ARE WE SLEEPING?

As the great world outside of us moves to the time of the progressive spirit that is abroad, we here, and be likely to be a good investment. notably in Chatham, lie listless as the seven sleepers. While other people come tegether at stated times to discuss projects of a public bearing, and to arrange measures for united action -action before which all obstacles vanish-the people here never meet to discuss such measures, each one moving in his own sphere, satisfied with himself, if everybody else is.

This is an age of races, and the horse race and the boat race, and the foot race, are all but types of the spirit of the times; -when he who would reach the goal must run for it. There are energy, enterprise and courage here among our business men but most of these qualities seem to be latent; and where active they run only in the old time grooves that en, terprising people in more progressive communities have long since discarded.

We have suggested two or three times that there should be a Board of Trade here, that the business men might get together now and again to discuss projects of possible advantage where there is not public unity of action among the business men of a community, there is no enterprise in that community. THE HEMLOCK BARK QUES-TION.

The Government have advertized for sale a tract of hemlock land lying in Kent County, and some of the alarmists have written to the St. John papers, sounding the note of warning. The poor lumberman's rights are represented as menaced, and the government is covertly charged with playing into the hands of Messrs Millar, proprietors of the Bark Extracting Factory at Derby, to the detriment of more important interests. These letters have called a reply from Mr. Charles A D. Millar, of the Millar firm, which puts the matter in its true light before the public.

There is little doubt

Messrs Millar will buy it, though anybody else who wants it, has the same chance as the Messrs Millar. They want it for the hemlock bark from the Irish people, but now it must that grows upon it, the spruce and pine timber they will let lumbermen have at government rates. And to the community. THE LAND LEAGUE TO BE SUPPRESSED.

The Times says it is believed that the Irish Executive strongly represents to the Cabinet the necessity or adopting measures for the suppression of the Land League. If the League is permitted to continue its work it will bring the misses of Irish people into physical conflict with the Briti h Crown.

Dr. Quincy wrote a paper called "Murder as a fine Art," wherein the greatest virtuso in the trade of man killing was he whose victim fell at the stroke never but to move again. In a like spirit the when the land is offered the British Government have endeavored to be virtuous in their attitude towards Ireland. It was not enough to withdraw the British safeguard of "habeas corpus" contemplate making orderly, peaceful and lawful meetings, held for perfectly legitimate purposes, held with a view to improving the down-trodden condition of the people, criminal. If they do this policeman or a soldier can kill. It would be just as merciful to shoot down the people at once as to strip them of the the worst autocracy in the world enjoy.

A further account from Clonmel says that the late riot commenced in the following May. way: When Mr Goddard, agent of the Emergency Committee, was leaving the court, he was received with groans and hisses. A priest was passing out of the enter. A policeman in the confusion laid a cry went up that Father Maher had been arrested. The crowd grew fearfully excited, and the authorities at once concentrated with a force of military and constabulary before the Court House. Bottles, stones and bricks poured in on the police and soldiers. Capt. Slack resident magistrate, threatened to read the Riot Act, and at that moment a policeman was knocked senseless at his teet with a stone. Captain Slack produced the Act, and several priests implored him not to read it, as the consequences would be terrible. The stone-throwing did not cease, and as Captain Slack, after reading the Riot Act, pronounced the words 'God save the Qu en," a stone smashed the skull of another policeman standing beside him. The unfortunate man died on Tuesday evening. The police charged on the people with fixed bayonets, and at cavalry down the short streets was so impetuous that several horses and riders the end of the street. It was filled fully half an hour. A portion of the officiated on both occasions. To have an industry extending over crowd fled, while others faced, charged the horsemen and battered in their helmets with stones. The Hussars used the flat of their swords freely, the point and edge being strictly forbidden them. One Hussar, in charging around the corner, met with a serious mishap. His horse stumbled and fell, and five or six of hi comrades, who were following swiftly, fell over the prostrate horse and rider. Before the men could recover themselves their horses had galloped up the street. and the men had to defend themselves from the mob till they were rescued .--Owing to the exertion of the priests, citizens were sesiously wounded. YOUNG MAN DROWNED IN THE HARBOR

A young man named Angus McKay, deaf and dumb, hired a small boat from one of the market boatmen, namedBourbeau, yesterday morning, ostensibly for ment of Gents the purpose of having a sail. He left in the boat alone and went some distance up the river; he either accidently or designedly fell into the river, the sailors of some of the shipping seeing him going and shoes, and select stock of Fine over the side, and the boat was found tenantless, with the man's coat in the bottom. McKay is stated to be about 26 years of age, and come here from St. John, N. B. about three weeks ago, stopping at Mr. Demere's boarding house. on the Finlay Market, where his effects now are waiting to be claimed. He is, it seems, a printer by trade, and had expressed his intention of leaving for Boston next week .- Q sebec Telegraph, 28th
