

TWO PICTURES.

This is what the great Edmund Burke says of the duty of a Representative. We want Mr. Snowball and his friends to read it:—

"It is the duty of your Parliamentary representative to sacrifice his repose and his pleasures to yours, and above all, to PREFER IN ALL CASES OUR INTEREST TO HIS OWN."

GOING UP THE ST. JOHN.

Up the St. John River, through the Counties of Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska, there are several thriving free grant settlements, some established during the time of the immigration craze, some while Hon. B. R. Stevenson held office, and several since Hon. Michael Adams took charge of the Department. To visit these now, and to make a personal note of what the settlers require in the way of repairing old roads and making new, and repairing or building bridges, Mr. Adams is to leave here this evening. There is a certain sum of money granted every year to the Surveyor General for roads and bridges in new settlements, which amount has no connection with the Bye Road, and Great Road grants. In past years, when the Government set out on its colonization policy, the sums granted the head of the Crown Lands Department for new settlements were very large. The grant was not expended by the responsible officer, but was put into the hands of departmental agents, who oftentimes turned it to such uses, if in some cases they did not put the greater part into their own pockets, that it might as well have been cast into the river.

We have travelled through some of the first established of the Free Grants settlements, and seen old roads, built in the beginning by the agents straight over the hills and so steep that a goat could scarcely climb them. In those days every agent or commissioner was Surveyor General in his own locality; and expended the money given him, as he saw fit.

It is different now. There is seldom any work done on the roads or bridges in any season till the Surveyor General goes round to make the appropriation. This is Hon. Mr. Adams way, and it is a good way. For this purpose he has now gone up the St. John river. Mr. Beveridge will accompany him through Kincairdine and the other Scotch settlements, through Tilley, a portion of which has been established under Mr. Adams; through Red Rapids also established two years ago and colonized chiefly by St. John people. The land in these settlements is of an excellent quality, and the colonists work with a determination to win. The crops have been very good with them this season.

Hans Peter Petersen the king of the Danish settlement is increasing the settlement under his charge, but his gigantic scheme of wholesale emigration from Norway has collapsed. His people are frugal and industrious, and persevering, if it slow. Mr. Adams will visit this settlement before his return. He is to be congratulated on his zeal; and attention to duty.

JUDGE KING.

Judge King opened the Supreme Court in Newcastle yesterday. We believe he made a very good impression, on the bar and the jury. He "sits the bench" well those who see him say; and there is none of the old foggy about him. He has a clear head, no one ever doubted that, and can see to the bottom of a proposition as quickly as any lawyer or judge in this country, while as a rule he does things off hand. A very clever and discriminating lawyer in Fredericton wrote the editor some time ago, "Judge King is a complete success. The lawyers here were all delighted with him. He puts things right through, and has a way with him which takes well with everyone." For all that we regretted when we heard of his appointment, because we did not deem it his due; nor do we yet deem it his due, or, therefore, take back that regret.

A sergeant had charge of the guard watching Giteau, who shot the President. But the said sergeant was not satisfied merely at watching; two days ago as he was leaving duty he turned and fired at the murderer. The bullet grazed his head. The sergeant is now, like Giteau, also in jail.

Julius L. Inches has a fine time of it running up to Fredericton, and down to the model farm at the people's expense. If it is to Mr. Inches' advantage, however, we suppose the people have no right to grumble. He is now in St. John the News says, looking after some government pigs

We observe by the News that some of the St. John merchants are complaining of the "insufficient weights and measures" used by other merchants. This is the complaint everywhere. The law regulating the matter seems to be only a mockery.

We print on our first page a letter by Sir Charles Gavan Duffy on the Land Bill, which strikes the proper chords.

Horace Greely wrote "Fame is a vapour; popularity an accident." What an unfortunate accident to this county was not Mr. Snowball's popularity in 1878!

Sir John Macdonald is on his way for Canada, his health much improved. A banquet awaits him on his arrival.

The President seems to be holding out yet; but there is little or no hope for him.

It is said the Princess Louise leaves for Canada the 20th of October.

EDITORIAL GLEANINGS.

CENSURING A MINISTER.

We find it to be our duty to censure the fisheries Department at Ottawa, and several newspapers on the opposite side are surprised. They think because they champion the sins of their party, as well as the party itself, their opponents ought to do the same. We do not know what other conservative papers do, we suppose among them there are tame followers who will cry yea, yea, to everything—nor do we very much care. We shall censure what we believe to be wrong, and approve what we deem to be right, under all circumstances. The fishery Department is going to the dogs. In some cases the fisheries are stupidly protected; that is the fisherman is burdened while the fishery is not benefited; in other cases, take the lobster fishery for example,—we see a fishery being murdered every day, and though we have cried Hold and Murder, Mr. Whitecher sits coolly and impudently by without raising a hand, and as much as to say "Who is running this Department?" He says "I have the Toronto Mail on my side, and I don't care what the other conservative papers say about me." Mr. Whitecher is now Minister of Marine & Fisheries, and he has wrongheadedness, and obstinacy, and pride enough for a bench of ministers. If he would come down to the Miramichi, and talk awhile to our fishermen, to friends of the fisheries and friends of the government, he would know just what one of the most important fishery centres in the Dominion thinks about his management. There has been only one minister since the confederation fit for the position, and he was Hon. Peter Mitchell—he whom this misguided, deluded county replaced last election by Jabez Bunting Snowball. He could soon restore the Department to what in the beginning was and what it ought to be. Perhaps now the Ottawa Free Press which is a misguided but a clever partizan, sees less to wonder about in the Star's references to fishery mismanagement.

JUDGE WETMORE'S DECISION.

Our readers are aware that some time ago one Pugh, of York County in this Province, was in the Supreme Court with his wife, who sued for release from her marriage ties, on the ground that her marriage was illegal, because she was the sister of her husband's first wife, said wife being deceased. The scruple however, never arose in her mind till she had been married to Pugh for several years and bore him several children. The case was tried before Judge Wetmore, and he granted the divorce. The case has caused little talk here, but there is a good deal said about it in some of the upper province papers. The Judge we suppose had to go by the law, where there was sufficient law for a chart to guide him; but we are quite sure if he were at liberty to give a decision on the equities and the justice of the case, he would not have given a decision that proclaims a family of innocent children illegitimate and brings a pang to the hearts of many innocent and worthy people in this province and through the Dominion, some married to a deceased husband's brother, others to a deceased wife's sister.

A MURDEROUS CAMP MEETING.

A dreadful melee occurred in Uniontown, 4th inst., at the encampment just above town, where the colored people are holding a camp meeting, between a gang of white roughs and some of the colored men connected with the camp. A large number of the white and black people were on the ground all day and a large amount of whiskey was consumed. Toward evening, the better classes having departed, a gang of white men gathered around the refreshment stand of Thomas Gilbert (colored), evidently spoiling for trouble of some kind. It was not long brewing, and after some words a revolver was drawn by Clark Sweeney (white) and leveled at Gilbert. Tom Green, a black man, then rushed into the group of men about the stand with an uplifted hatchet, but was immediately knocked senseless by a blow. Sweeney again aimed at Gilbert and shot him, the ball taking effect in his hip. The most frightful disorder then ensued. Women and children screaming, ran in all directions; while men both white and black, hid behind trees, and endeavored to escape from the flying bullets, which now leaped from numerous revolvers, the owners of which had drawn to protect themselves or shoot others. One negro by the name of Philan Walker, one of the camp ground police, was chased across three fields in his effort to escape from four white roughs who pursued him, firing every few minutes, but he succeeded in getting away. Gilbert was brought home in a buggy, but the surgeon was unable to extract the ball. A number of persons were injured by being hit with stones, clubs and other missiles.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

On the 9th inst., Sir Charles Tupper and his party returned from the Mainland. The Minister met the citizens at the theatre, where he delivered a long address on public matters. He said the Government was doing its best to satisfy the reasonable demands of the province, and referred to the work going on on the Mainland as proof of its bona fides. He said that the question of the Island railway has been left to the syndicate, whom Mr. Andrew Robertson, of Montreal, now here, represented. The Government had asked the syndicate to build the Island line, and on Mr. Robertson's report the Government would act.

At a conference between Sir Charles and the local Government yesterday the latter agreed to give all the coal lands on the island to any one building the Esquimalt-Nanaimo line. This is thought a clear way to an arrangement, as American railway companies are anxious to hold the land.

Last evening the Board of Trade entertained Sir Charles and his friends at dinner. The party sail for California to-morrow.

THE MEETING OF THE EMPERORS.

Emperor William, Crown Prince Frederick William and Prince Bismarck reached Neufahrwasser at one o'clock on Friday afternoon, and were much cheered. The Emperor proceeded on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which steamed out of the harbor and was met by the Russian yacht with the Czar aboard. The ironclad squadron fired a salute, and the two yachts lay to along side each other. At two o'clock the Czar went aboard the Hohenzollern, and was cordially welcomed. The Czar's yacht was accompanied by two men-of-war. At half past three the Emperors drove into Danzig amid the pealing of bells, a salute of artillery and great cheers. The North German Gazette, referring to its contradiction regarding the place of meeting of the Emperors, says "the activity of the international band of assassins justified the course we took in the eyes of every reasonable patriot." The meeting of the Emperors was most affectionate. They appeared deeply moved, and kissed each other several times. The greeting between the Czar and the Crown Prince was very warm. The Czar conversed with Prince Bismarck for some time. The royal party then lunched. The movements of the Emperors throughout the day were enveloped in uncertainty. The arrangements were altered several times.

AN IRISH BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

[From the Dublin Freeman.]

The following is a titbit from the two and three quarter miles of correspondence handed in in the breach of promise case; Lamb vs. Fryer, in which a lady of uncertain age sued an amorous young red haired curate:

"Oh, Fidget, my dear, The socks, I declare, Are just my little foot's size; Not too large or too small, But taken in all, An agreeable and kindly surprise."

The lady got damages of £1,000 from a Warwick jury. The curate keeps the socks.

COMMUNICATIONS.

"LEO."

To the Editor of the Star,—
DEAR SIR.—I saw Leo here, and had a good look at him. He and Mr. Blake were here together—he selling cotton, Mr. Blake talking cotton. I heard him tell a lot of others at the hotel that when he was in 'Alefax he saw Mr. Blake, and they had it arranged to be here together. I believe he was ignored however when Blake was here. If so, Chatham has made an enemy of him, which would be a bad day for her. The St. John Globe has I understand, chicked him off for the nonce; but he has told several here that "it is the party that will suffer by that," not himself. Leo never he says allows politics to disturb his social relations. He says "now in Alefax I live in a select social set; and though Sir Charles knows I am opposed to his government, there was never the slightest jar between the social relations of our families." Certainly not. Why should politics rupture the social cords, tying the cotton pedlars family to Sir Charles?

Leo is soon going up to Ottawa, and he will probably stay a week or so at the Marquises, if the Marquis is home. If not I am sure he will find it very dull there. He says he is now amusing himself writing 'editorials for the Toronto Globe and something for Scribner, and the Nineteenth Century. He has been out about Shippigan peddling, but he will be here soon, if he is not here now. When he drinks his "hale" at the bar-room, he turns his back on all, even on the man that treats him, and looks abstracted. He says "Coleridge used to look abstracted," all great men do.

Yours,
Liox.

[This is the same gentleman we believe, who went around Chatham the last time he was here peddling, asking impertinent questions about the Star. If Leo had any sense, he would let the Star alone.—ED.]
