

LOCAL MATTERS.

NOTICE.

The public are hereby cautioned against paying subscriptions or amounts for advertisements to any person on behalf of the STAR, unless said person hold written authority from me to collect and receive the same.

J. E. COLLINS,
Ed. "Star."

Mr. John McDonnell's connexion with the Star has ceased.

Unlawful Fishing.

We learn that a large proportion of the lobsters taken so far around the coast are females. This is because the female is now making its way to the shallows to spawn.

A Newcastle Young Man in Luck.

We have been informed that Jas. J. M. Tschell of Newcastle, has been engaged under the New Syndicate as Chief Clerk of the mechanical department at Winnipeg at a salary of $2,000 per year.

Personal.

His Lordship, Bishop Rogers, went down by train to Point du Chene, Wednesday night, on diocesan business. He there took steamer for Charlottetown. He will return to day or early in the week.

Rev. Father Bannon arrived home today from New York, where he had been for the past ten days.

Dead in Michigan.

Mrs. James Keoughan received a telegram from her brother, James Harris, Menomonia, Mich., Thursday stating that Donald Thompson of this town was dead. It is supposed that he was killed while lumber driving in the said place.

Lobster Fishing.

Lobster fishing has commenced along the coast, from Bathurst to Bay Chaleur. The fish is reported very plenty. Jas. Buttimer, who fishes on the Gloucester Coast, received in the first 24 hours, 4,000 lobsters, — 1,000 lbs. of fish — from 500 traps.

A Ship Probably Abandoned.

Pilot Allan McEachern arrived from sea Thursday night and reports having seen a barque which he took to be the "Batticola" of Christund, Norway, 4 miles S. W. of the Bird Rocks, surrounded by ice and supposed to be abandoned.

Seizure.

Mr. Overseer Wyse keeps his eyes open. An Acadian named Landry came here Monday, from Petit Roche, with two barrels of lobsters. Mr. Wyse examined them and found a large proportion of the fish were females; so he seized the lot.

Scared by a Goose.

As Mr. Ferryman Haviland was leaving his ferry on Tuesday evening, he saw a large animal on the end of the slip. As he neared it, it neared him; and suddenly made a rush, with a hissing noise, which so startled Mr. Haviland, who did not know what it was, that he tumbled over the slip into five feet of water. It was one Venadestine's goose. The other ferryman, took out the Captain.

Fancy Fowls &c.

Mr. John Lee, who lives a couple of miles out of town, has conceived the excellent idea of raising a large number of fowls, of different varieties, and setting fancy and other eggs. He has imported several high grade birds, and eggs, and has a habitation built and fitted up in a first class manner for the accommodation of his feathery care. A space is enclosed with boards, and a roof is formed of lattice work, which will let the air in, but will not let the hens out. Mr. Lee has a lad on the premises who cares for the birds. They are fed on grain. We wonder why no one has tried this before. For about two months of the year you get fowl on our market, and then there is a black fast. Why should there not be fowl in the market—but we have no market—all the year round?

The Booms.

The past week has been a busy time at the booms. There are about a hundred men employed rafting in the South West boom, and about fifty in the North West boom. During the week they have been "On the jump," so fast did the logs come rolling in. There were about 60,000,000 feet of logs cut on the South West this winter; a third of this by this time has probably reached the boom. There were about 20,000,000 feet cut this season on the North West Miramichi, a considerable portion of which has already reached the boom. Interested parties in Chatham as well as in Newcastle, through means of Major Call's telephone, get word a couple of times during the day, how matters are progressing at the boom.

Telephones in Newcastle.

As we have stated elsewhere, by means of Major R. R. Calls telephone, our lumber merchants in Chatham and Newcastle, are enabled to learn the progress of business at the boom once or twice a day. Major Call has telephonic connexion between his house and his office, thence with the I. C. Railway Station; and on to the business offices of Messrs. Miller in Derby. The line, poles, etc. are the property of a private company of which Major Call is the head. We wonder some others of our enterprising men on the North Shore have not before this followed the example set by Major Call. The Stewart firm, through its enterprising representative Mr. Joyce, have leased the privilege of putting a wire along the poles of Major Call & Co., from the Stewart office in Newcastle, to the boom.

Boat Wrecking.

The boat of a fishery officer doing duty at Lower Napan, has recently been wrecked by some of the good people. The fishermen about lower Napan should be above having the report go out they would do anything so mean as this. The boat will be replaced, and the officer will do his duty no less. Nothing will be harmed in consequence save the reputation of the people among whom the lawless act was done. We know it is hard shipping for the people to be forbidden to take with nets, the bass that now swim by their doors, and which will not bite the hook, but the stupid and unjust regulation that makes this so, is a Grit legacy left by Albert J. Smith. Now perhaps Napan sees what it is to be without a representative.

Since writing the above we learn the following:—On Thursday Warden McDiarmid and Fitzpatrick of Napan, having been informed that poaching was going on down the river, hired a canoe of Mr. William Gray, and paddled down the river. They found, contrary to law, two bass nets, one 4-1-2 inch, the other 5 inch mesh. One of these was evidently knit for catching middle sized bass. They seized the nets, and returned the canoe which was put on Mr. Grays premises. Yesterday morning when Mr Gray arose, he found his canoe chopped in pieces. Now then, let the Government interfere, and punish the law breakers. We think the Officer ought to recommend that a reward of $100 be offered for the apprehension of one or more of the lawless persons destroying these boats. If they are caught then deal with them to the utmost vigor of the law. Only a few days ago the same parties, presumably, destroyed Warden McDiarmids boat. The Government should make good Mr. Gray's loss, as he is a poor man, and likewise should replace Warden McDiarmids boat. But above all, Mr. Pope should see that this barbarous recrimination against Grit legacies, be put an end to, and severely punished.

Since writing both the above, Mr. W. Wyse, Fishery Overseer, has sent us the following:—

100 DOLLARS REWARD!

The above reward will be paid to any person who will give direct information which will lead to the conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously destroyed the two boats used by the Fishery Wardens in Napan district at midnight, on Monday and Thursday last.

WM. WYSE,
Fishery Officer.

Chatham May 14, 1881.

$20 REWARD!

The above reward will be paid by the subscriber to any person who will give him such information as will enable him to bring to justice the person or persons who destroyed the boats used by the Fishery Wardens on the nights of Monday and Thursday last. Informer's name to be kept secret.

WM. WYSE,
Fishery Officer.

Chatham, May 14, 1881.

STAR BRIEFS.

Fresh lobsters are for sale now through town.

Mr. Cunningham of Chatham is buying up all the empty casks he can get, and sending them to St. John.

John Scott of Portland, working at Morrison's mill, Fredericton, was killed Wednesday last by a pile of deals falling upon him.

The Dever Brothers of Fredericton have not yet recovered the postal card they lost during the sacking of the Fredericton post office!

We have to leave our notice of Mr. Hildebrand's business in Newcastle, over till next, though it is part in type. We shall have a word on our patrons all around.

Messrs. McKenzie & Co., are making improvements in their drug store under the supervision of Mr. Geo. Cassidy. We wish Messrs. Mackenzie & Co. much success.

Mr. R. Flanagan's little daughter, May, died of Diphtheria Thursday evening. A fortnight before, Mr. Flanagan lost his only son. We deeply sympathize with the afflicted parents in their sad loss.

Mr. P. A. Noonan of this town and latterly of Boston, Mass. has engaged the Noonan store, opposite Senator Muirheads, where he intends carrying on a general business. We wish him very much success.

An Indian named Venadestine today called at the Star office and said he shot a goose and divers other animals, at one shot, the other day with a ram-rod. The presence of a black bottle in the Indians pocket, weakened the credibility of the story.

Ship Notes.

The barques Norma, Saturn, Lammergier, Sinkon and Silmea arrived from sea on Thursday, in charge of pilots McEachern, Martin and Sutton. Capt. Simonsen of the barque Saturn reports making her passage to the banks in 20 days, having been detained 13 days from there; also plenty of ice in the gulf.

To our Business Men

All the space in our Semi-Weekly paper is filled, but we may be able to arrange with some of the parties who chiefly want to reach country subscribers, to have their ads. transferred to the weekly Star in which there are yet, three or four columns of space. In future, those who send us advertisements, must state whether they are for the weekly or for the semi-weekly, or for both. In the latter case, our rates are double as much as they are for the one paper, though we might make special arrangements in this case. And that business men may be enabled to judge what channel of advertising would be most to their advantage, we may say that the circulation of the Semi-weekly Star is in a large measure confined to the towns, to Chatham, Newcastle, Bathurst, Fredericton; while the weekly Star circulates almost entirely outside of the towns.

It is gratifying, and encouraging too, we assure our readers to find our space so rapidly filling up, for it tells the story of the appreciation of the people for our paper. After all why should it be otherwise? if there be any virtue at all in advertising, there is surely the most virtue in advertising in the paper that is read.

The Sunday Magazine, For June

Is peculiarly attractive in its literary and artistic departments, and brilliantly closes the ninth semi-annual volume. It is a publication which should be found in every household, for its literature is pure and healthy; it is always vivacious, and edifies while it entertains and instructs. The 128 quarto pages are crowded with good things; among the most prominent articles are, A Peep at the Mormons; Country Church Architecture, by Joel Benton; Experiences in Australia and Ceylon, by Philip Phillips; The Modern Sunday-school Movement, by Charles B. Stout; Adoniram Judson, by Rt. Rev. W. Pakenham Walsh, D.D.; The Methodist Ecumenical, by Rev. W. H. Tiffany, D.D. The above are fully illustrated. Out of the World, a charming serial, is continued and there are admirable short stories, sketches, essays, etc., etc. and poems of great merit. The miscellany is abundant and exceedingly comprehensive. The Rev. Dr. Deems contributes Hard places in the Bible, and The Home Pulpit, contains a sermon. Salvation to the Utmost, by the late Rev. W. Rudder, D.D. There are also The Invalid's Portion, and Thoughts for the Afflicted. Temperance Talk, Glimpses at the Religious World, etc., etc. The engravings are excellent and very numerous. The annual subscription is $3, a single copy 25 cents, sent post free. Address Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

NEWCASTLE NOTES.

There is a general awakening here now from the winter sleep. The mills are all at work, and the ships are coming in.

A deputation waited on Major Call one day this week, urging him to call out his cavalry. The Major said, I am ready at a moments notice to serve my Queen and my country. Let Mr. Justice Nevin read the riot act, and I shall say to my men, aux armes. Peace was concluded without the cavalry.

The agent of the Bank of Nova Scotia has leased Mr. R. R. Calls front office, and will use both for a bank, pending the preparation of other quarters. Major Call in the meantime, will move back into the rear of the building. The carpenters are busy fitting up the offices.

Our two enterprising young townsmen, Messrs. McEwen & Buck, have now fairly opened up, and are getting as much business as they can attend to. They have a good stand: their stock comprises a wide variety, well bought, and everything is saleable. At night the illumination shows off their building to much advantage. Success to them. Our town is increasing in size, and there is plenty of room for our new business men.

Mr. George Hildebrand agent for Johnston & Co., is doing a rushing business. Since coming here he has made himself quite popular; and found business so brisk, he had to get his brother, Mr. Otto Hildebrand to assist him. The latter young gentleman makes a very favorable impression upon all whom he meets; and will be of much assistance to his brother.

I saw a very uproarious limppuddle yesterday evening by the Waverly. The policeman saw him too—but he said nothing about it.

No hopes of a Post Office.
Newcastle, May 13, 1881.

The hands in Fishes mill this morning made a demand for an increase of pay. This being refused they struck. The employers did not see their way clear to comply—so the mill is now idle.

COMMUNICATIONS.

REPLY TO "QUACK."

To the Editor of the Star:—

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly permit me space in your valuable paper to reply to an article in a Chatham paper of 12th inst., headed "The Only Photographer." Mr. Editor, the writer of the article above referred to, displays wonderful tact in presenting that low, mean, contemptibly small, ungentlemanly and unwarrantable trash without a signature to the public. It requires no great intellectual capacity to scandalize or vilify a person especially over a fictitious name. Why did he not sign his name and be a man for once, or did he think the name of "Quack" best suited to him?

To prove that I am the only photographer here, the following will suffice. A short time before this great firm of Mersereau & Thomson was ushered into existence, Mr. Mersereau came into my place of business and told me that Mr. Stevens wanted him to buy out his business and asked me what I thought of it; to which I replied "Certainly buy him out, why not?" He, Mersereau, said that he had intended to make a start first together with Thomson, in some little country place. I had told both Thomson and Mersereau before, when they were talking of starting at Spring Hill, N. S., that I thought it was an excellent idea. They both concurred with me and it was the best way for them as they knew so little about the business; but on the time referred to, when Mersereau came to ask my advice about buying Mr. Stevens out, I told him he had better buy and commence here at once for there were always a certain class of individuals in every place who were not judges of work, consequently he would always have some thing to do and that he could practise up. He said he thought he would do so and spoke of taking some lessons in the art of Photography from me as they would not attempt such a thing as trying to photograph. I advised him not to have anything to do with Thomson as I had had him at my place a short time last winter. He wanted me to take him and teach him something about the business for what little help he could be to me; but all the time he was at my place I never could trust him to put a plate into the bath let alone taking a picture. Now how in the name of common sense could I recognize either of these gentlemen as a Photographer?—photography being a profession requiring years of study together with a practical experience.

"Quack" says I left town some years ago, and when I returned I brought back one of those "Buchanan Diplomas." In reference to me leaving town I would say that I could scarcely have gone away without leaving town. However, unlike "Quack" I paid my bills before leaving. Next he imagines I got a Buchanan Diploma but if he will just spend 3cts. for a stamp and address on enquiry to Professor M. J. Galloway, in charge of the Philadelphia Electrographic Institution at No. 1230 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., I am sure the professor will be most happy to give him the necessary information as to whether I got my Diploma as the result of a proficiency in the study of Electricity or through Mr. Buchanan.

Next he imagines he has been watching me for some time and could say a thing or two about my Electrical business, but I can assure "Quack" that I have seen him since my return here with his eyes so badly swollen—the result of a drunken fight—that he could not watch any person for some time, at least. It is evident "Quack" has got his "back up" at me, some time. Perhaps he thinks I charged him too much for his Electrical treatment. Well, my charges for those treatments may seem high sometimes, but, as he says, I am the only Electrical Doctor here and I make my own prices. However, I feel warranted in some peculiar cases to charge what some might think high. Then he goes on in a wonderfully cunning way saying there are pictures from my Studio reported in places where their originals would blush to find them. This of course any person can easily see through; it is just a little foolish blast to try to injure my business, but it's too thin, for there are too many people in this town that have often wanted to buy pictures from me of my customers, but never could do so as I always have made it a point to guard well any picture left by customers in my place. I have been in the business about 22 years and I defy any one to say I have sold or given away a picture of a customer.

Now I wish to remind "Quack" that he has taken the wrong card to bluff me, and holds as bad a hand as he did when he tried it before and went blind for two weeks and then tried to see me and couldn't. I advise him in future to watch some one else and give the firm of Mersereau & Thomson a chance.

Thanking you Mr Editor for space in your paper, I remain,
Yours Very Truly,
T. R. COLPITTS.
Chatham May 13, 1881.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

To the Editor of the Star,

DEAR SIR,—On Wednesday evening last we had the pleasure of attending a challenge debate between members of the Father Mathew's Association of St. John and of the St. Aloysius Association of Portland. A large and critical audience, composed principally of the various different temperance organizations throughout the city and Portland, assembled in St. Malichi's Hall at an early hour. The judges, Thos. O'Reilly Esq., R. J. Quigley, Esq., and Councillor Kelly, shortly after arrived and having taken their seats, declared the proceedings formally opened.

On this announcement, Mr. Frank Duffy, leader of the affirmative, arose and stated the subject of the debate which was to the following effect, "Resolved, That the poet is a greater civilization than the statesman." This gentleman contented himself with simply defining civilization in its most general acceptance, adding that in his capacity of leader he proposed to take advantage of the time allotted him at the close to sum up and comment on the various arguments which might be advanced. He was followed by Mr. M. McDade, who, waiving his right to speak at the opening, briefly laid down the programme which he intended to follow and announced that the members of St. Aloysius Association would support the negative.

The discussion being now fully underway, Mr. Connolly, of the affirmative, transporting his hearers far back in imagination through the dim vista of centuries, depicted in glowing colors the brilliant and poetical achievements of the Greeks and Romans. The allotted time having expired, Mr. Connolly was succeeded by Mr. Andrew Moore who espoused the negative. The latter gentleman, in one of the happiest efforts of the evenings, referred to the command of the Almighty in the Garden of Eden and in a syllogism which would satisfy the most accurate reasoner, logically proved that statesmanship was co-eval with the creation. With much earnestness and eloquence and with the aid of sound argument and practical reasoning he proceeded to sustain his opinion at length.

Mr. D. J. Mullin, affirmative, who is not only a well-trained orator, but a very Demosthenes, preluded his able speech by a somewhat general review of the last speaker's arguments. Powerful and enthusiastic in his theme, the speaker seemed to be under the inspiration of the muse as he spread before his admiring auditors the brilliant panorama of her multifarious charms. The large audience present applauded Mr. Mullin as he concluded his able argument. It might be objected to him, however, that he dwelt too long on what poetry was, not what she had accomplished now, nor can we readily conceive of statesmen walking knee-deep through the blood of their slaughtered countrymen. A distinction must be made between the warrior and statesman.

Next in order followed Mr. Boden, negative, who refuted some statements advanced by one of the opposite side in regard to Homer. It was unanimously conceded that Mr. Boden made the ablest oration of the evening. Eminent logical while it abounded in the most beautiful figures and in the choicest Tennysonian cadences, his speech thrilled his hearers by the impress of authority which it involuntarily bore. Starting out with the rational principle that authority, or, in other words, statesmanship is necessary to the well being of society, he drew on history and example in confirmation of his theory. He gave a graphic picture of the state of the Phoenicians and Carthaginians beneath a beneficial government and of the glories of Erin when her kings swayed her sceptre. By this time it had become pretty late and it was announced that for that evening the debate would be postponed. As there are eighteen taking part, it will necessarily occupy more than one evening, and will be continued on Friday night in St. Peter's Hall, and concluded in St. Malichi's Hall on Monday. As this debate may interest many of your readers, I took the liberty to write you a short description of it, and should this please you, I shall send you an account of the remaining portion.

I am, etc.,

EDITORIAL GLEANINGS

THE STAR ROUTE FRAUDS.

The public has lately heard much about the Star Route frauds in the United States. The following will help them to understand what it is all about.—A "star route" is a route where the mails are carried other than by steam; that is, by stages or on horseback. They are called "star routes" because in the post office department they are designated by an asterisk. The contractor's ring at Washington has its agents in almost every State. Their method has been to bid off a route at a much lower price than that for which the service can be performed. They then get some party to carry the mail for a time and then throw up the contract. If the business was honestly managed the contract would then be awarded to the next highest bidder, but instead of this, the ring has been able to make an arrangement by which some one representing it is employed to perform the service temporarily, and finally a price very largely in excess of a fair compensation is fixed for the service during the entire period. It is said that the ring controls routes in all parts of the country.

A MINISTER OVERBOARD.

There was a great sensation in a Baptist Church in Yorkville, Ontario, Sunday last; when Rev. Mr. Brookman publicly tendered his resignation. Long ago Mr. Brookman had been an Episcopalian, but not believing in infant baptism, he left his church, and became a Baptist. His reasons given, Sunday, for leaving the Baptist ministry are that "he could not hold the doctrines of eternal punishment etc., as other than a libel on God." This good man has gone forth, however, still preaching.

SIR LEONARD'S RETIREMENT.

Says the Toronto Mail.—"Sir Leonard Tilley, at the Langevin banquet, disposed of the rumour that he was likely to accept a Governorship and retire from public life."

The position he occupies is far too congenial to him to dispose him to abandon it speedily. And we fancy that the public will approve of his declared intention to occupy it for some years yet."

A PROFESSORSHIP.

Prof. Fletcher of the New Brunswick University has resigned the chair, and Mr. Brydges, M. A., is spoken of as his successor. Could not Dr. Rand fill it with some "friend" from Nova Scotia?

BRIEFS.

Sir Leonard Tilley it is said will be acting Premier during Sir John's absence.

The new Czar has issued another manifesto of intentions. He sets out by saying "Confiding in Divine Providence and the power of autocracy," etc!
