This is the STAR. We have no apology for it. It must speak for itself.

And now our mission. There is an ideal press before whose shrine we bow: what that ideal is, we would have our readers know. It is that press which knows no private any interest or party weal that stands in the way of the public good. It is that press which marches on in advance of the people, thinking for the masses and moulding public clain their shibboleth, and then take up the chorus. The most sacred institution in any land is an intelligent, moral and free press, that sets up for its motto that written by Judge Story—a press

-"Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain."

We say we worship at that shrine -and we do so; and it shallbe our them upon presentation of the freight constant aim to make a paper a counterpart of the model we have set up, caring less for the gains than the name, and finding a better reward in the praise of posterity than in the gold of the hour.

The duties and the responsibilties of the press are great and grave. Questions often arise suddenly that the public mind does not take the trouble to consider, but the news. paper editor must always be prepared to show some clue to the mystery or to put some interpretation upon the most involved circumstances. He must think more hastily than other men, and reach conclusions faster—then if his judgment be faulty, the public, which in his shortcomings. The duty o thinking for one's self is important enough, and the man who is able to do so is generally above the common but how much more important is the duty of him who thinks for the thousands and fashions their opinions after his own. If the sun be eclipsed the earth will be darkened; if he whose doctrines may become the rule of the state should spread abroad insidious teachings through the press, many of the thousands who look upon him as a teacher will catch the infection. The press is the first and greatest days of the press superstition and ignorance held sway over men's minds, tyranny lorded it over the land and bad kings sent innocent men to the block for a miserable whim. But when the press once began to breathe the spirit of the people through its columns, tyranny faltered and autocrats and evil combinations trembled before it. And all other Articles used in the Russia to-day there is no free press. but there is a rule of knout and iron -a galling tyranny that we free people cannot conceive of. In countries blessed with the glorious boon of liberty, the press B is to-day the greatest power upon the face of the earth, and there is no man, no matter how high his station that does not bend his knee before Hot Water Heating Apparatus furit. With such a conception of the press, and of the duties of those who control the press, we give this paper to our readers. And it we have faithfully portrayed our ideal newspaper, and the duties of a proper editor we have stolen march on our readers and given

But these are only the general principles upon which a newspaper shall be our constant aim and greatest pains to conduct the STAR upon the ideal we have set up, there reets it shall be our particular duty achieve. First of because we believe their policy for Canada in her present condition is good. The moment we think the nterests of the Country are subordmated to the interests of the ruling party, that moment we cut the tie that binds us and call for better men. We have had no difficulty in concluding that the much abused National Policy, under all the circumstances is by far the best for Canada. Our reasoning to this end we shall give in future issues of our paper, deeming such a subject

This is a no-party idea, and among the Liberals we believe Mr denied these advantages. And with Matters of this kind, like the estab point outside the world, whereon an Archimedes might place a lever and overturn our planet; the conversion of the Sahara into an inland sea we leave to others, professing ourselves unable to deal with them.

If our loyalty can only be preserved by crying out for the federation of the empire, then shall we private dealings crop out in public departure. This federation of the empire seems to us, from what we believe there is no greater poltroon have read of it, like harnessing horse in Frederictou to a rope mind. If we are only to get bill Chatham. The connexion is about as remote—or about as near, men of the Blake school will have it.

Newfoundland friends to this scheme, and our readers may rest assured that anything we can henceforth do in the same direction, will not be wanting.

Next to the harvest of the land that of our fertile waters is most important to our people here. The question therefore of our fisherie and how that industry may best be perpetuated if not fostered, is one for grave consideration. It seems to us that in the past our dealings with this question have been more or less speculative and every process for the repopulation of our waters a mere trial one. We shall not only approve further expenditures in the search for success, but we shall ask a much larger apportioment for our Maritime seas and rivers than they nave received in the past, believing that at the present they receive far short of their share. Upon our fisheries here thousands of people are dependent for support, while in other quarters where the fisheries never can be to the inhabitants what ours are to our people, lavish sums are expen-There is a batch of useless officers in the Fishery Department that ought to be sent on "long holidays" and better

To this end the STAR'S efforts shall also be directed. Upon the principle that under respousible government, the country is ruled by party, and that without party responsible government is impossible, and kindred other mighty enterprises | we shall be the advocate of such party politics as seem to us best for the interests of the country-of our Province and the Dominion.

We shall always deal public men, upon their public record, save where have to sit and in despair watch its doings, or where the one is inseparable from the other.
