I have much pleasure in again informing my customers and 'the public generally that I have made an arrangement with J. A. Humphrey & Son for the handling of their goods for the coming season—west of the St. John River. My stock this season is large and personally selected with a view to your requirements which my dealings with you for the past three years enables me to do and will be sold at prices lower than former years—while the quality has been kept up to the regular standard-goods being made from pure wool; also new and at tractive patterns added. I would ask you to see our goods and prices before purchasing and in so doing I feel assured that you will continue to favor me with your esteemed patronage which you have so generously done in the past.

Bob's Examination.

Old Bob conceived the idea of having his life insured.

"How much do you weigh?" asked the examining physician.

"I weigh 'bout fifteen poun's more den my wife does."

"Well, but how much does she weigh?" "I'se dun forgot; but she's a whopper, lemme tell yer."

"How tall are you?"

"Who -me."

"Yes, you." "Lemme see. Does yer known Abe Sevier, whut worked fur ole man Plum-

"Wall, I'se sorry, fur I ain't quite ez tall ez he is."

The doctor, after weighing old Bob and naesuring his height, asked:

"How old are you?" "Who-me?"

"Yes, of course you. You are being examined."

"Dat's a fack. Wall, lemme see. My birfday comes in July, an' now whut wants ter git at is how many Julys I ken recollect. Ain't dat de p'int?" "Yes."

"Wall, lemme see. Blame if I knows. Suppose we make it August, 'stead of 1.01

"What difference would that make?" "Doan' know, but it's jez ez easy."

"I'll pat you down at fifty." "Put who down at fifty?"

"You, of course."

MOTHER.

In all the world, go where you will, You'll never find another Who'll cling to you through good or ill And love you like a mother.

In all the world, where're you roam With sister, wife or brother, You'd never know so sweet a home

As that one made by mother. In all the world, though wealth commands For you the work of others,

You'll never find a pair of hands To toil for you like mother's. In all the world—though friends sincere

Are more to you than brothers-You'll never for a moment hear, A voice as kind as mother's.

In all the world—although you break The tender hearts of others

There is no heart can ever ache For you as much as mother's

In all the world—where you in bliss

May soon forget anothor-There is no one whom you will miss When she is gone, like mother.

Control your temper for the sake of your health and good looks if for no higher reason. It is not enough, either, merely to keep from giving anger its outward expression. A smouldering fire is far more dangerous to the health than that which comes to the surface and is quickly extinguished. A disposition which continually "boils" within often finds outward expressions in boils and ulcers. Wrath has a natural tendency to curdle the blood, and anger interferes with digestion. To have healthy and agreeable looks, live above worry, care, fear and corroding thoughts. Cultivate a serious frame of mind under all circumstances; not in the depth of gloom and depression one day, and on the heights of hilarity the next.

SOME RULES THAT IT WILL PAY DAIRYMEN TO OBSERVE.

The Best Manner of Shallow and Deep Setting of the Milk-Conveniences for Cooling-Milk Should Be Set as Soon as Possible After Being Drawn From the Cows.

1. All milk should be carefully strained immediately after the milking is com-

2. When shallow pans are used, they atmosphere, at a temperature as even as possible at between 50 and 60 degrees Fahr.

3. When deep setting pails are used, be kept below 45 degrees Fahr. or as near 45 degrees Fahr. as is practicable. It is advantageous to have a supply of ice for use in the water. 4. When an abundant supply of cold water from a flowing spring is not available, the cooling power of fresh cold water may be applied economically by conveying it in a pipe to the bottom of the tank or creamer, and allowing the warmed water to run off from the top.

If the water be scarce, the overflow may from the cows. In a test with deep-setting pails, it was found that the quantity of butter fat not recovered in the cream, and consequently left in the skim-milk, was 11.48 per cent. greater when the setting of the milk in ice water was delayed one hour. than when it was set immediately after it was drawn. 6. There was not much difference in the percentage of butter-fat recovered into the cream, due to the temperature at which the milk was set, when between 88 and 98 degrees Fahr. The loss of butter-fat unrecovered from the skim-milk was 2.53 per cent, greater when set at 78 degrees than when set at 98 degrees Fahr. 7. The milk should be left undisturbed for about twenty-two hours. The quantity of butter-fat not recovered into the cream was 8 per cent. greater when the milk was set for only eleven hours than when it was set for twenty-two hours, in deep-setting pails in ice-water. 8. With ordinary milk, there is no gain from adding water "to thin it" when it is set. There was practically no difference in the percentages of butter fat not recovered into the cream when (1) twenty-five per cent. of water at 160 degrees Fahr, added to the milk, (2) twenty five per cent. of water at 60 degrees Fahr. added to the milk, and (3) no water added to the milk, were the differences of treatment in the setting of milk, in deep-setting pails in ice-water. -From Prof. Robertson's report.

AN EXHIBITION COOP.

It Is Roomy Enough for the Birds to Appear to Advantage and to Be Comfortable.

We have several requests for directions for building coops for exhibiting fowls at fairs and shows, and give below an illustration of such a coop. The illustration explains itself so well that but little by way of explanation is necessary. This coep is 30 inches high, 30 inches wide, and 24 inches deep-but these dimensions are by no means obligatory, as coops are built of various sizes, to suit the taste and purpose of the builder. We would urge, however, that exhibitors who supply their own coops make them roomy enough for the birds to be comfortable in; nothing is so certain to make the birds appear at a disadvantage as too close quarters. We would make a frame of 11/2-inch stuff-the ends, back and top being covered with stout serviceable duck, the floor being of half-inch matched boards, and the front being made of half-inch rods set into top and bottom of frame 21/2 inches apart, excepting that the two or three center rods are set into a sliding bed piece at bottom, and pass up through the top frame, giving access to the interior. The bed piece of the gate should slide upon the rod on each side. Short rods are set in the front, upon which to suspend cups for food and water. A curtain for the front, to be let down at night, and in day time be rolled up as in the illustration, adds to the lector's hands for collection. neatness of the structure; and ornamental brass-headed tacks to secure the duck ends, etc., improves the appearance. The Sheep and Their Care. Ensilage is good for ewes if not fed too bountifully. Sheep always seek the highest ground when they sleep.

Unprofitable sheep often consume as much as profitable ones. Keep the lamb growing as you would any other young animal. If you mean to feed sheep during the winter feed only good ones. Do not keep sheep and hogs or sheep and cattle together in one yard. Ten or twelve feet space should be allowed in the barn for each sheep. Mangels, carrots and oil cake will be good feed for sheep in winter. If a sheep does not yield eight pounds of wool it is not the sheep you want. Sheep that are kept in robust health Fashion is a fickle mistress. Its latest decree concerning visiting cards is that the woman who leaves her husband's cards at the conclusion of a call doesn't know anything at all about good form. This will be good news indeed for that large class of fashionable women attached to wholly unfashionable husbands, for nine should be placed in a room with a pure times out of ten they have to order and pay for their husband's cards out of their own allowance.

Farming in the Maritime Provinces

Differs materially from farming in Ontario and the West. Conditions are different and our markets net the same. A product profitable in those sections would not pay the tillage here, and a suggestion valuable to a westner, would prove disastrous if followed by our farmers. In subscribing for a agricultural publication it is well to bear this in mind. There's only one paper that treats of farming from a Maritine Province standpoint. It is the
