We have a number of choice patterns, that we carry in stock just as we do white ware, that you can buy as you buy white ware. You can start with Cups and Saucers and Plates—get the same patterns in Fruit Saucers, Covered Dishes, etc., later on. Costs no more getting a set that way than if you bought it complete at once. You can take your choice of English uncracked earthenware or fine German or Austrian China.

Death of J. B. Brooks.

BETHANY, Feb. 28.—The death of J. Barnett Brooks, eldest son of George Brooks, which occurred at the residence of his uncle, James Barnett, Bethany, Gagetown, Queens Co., on Feb. 24th, has cast a gloom over many loving hearts. He was much respected by all who knew him, being of a very gentle and kind disposition. For the last two years he had been a great sufferer but bore his affliction with great patience. He died trusting in a dear and loving Saviour. Although our hearts are burdened with sorrow, we submit to the will of Him who doeth all things well. He leaves a father, one sister, a sorrowing aunt, and also another sad loving friend, who feels that the loss of him in her heart can never on earth be filled; but who trusts in a dear Saviour that when her lonely walk on earth is done they will meet again where parting shall be no more. Beside a number of friends and relations, who mourn the loss of one they loved.

Before his death he choose his pall-bearers, and advised those who were grieving to meet him in heaven where there would be no more sorrow. When nearing the end, he asked his sister, among other friends, to sing the following hymn to him:

Come sing to me of Heaven When I'm about to die, Sing songs of holy ecstasy To waft my soul on high.

CHORUS— There'll be no sorrow there There'll be no sorrow there In Heaven above where all is love There'll be no sorrow there.

When the last moments come Oh watch my dying face To catch the bright, seraphic glow Which in each feature plays.

Then to my raptured ear Let one sweet song be given Let music charm me last on earth And greet me first in heaven.

When round my senseless clay Assemble those I love Then sing of Heaven's delightful Heaven My glorious home above.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. The pall-bearers were: Jas. McKeague, Herman McKeague, George Owens, Harry Osborne, John Law, jr., and H. G. Gaunce. The remains were interred in the Methodist cemetery.

That Gagetown Affray.

TO EDITOR QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE.

Dear Sir: Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to speak concerning an affray which occurred at Gagetown a few nights since, and which is considered by those most interested as the most gross insult ever offered them by the people of an adjoining village. What I have reference to is as follows: On the night of 20th inst., Mr. M. K. Titus of this place, in company with several neighbors attended Methodist meeting in Gagetown. Mr. Titus drove a span of horses, and during service his horses were relieved of their bells and his whip rendered useless.

Now, were this all we would be tempted to laugh the matter off as a capital joke, but what was Mr. Titus' surprise, when, on preparing to leave he was surrounded by a howling mob who used language which not only insulted Mr. Titus but the people of Jemseg in general.

Mr. Editor, I am writing this, not as one interested in party or creed, but the welfare of the county at large and Gagetown in particular, but if Gagetown is to be the scene of such deprecations as this, its fair name will soon be a thing of the past. It is simply preposterous to think that in a land where people have the advantage of Christian worship, they cannot be allowed to attend it peacefully.

We do not suppose that those who took part in this onslaught were the respectable residents, but that it was the work of a class which are properly designated as "Rowdies."

The proper authorities should see that those who took part in the affray are punished.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I am,

Yours etc., JUSTICE.

Home Dyeing Made Easy.

Even a Child Can Dye With Diamond Dyes.

Diamond Dyes Color Anything Any Color—Make Old Cloaks, Gowns, Scarfs, and Suits Look Like New—How to Dress Well at Small Cost.

Diamond Dyes are a wonderful help to economical dressing. These simple home dyes will color anything any color, and they make cloaks, stockings, dresses, feathers, hats, curtains, etc., look like new.

Many of the Diamond Dyes are made from specially prepared dyestuffs, and in no other way can home dyeing be done so simply and satisfactorily.

They come in all colors, and the plain and explicit directions on the package make it easy for the most inexperienced to use them with success. Even a child can dye a rich, perfect color if Diamond Dyes are used.

Do not risk your material with dyes that claim to color both cotton and wool with the same dye, for it is impossible to get satisfactory results with dyes of that character. In Diamond Dyes there are special dyes for cotton and special dyes for wool, and they are all guaranteed to give satisfaction, if used according to directions.

Oromocto.

Feb. 26.—Business is very dull in these parts, owing to the bad roads. Our mails are very irregular. This weather will begin to make us think that we have an old-fashioned winter, although we have been told by some that they are a thing of the past.

The "Old Fashioned Tea Party," given by the Womans' Aid Society, of St. John's church, on the 16th Feb., was a success in spite of the stormy weather and bad roads. After tea we were treated to a nice little program of recitation and music, a pleasing feature of which was a solo intitled "The Children's Home," by Mrs. Dibblee, at the close of the entertainment a number of fancy articles were disposed of by auction. The proceeds amounted to about $36.00.

Newcastle Creek.

Feb. 26th.—We have heard people say during the past few years that the climate of New Brunswick is changing, that the winter's now are not as they used to be; but this winter we believe comes quite up to the old standard and we are afraid that the time when New Brunswick becomes an equatorial district is still a long way off.

A greater amount of coal than usual is being dug at Newcastle this winter. All the mines are operating with large crews and from one alone—that of Akerley Bros.—we learn that over 300 chaldrons have been put out.

Mr. Fred Basley is paying a visit to his old home in Newcastle.

Mr. Anderson of Fredericton has the contract for rebuilding the bridge across the stream at Upper Newcastle.

Mr. W. D. Bridges, of Sheffield, paid a flying visit to his friends in this vicinity recently.

Mrs. Hollie Bailey, who has been suffering for the past month with a felon on her finger is slowly recovering.

Mr. Edward Taylor of Fredericton is spending a few days at Newcastle.

Capt. James Kelly has purchased a new sleigh from Mr. J. E. VanBuren.

Miss M. L. Macege, of Mangerville has returned home after a short visit with Mrs. H. S. Bailey at Newcastle Bridge.

Tenders are out for rebuilding the wharf at Newcastle.
