Here, There and Everywhere.

The ninth day of August last was the 301st anniversary of the birth of Izaak Walton, The Father of Anglers. He was born at Stafford, August 9th, 1593, and wrote a book about fish and fishing, entitled The Complete Angler, of which as many editions have been published as of the fact that our paternal government is trying to limit the number of the disciples of Walton and Cotton, by restricting the right to fish in our streams. We may quite expect that the Piscatorial Art will be put down by the "Strong Arm of the Law" and only a few privileged officials allowed to cast a line in the waters. The general public looking on in awe-struck wonder.

"Come to stay?" asked the fish. "No" replied the worm "Only dropped in for a bite."

We have had a great deal of road-work done in this locality of late and the roads should be in pretty fair condition by this time, but we regret to say that they are not so good as they might be. In some of the newly made parts there are great pitfalls, that should have been properly filled up, instead of being made worse if that was possible. These are very bad for the springs of carriages as well as for the riders, who get freely bespattered with mud, but it is worse for pedestrians who find in them a veritable "Slough of Des-pond." We hardly ever like to use a big, big D, but sometimes the old Adam will creep up, in spite of pious training, when we inadvertently put our foot into one of these man-traps. However, we may reasonably expect good solid roads before the middle of January next.

Query—Who is the greatest pedestrian of the present day?

Why the Editor of the Glassville News.
He has walked the road between Foreston and Glassville, day and night, for over seven years.

We see with considerable satisfaction, that the Market Place in Glassville, has been levelled and the water holes that at one time disfigured it have been filled up.
This is a step in the right direction, and we hope to see more improvements yet.
We would like to see a monthly market, and when half a dozen or more Cheese Factories are in full swing in the locality we may hope for an annual Cheese Fair, and see buyers from all parts of the Dominion come to sample, and carry away our products.

There a story told of a clergyman who for want of a better position accepted an appointment as Chaplain to a large convict prison. On one occasion when he was visiting the prisoners in their cells, one who had known him in happier days saluted him with: "Ah! Meenister, I ken ye weel, ye preached awa a' ye'er congregation at Pennicuik, but, I'll bet ye twa bawbees that ye canna do it here."

It is a very poor family that has not a bone to pick with somebody.

Our local butcher Mr. R. Montgomery met with an accident on the 13th, inst., whilst on his rounds. Luckily for him no bones were broken but he was severely bruised and shaken. The accident was caused by the breaking of a hold-back in the shaft of the waggon. The meat peddling business seems to be one of those that is liable to accidents, the last one in this locality having met with several.

ARGYLE.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred here on the 12th, inst.
A restive horse, attached to the front of a harvesting team at Mr. Jno. Crawford's on being released launched out with both heels, kicking George Gustia severely on the cheek bone, near the eye; this seems to have been a sort of signal to the team which immediately started to run away, in doing this they knocked down another man Gil. Jordan. Both men were badly shaken but no serious injuries were sustained and we hear they are progressing favourably.

A Pic-nic is arranged to take place on the 19th, inst., "Better late than never."
We hope they may be favoured with fine weather, plenty of visitors and lots of enjoyment.

BEAUFORT.

We have had quite an influx of visitors to our settlement of late, Mr. and Mrs.
Aird of Boston, have been the guests of Mrs. Scovill. Mrs. Allen of New York, has been paying a visit to her sister Mrs.
A. T. N. Mack, and has but lately gone to St. John, en route for the American metropolis.

Mr. R. J. Lee has returned home from a sojourn in the bark-woods.

Mr. Wm. Dawes has come home to the Manor, but only for a short stay, we are sorry to hear he has not come to Fawn, but only long enough to build a Bawn.

A Pic-sociable is about to be held this evening, and the boys are anticipating a fine time.
