This is what the great Edmund Burke says of the duty of a Representative. We want Mr. Snowball and his friends to read it :-

" It is the duly of your Parliamentary representative to sacrifice his repose and his pleasures to yours, and above all, TO PREFER IN ALL CASES YOUR INTEREST TO HIS OWN."

THE FAMOUS LAND BILL.

The world has seen the Bill and it is by no means full-freighted with tid ings of joy and future peace to the Irish people. Perhaps it was as good asGladstone could do. A bill that provides for ridding a country of her inhabitants, is a curious enough land bill; and a bill that had to be changed twenty-two times before it was "presentable," is a queer enough commentary on the fixed theories on Land Reform inIrcland possessed by Bright and Gladstone for so many, many months. After all the poking and talk about the Bill, Lord Daff erins suggestions are the only features in it worth calling an improvement on the other acts.

The root of the land trouble in Ireland is not touched by the bill, but some of the outgrowths of it, are slightly affected. For example it is ties be their trade! good that the tenant is assured of re compense for improvements upon his holding; it is good that the landlord is deprived of the power to put his rents at any figure; it is good that Mr. Wayman A. But the root of the matter, which is the hereditary lords and their entailed lands, is not touched at all. There is nothing to compel the landtheir debauchery.

There are schemers in this very town of Chatham, trying to array one "denomination" of people against another, for their own purpose. Let pose him.

THE LAND BILL.

The following are some of the pro visions of the Land Bill, which has taken is prepared to Repair all kirds of Mr. Gladstone and his Cabinet so long to Commenting on this the N. Y. Herall draw up. It is difficult to say how the Home Rulers will receive the bill, but we suppose it is better than nothing; and is, at its best, that it is the first step towards the disentegration of Landlord

The tenant's right to compensation for improvements is guaranteed. Tenants may apply to the court to fix what is the fair rent. Only tenants paying £150 rent and over can contract themselves out of the provisions of the bill. Excepting in these cases. leases and contracts inconsistent with its provisions are declared void.

Part 5 of the bill deals with the acquisition of land by tenants, the reclamation of land vacated emigration. It provides that Land Commission. out of the money in their hands for the purpose, may, if satisfied with the security, advance sums to tenants for the purpose of enabling them to purchase their holdings where landlords are willing to sell. Such an advance is not to exceed three-fourths of the principal sum.

SALE OF HOLDINGS.

Where the sale of a holding is about to be made by a landlord to a tenant in consideration of the tenant paying a fine and engaging to pay to the landlord a fee as farm rent, the commission may advance a sum equal to half the fine payable to the landlord. Provisions is also made to enable the commission to give purchasing tenants a parliamentary title at a fixed scale of costs in order to avoid the heavy legal expenses which attend the sale and transfer of landed property under the ordinary lav. Tenants can repay the principal and interest by annual payment of £5 per £100, clearing the debt in 35 years. The Treasury may authorize the Board of Works to advance money to companies for the reclamation or improvement of waste lands on proper security.

EMIGRATION FUNDS.

The Land Commission may, from time to time, with the sanction of the This is some of his description - and Treasury, enter into agreement with any grand description it is -in the opening person or body of persons having authority to contract on behalf of the Dominion of Canada or of any province thereof, or on behalf of any British colony or dependency or any State or other And took into their ancient scarred em- district in such Dominion, province. colony or dependency, or on behalf of any public company or other public body with whose security the Land Commission may be satisfied for the advance, by the commission by way of a loan out barrel. of the moneys in their hands, or such sums as the conmission may think it desirable to expend in promoting emigra-And inland toward the islands quiet heart | tion from Ireland. Such arrangements shall contain such provisions relative to the mode of application of loans and the commission and for other purposes as the commission thinks fit.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

The Treasury may, from time to time, as they think fit, issue out of the consolidated fund, or the growing produce thereof, the sums required for advances or purchases of estates by the Land Commission under this part of the act, not exceeding the sum annually granted by Parliament. Provisions are also made for tenants purchasing an estate where three-fourths of the number are prepared to buy or are willing to borrow the necessary money for the commission. A striking feature of the bill is the recognition of the occupiers' and tenants' rights as a valuable in terest. Its advances to the tenant in ordinary cases are limited to a sum of £3,000. In extraordinary cases the At the examination of the Nahilists limit is placed at £5,000. The Civil Bill Court of the country is declared the Land Court of first instance. It is provided that all differences and settlements between landlord and tenant may be submitted to arbitration.
