Young Hopeful of Iron Bound Cove did well, but I think he should not have slighted the efficient poor master in that locality, who enforces his love charity and goodness of heart with a constable and two or three more just as a protection against evil in the shape of those that are bowed down by sorrow and affliction, the coffers of the poor must or will overflow with such a one to look after the interest of the parish, destruction of millions of Federal property in the shape of the battleship Maine and the death of hundreds of sailors has set wagging the tongues of thousands of thoughtless people in this coutry and given rise to much foolish "war talk" aside it occured by the carelessness of our own Spaniards in Cuba, it has started a great one navy and its relative importance It has revived the discussion of what the result of a war between the United States brought foward the three opinions concerning such matters, viz. the theory which holds that we have no more use for a navy comparable to that of the great nations of Europe than we have for a standing army like that of Great Britain, Germany, France or Russia: the stand that the money put into our navy would better have been expended in coast defences; and lastly that opinion which demands that on land and sea we should be equally powerful to any nation on earth. According to the "statment's year book," the English authority of Spain by drawing upon all sources hopes in time to be able to mobilize, in case of necessity an army of 1,083,595 men. The same authority says in case of war the United States has 10, I49, 589 men for an enrolled militia and had in 1890 no less than 13,230,-168 males of an age suitable to take arms to call upon. The year book gives Spain 39 effective vessels and the United States

Our Newspaper Man Prospered-The News-The Markets, etc.

It is gratifying to know that all newspaper men are not always chained to their desks except when they are preparing for the entertainment of their compositors, pressmen, reporters and the "devil" when Saturday night arrives. Newspaperdom, like the Sahara has its oasis as well as its mirages, and it may be that they are very happy who find them. It is thought, however, that the newspaper man is generally a philosopher; that he accepts good and evil fortune alike without emotion if he is conscious of having done his best. Therefore when one of the fraternity succeeds in surrounding himself with what are called the comforts and luxuries of life, his brethren are glad aud hope he is as happy as themselves. For years churches have been trying to get a good organ at low price. Many small churches are unable to pay what a. good pipe organ has hitherto cost and they have unwillingly accepted the reed organ substitute. This need has kept organ manufacturers thinking how to provide for it, and has resulted at last in the production of an instrument combining the body of tonefulness and carrying power of the organ pipe with the variety dulged in until 11 o'clock. A vote of to be had from free reed as in the best reed organs. Strictures on the Letter of "Justice."

"The Maple Leaf" was sung and "My Such demoniacal definition of a joke has member that they are civilized human be-Almost every day dozens of people are ings and not savages. We want them to passing through the city en route to the know the true definition of a joke: Something that is not in earnest, not actually meant (to destroy, injure or wrong).

"Justice" that "when Mr. Titus was preparing to leave he was surrounded by a howling mob," would naturally make some of your readers think that quite a It is likely that work will be begun on large number of men and boys surroundthe pulp mill to be erected near the Sus- ed him and made a loud noise, like that of wild beasts. It would seem that it could only have been one or two irresponible small boys as the howling was not noticed by the people who were on the street at the time. The writer took the trouble to enquire of several persons who were at the Methodist meeting that night and whose testimony must be considered above suspicion; and they declare that the letter in the GAZETTE was their first intimation of the howling. I think that the letter of "Justice" calls for strictures in these particulars. Still let it be distinctly understood that if Mr. Titus was at all rudely or inhospitably treated every ciitizen of Gagetown greatly regrets it. The fact that it took place during or after a religious service makes the incident an insult not only to Mr. Titus but to the Almighty Himself. We have reason, however, to believe that the case was greatly exaggerated in the letter of "Justice." We are always averse to a pseudonym in a case like this and we should like to have a statement of facts over the signature of Mr. Titus and if any citizens of Jemseg have been grossly treated or insulted otherwise than by one or two small, irresponsible boys I am sure steps will be taken to amply apologize and to see that it does not occur again. Let me state in conclusion that during a rectorate of eight years I have found the young men of Gagetown exceptionally orderly, and while I cannot state positively what their conduct may be when they attend Methodist meeting, I can affirm that when they attend the Anglican church their actions have been above reproach. I have never in these eight years heard a murmur of a complaint of the fnature spoken of by "Justice." And I am sure that there is sufficient manliness and right feeling and good heart in our young men to insure the impossibility of its ever being heard.

Yours truly. N. C. HANSEN.

Gagetown, March 4.

Lower Jemseg. March 7.—On March 2nd, a number of our promient young people started for a sleighing party. They left the corner at 4 p. m., and drove to Mr. Fred McDonald's arriving there about 5.30, and were kindly received by Mr. and Mrs. Mac. At seven o'clock supper was prepared by the ladies and those assembled sat down to a bounteous repast, each doing ample justice to the good things provided. After supper games of various kinds were inthanks was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. McDonald for their kindness shown to which assembled made considerable trouble during the evening eating candy, nuts, etc., which makes use for the carpet sweeper the following morning. Mr. ner and stated, he hoped it would not be long before the same would be repeated. On the same evening Mr. Alex. Young's horse ran away. The shafts dropped which frightened the horse and he ran as far as C. L. Spipp's barns a distance of over a mile, where he was captured.

Notice to the Heirs of Anneka Jahns and Holland D. Harlem Heirs.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Anneke Jans Internationa company at headquarters, Cleveland, O., on March 29, 1898, at 2 o'clock p. m. sharp. This meeting will be for stockholders only. Heirs must be stockholders in order to secure admission. The stock is not closed yet, but the secretary is determined to get the stockholders together, and hopes the heirs will close up the balance by the date of meeting. Mrs. Kepler desires to complete as many lines of geneaology, as possible by that time, as heirs may secure her services long after said date, as she may embark thereafter for Amsterdam, Holland, to look after the Webber estate in that country. Please attend to your lines at once, and be sure you are ready for your claim of the Harlem, which will be taken up soon. Heirs who have secured Mrs. Kepler's assistance in proving their claims may depend upon having her service, however, on all papers which she holds, but she may not take any more new work after March 29th

Heirs of the Harlem Holland and Trinity Church estates get ready for the great stockholders meeting, for stockholders only, which will be held at the headquarters of the Anneke Jans company on March 29th, 1898.

Heirs secure your right to a seat in the great stockholders' convention by subscribing to stock. Get ready for a strong pull and an early settlement of the claims. Mrs. Jennie Kepler, the geneaologist on the Anneke Jans and Webber claims at Cleveland, has been piling up iron clad documents of proof of heirship to the said claims for the said year, and soon this great subject will be passed beyond question, and something is going to drop. So If you want to be counted in, dear heirs, wake up and attend to your interests, or you will surely be counted out after the 29th of March.
