There is not much stirring in the political world of the Dominion. We cannot see that the concentrated wisdom of our legislators has yet done anything for the benefit of the country. The sweets of life have been placed a little further beyond our reach, a duty of half-a-cent a pound has been imposed on sugar, though why it should be, is a matter that we cannot understand. Perhaps it is in view of a good fruit season, when more sugar than usual will be in demand. We certainly can't grumble at the price of the article now, but we can't see why that addition to the duty should be imposed just now. The extra duty imposed on spirits while it may delight the hearts of the Prohibition party, will not be so acceptable to those who love their customary 'night cap of hot toddy.' Still, we don't want to grumble about that, it is one of those articles of luxury that the consumer can hardly object to pay for, and will cheerfully pay an increased duty. We have no objection to a high duty being levied on articles of luxury, because, presumably, the consumer can afford to pay for them and those who don't use them are not called upon to contribute one cent of the revenue thus obtained. But we want to see articles of common use, and such as are in universal demand duty free, or the duty reduced to the lowest possible figure; and this, the people have a right to demand at the hands of the government.

We would like to see a tabulated statement of the amount of duty collected in the Dominion. The cost of collecting it, and further, a full statement of how that money is expended. These are things the people should look into, and doubtless they would soon discover that there are numerous instances where the money is frittered away by those in power without a shadow of benefit to the people who contribute that money to the coffers of the government.

We have received a complaint from a Rutherglen subscriber that he never has his paper delivered. We have instructed our religious editor to offer up a prayer or two for those responsible for such an enormity, and hope to hear that our subscriber receives this valuable paper with more regularity. In future all complaints of this character will be referred to our Fighting editor for investigation and setting to rights.

The Fishing Season.

The fishing season has commenced and the disciples of Izaak Walton, and Chas. Cotton, will soon be on the trail and endeavouring to lure the finny denizens of the streams by skillfully constructed flies or angle worms impaled on sharp hooks. It seems to be almost a crime to cast a line in the waters, there are so many paid spies of the government watching over the streams with a view to prevent the people who are making the country from enjoying a little piscatorial recreation. Though how in the name of common justice, and common sense they can be permitted to interfere with honest and fair angling is a problem we cannot pretend to solve. It cost the tax-payers of the Dominion $2546.85, to keep these spies on the S.W. Miramichi during the last two years. If our information is to be relied on, and we believe it is correct—some of these (so called) guardians, are men known to be notorious salmon poachers; and one or more have had to "run the country" for dynamiting salmon pools on the lower part of the river. We presume these men are pitchforked into office on the principle of "set a thief to catch a thief" we can conceive of no other reason; and we regard it as adding insult to injury to put such men to watch honest citizens.

We hold that the people have a perfect right to fish in a proper manner, despite the fact that the government are trying to prevent them, and we quote from a letter of our esteemed and popular member, Dr. Colter, written from the House of Commons, "They (the guardians) have no right to prevent the people of Aberdeen from fishing according to law." We say: stand up for your rights, and if that magnifico who are paid out of the public purse, to protect private interests, attempt to interfere with your just right to fish, Drive them off, Vi et armis.

Mr. Tilley of Woodstock, the veteran cheese maker of the county, has been in Glassville for some little time, superintending the erection of the vats, and the necessary apparatus in the cheese factory and from personal observation we should say that he thoroughly understands the whole business, not only the making of cheese, but the making apparatus, we noticed that he went about fitting up the steam-pipes like an accomplished engine fitter.
