each of the religious denominations mentioned above, with the exception of the Episcopalians and the Methodists, has a fine place of worship—the latter worshipping in the union Meeting House at Argyle. The Roman Catholic chapel at Foreston is not yet, but soon will be finished, and prospects are held out by Gilmore, Bros., of the building by them of an Episcopal church at Forest Hills.

Connected with the different churches are Sunday Schools, with competent teaching staffs, efficiently taught and well attended, as indeed are all the secular schools in Aberdeen when in session.

We have three Temperance societies—one at West Glassville, one at East Glassville and one at Rutherglen—all, of them in a flourishing condition. THE BRITISH LION, L. O. L. has been for many years an important feature in our politico-religious economy, and a FORESTER'S COURT, but lately organized promises to be crowned with success.

The people of Glassville, and indeed of Aberdeen in general, have reason to be proud of the original Glassville settlement, which with Knowlesville, became the nucleus of the other settlements in the in the parish. Taking into account the few years, these Aberdeen settlements have been in existence and contrasting them with others of older date, their people stand prominently forward in the enviable position to which they have attained—in respect of religion, morality and education, as well as in respect of agriculture business and trade.

Of cemeteries, we have a goodly number in this parish all with one exception open to every denomination, and as already detailed in the earlier part of this retrospect, many old settlers fill honorable graves in these cities of the dead. The stern reaper has also busied himself, amongst the younger part of our population, and in one instance, has thrice visited one household, leaving them to mourn the loss of three fair and loved daughters, while other homes have also had to lament the loss of a cherished son, daughter, or other near and dear one.

We must plead guilty to considerable shortening and alteration, of our correspondent's manuscript having a desire to adhere to our intention of publishing history only, fulsome flattery, and laudatory post obits, not being consonant with our idea of newspaper literature. Having completed our task we bid adieu to it in the words of an old "Border Poet," Thomas Pringle, Esq.

"Our native land, our native vale,
A long, a last adieu;
Farewell! to Bonnie Teviotdale,
And Cheviot's mountains blue."

Serious Accident.

On the evening of the 6th. inst, a very serious accident occurred to Mr. Hans. Wilson, on the highway from Foreston, to Glassville, a team of young horses, at the mill while waiting for a load started off without the teamster, and made their way towards Glassville, at a break-neck pace, unfortunately for Mr. Wilson, he was driving along the road with a meat cart, when the sloven waggon, attached to the runaway team came in contact with his vehicle throwing him out with great violence, and inflicting a frightful scalp-wound, which completely laid bare, the cranial bones, besides causing other injuries. It is almost too soon to know the ultimate result of so severe an accident, but we hope the unfortunate gentleman will pull through all right, though being almost a valetudinarian, it may have a more serious termination, than might have been anticipated under more favourable circumstances.

Foreston.

A Pie sociable was held in the School house on the evening of August 25th. for the purpose of presenting a donation to the Rev. Herman Shaw, of Argyle, who has for some time past, been ministering to the spiritual wants of the locality. It is scarcely necessary to remark that there was an ample supply of Pies, Cakes, and other seasonable delicacies, which were rapidly disposed of and realized the sum of twenty-five dollars, a very handsome, and welcome addition, to a poorly paid minister's stipend.

The crops in this part are looking remarkably well, Oats and Buckwheat (the staple grains) promise to be an extraordinary good crop, if Jack Frost will but delay his visits a little while longer, we may then be able to snap our fingers at him, he paid a flying visit, a few nights ago, but, beyond blighting a few of our tenderer garden vegetables, did not do any serious damage.

The milk of human kindness, seems to be deficient in quantity about this time, that is, if we are to judge by circumstances, we hear that ordinary milk, set in a creamer in a cold spring, mysteriously disappears, some people have an opinion that the bullocks take it away. We are disposed to doubt that hypothesis, never having seen one of these animals attempt to turn the faucet of a creamer.

The following notice may perhaps tend to throw some light on the preceding, at any rate, the offer is a good one, and ought to tempt the cupidity of a sneak.

NOTICE.

If the paltry Thief who stole the Butter, Milk &c. from the premises at the Gray settlement Foreston, will call again, He can have a Cow, Churn, Butter Tray and Paddle, for his pains.

AT THE HISTORY EXAM.—"Can you tell me in what year the town of Pompeii was burnt?"

"Well, sir, I don't just remember the exact date, I think it must have been on Ash Wednesday."

The place for Lawn Tennis—"Way down in Tennessee."

BITTERS

A Quaker, on hearing a man swear at a particularly bad piece of road, said to him: "Friend, I am under great obligations to thee. I would myself have done what thou hast done, but my religion forbids it. Don't let my conscience bridle thine; give thine indignation wings, and suffer not the prejudice of others to paralyse the tongue of justice,—yea, verily."
