TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

Rise up ye Women that are at Ease

TRIFLING WITH DANGER.

"I was sitting at the table of an Irish merchant in Sligo a few years ago. He had eight children. He had his wines and brandy on the table, and, of course, asked me to drink, and I had to give my reasons for declining. This gave me an opportunity to put in a little temperance, and, while I was making my little speech by way of apology, I made this remark: 'I would like to see the man who could truthfully say, 'No relative or friend of mine ever fell through intemperance.'" I saw that this had struck him. His knife and fork fell from his grasp, and he remained silent for some seconds.

"Well," said he, at length, "I am not that man. My first Sunday-school superintendent was a man of genial spirit and noble mien. He went into the wine trade, and died a drunkard before he was forty. My first class-leader, I believe, was a good, intelligent useful man; but he, too, yielded to the habit of intemperance and died a drunkard. My own father suffered through intemperance."

"Yes," I exclaimed, "and you yourself are spreading before your friends and your children the instruments of death which slew your first Sunday-school superintendent, your first class leader, and your father. The very rope with which they were hung you are adjusting to catch your children. I can not afford to put my head into such a halter as that." —W. Taylor, in London Prim. Methodist.

THE BAR-ROOM.

Young man! have not your eyes been frequently attracted to a sign having the following ominous word on it: "Bar?" Avoid the place; it is no misnomer. The experience of thousands has proved it to be—

- A bar to respectability; A bar to honor; A bar to happiness; A bar to domestic felicity; Every day proves it to be— The road to degradation; The road to vice; The road to the gambler's hell; The road to the brothel; The road to poverty; The road to wretchedness; The road to want; The road to robbery; The road to murder; The road to prison; The road to the gallows; The road to the drunkard's grave; The road to hell.

Some, it is true, do not pass through all these stages; but intemperance, persisted in, always ends in the drunkard's grave, and, we have too much reason to fear, in hell.

The bar-room is truly— The curse of the drunkard's wife; The curse of the drunkard's child; The curse of the drunkard's home.

Those only who have known the bitterness of being a drunkard's wife or child can know the misery and the horror of a drunkard's home.

Young man! before you enter the bar-room, stop! ponder the path of your feet, ere it be too late!

Man of family! flee the bar-room, as you would in honor to fulfil the pledge of love made to her who is the companion of your joys and of your sorrows.—Baltimore American.

In Samoa there is "Prohibition with a party behind it," the party being the king. A late copy of the Samoa Times contains the royal proclamation: "No spirituous, vinous, or fermented liquors or intoxicating drinks whatever shall be sold, given, or offered to, or bought or bartered by, any native Samoan or Pacific Islander resident in Samoa, to be taken as a beverage. Any one who will be found guilty of the violation of this provision shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both fine and imprisonment, and the liquor not yet consumed shall be confiscated."

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease CONSUMPTION, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge), a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address,

Two of a Kind.

Husband (at the breakfast table)—Oh, for some of the biscuits my mother used to make!

Wife (sweetly)—I'm sorry you have not got them, dear. They would be just about stale enough by this time to go well with that remark.

Available Testimony.

The following story was told by Major Mensis of a Vincennes lawyer who appeared for the defendant in a trial by jury and put on the witness stand a boy from whose testimony he expected to gain a great deal. To the confusion of the attorney, the story told by the boy was greatly to the detriment of the defendant, and the attorney set to work to show that the boy was "worthless."

"What is your occupation?" he asked the boy.

"I work on my father's farm," the witness replied.

"You don't do much but sit around, do you?"

"Well, I help my father."

"But you're worthless, aren't you?" was the attorney's decisive question.

"I don't know whether I am or not," retorted the witness warmly.

"Then the attorney took another tack. "Your father's a worthlets man, isn't he?"

"Well, he works about the farm."

The attorney here fastened an eye which gleamed with triumph on the jury and nailed the boy with a glance from the other and said, "Isn't it true that your father doesn't do enough work to prevent his being called worthless?"

The boy had chafed under these unpleasant questions, and summoning his courage, he said loudly: "If you want to know so bad whether my father's worthless, ask him. There he is on the jury."—Indianapolis Journal.

Believed in Signs.

Stubb—You remember that merchant over the way who had a "Please Close the Door" sign in his window? Penn—Yes.

Stubb—Well, the other day the sheriff went over and put a padlock on his door.

Telescope Proprietor—Step up, ladies and gentlemen, and view the planet Mars. One penny, mum.

Old Lady—Oh, my! Hain't it round and smooth!

"Will the bald-headed gentleman please step away from the front of the instrument!—Success.

Mark Twain's rule—"When in doubt tell the truth,"—would be a good motto for assessors to print at the head of schedules.

An Innocent Critic.

Governor Roosevelt is always glad of a laugh. A short time ago he enjoyed an opportunity and paid for it. The incident happened while he was visiting Cornell University during a convention. The students, glad of a chance to display their enthusiasm, entertained the governor at one of the fraternity houses. Just as he was about to leave, one of his staff said to him:

"Governor, the boys have the foundation of a capital library, and I think they would appreciate a copy of your 'Rough Riders.'"

"All right, boys," said the governor heartily, "I'll be glad to send you a copy with my compliments. The book would be but a small return for your hospitality."

Whereupon one of the students broke in excitedly:

"That's so, governor, I've read it."

A Thoughtful Husband.

"You asked me to bring you some pin money this morning," said the young husband.

"Yes," she replied with an air of expectancy.

"Well," said he, "I thought I might as well save you a trip down town, so I brought you a paper of pins instead."

Limewater will sweeten jars and jugs which soap and water fail to cleanse. It is admirable for cleansing milk vessels and nursing bottles.

Drowned in Dyspeptic Despair. Are Thousands of Suffering Canadians, Like the stab of a knife it catches you in the side, or sends agonizing pangs through the pit of your stomach after eating. It worries and wears you till your nerves give out, and, like a drowning man, you feel you are sinking day by day and help can not reach you. To this you are mistaken. No matter how deep you have sunk, PETTY'S will reach you. As the fabled Mermaid is said to seek and soothe the drowned, so will the real PETTY'S seek your trouble and soothe your pain. Indigestion, biliousness, headache, and that despondent feeling that makes so many lives miserable, depart when PETTY'S are called in. No other medicine is compounded with such care, no other is so pure, so effective as DR. PETTY'S PILLS. D. L. Jones, M.D., B.A., B.Sc. (Lond.) the well-known chemist and scientist, writes as follows: "I have analyzed DR. PETTY'S PILLS, and find that they contain THE ESSENTIAL ACTIVE PRINCIPLES ONLY of the various elements of the prescription from which they are compounded, ensuring the best results from the smallest possible dose."

Often in the morning there comes a feeling of weariness, indescribable; not exactly ill, nor fit to work, but too near well to remain idle. A Ripans Tabule taken at night, before retiring, or just after dinner, has been known to drive away that weariness for months.
