Great Clubbing Offer.

The "Queens County Gazette" has made arrangements with the publishers of the "Vermont Farm Journal," which enables us to make the most remarkable clubbing offer ever before heard of in this section. Here it is:

- QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE 1 YEAR.
- VERMONT FARM JOURNAL 1 YEAR.
- TORONTO WEEKLY GLOBE 1 YEAR.
- AMERICAN POULTRY ADVOCATE 1 YEAR.
- THE GENTLEWOMAN 1 YEAR.
- MARION HARLAN'S COOK BOOK.
- TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM.

All for $1.75 Regular Price $5.00

This great combination meets the wants of the entire household. The Queens County Gazette gives all the local and county news; it is your home paper and no member of the household can do without it. The Vermont Farm Journal and American Poultry Advocate should be in the hands of every up-to-date farmer or poultry raiser. The "Gentlewoman" is the best paper we know of for the ladies, being very similar in size, make up and quality to the "Ladies' Home Journal." The Toronto Weekly Globe gives you the condensed news of the world in good, clean, readable form, the market reports and lots of other interesting matter. It will be eagerly read each week by every member of the family. Marion Harland's Cook Book contains over 300 well printed pages and more than 1,000 practical recipes; there is no better cook book in print for practical, every day use among the common people than this; it advocates economy in cooking. "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" by T. S. Arthur is the greatest temperance novel of the age and the most intensely interesting book you ever read; the work is complete and unabridged, printed from new plates on good paper and well bound—alone worth our price for the combination. Sample copies of papers for a two cent stamp. Address with the cash.

MONCTON 1899 Woolen Mills 1899

I have much pleasure in announcing to my customers and the general public that I will make them my annual call with a full line of goods from the above mills which will consist of

YARNS, SHIRTINGS, FLANNELS, BLANKETING, RUGGING, HOME-SPUNNS, TWEEDS, OVERCOAT-INGS, AND DRESS GOODS.

These goods need no introduction to you as for the past ten years I have called upon you. You have seen that great improvements have been made each year in the style, coloring and finish and this year is no exception. I am confident that I can offer you goods not excelled by any mill in the maritime provinces, and as this will be the last season I will call on you in this century I trust you will continue to give me the patronage you have so generously bestowed in the past and assist me to make my sales the largest of any year I have had the pleasure of dealing with you. I am,
Yours very truly,

Rise up ye Women that are at Ease

'TIS THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT.
Just a little here and there, boys,
Such a trifling thing, you think,
A dime for a yellow move,
And another one for drink;
A little spent in the card room,
A nickel for a cigar,
But Oh, do you ever think, boys,
'Tis the little things make or mar?
Just a little while from home, boys,
And ah! your unwary feet
Will be lured to sin-stained bypaths
That lead to ruin's broad street;
It is just the first wrong thought, boys,
Just a few vile words, ah me!
And your current of life is changing,
You are drifting out to sea.

Where no human hand can save you,
Rudderless and lost;
Don't you think these boasted pleasures
Are bought at a fearful cost?
'Tis the little things that count, boys,
That make up the mighty whole,
'Tis the little thoughts and deeds, boys,
In the balance against your soul.

NURSE EMILY'S STORY.

By Miss Annie A. Preston.

"Where am I, nurse?"
"Ward 10, New York Charity Hospital."
"What is the matter with me?"
"You have had a severe attack of delirium tremens and are now suffering from exhaustion."
"Exhaustion! I should think so! I am naturally a strong man, but now I am as helpless as an infant."
"I would not talk."
"Excuse me. You would, I am sure, were you in my place. Those daisies in your belt make me feel like a boy, and yet I am forty. Can I have one of them in my fingers?"
"Oh, certainly. They were sent from my father's rugged farm in Connecticut, where just now the fields are white with them."
"I was sure you were country bred, something about you told me so. I was raised in Vermont. Our Farm was called Turkey Hill, on account of the fowls my father raised for market."
"It seems to me now, looking back, that I was always caring for the pretty stupid things. Watching in the spring to see where they stole their nests, looking out that they were not molested by foxes while setting, caring for the tender young ones, and as they grew older keeping track of the various flocks and driving them home to roost at night. I have thought thousands of times that I wished there was some one to take half the care of me as I used to take of the turkeys."
"Every fall my father sold a great many of our birds to be used as targets at a turkey shoot held annually by the landlord of a disreputable tavern in an adjoining town, and all my better nature revolted at the idea of my pretty pets being, while yet alive, tied to a post to be shot at by those wanton sportsmen."
"My father, who was an intemperate man, always attended these questionable gatherings and I sometimes heard him talk over with the lazy fellows who hung about our cider mill, about the shots, the raffles over the dead birds, and the disputes and drunken broils that often grew out of it all."
"One day a lad about my own age came for turkeys and asked if I was going to the shoot; and when he found I never had been, asked my father if I might return with him, and I remember his curt reply: 'That is as his mother says. She manages the young ones; he can ask her.'
"When I did so, she, after a little hesitation, consented. When my father was told he muttered: 'Very well, she does not love the boy as I supposed she did!'
"The words went through my heart like a knife, for they were but the echo of my own thought, and they stayed with me the two days of the shoot, where I drank my first whiskey, smoked my first cigar and had my first fight; for what did it matter, mother did not care. She would not let me have come if she had loved me."
"Years later, when I was plunging headlong to destruction, I reproached her with this. 'Father did wrong but he trusted you with his children,' I said, 'and you disappointed him.'
"It was a sad mistake,' she said, with tears. And it was a sad mistake and my life has been a sad mistake."
"He whispered the words over and over until his life went out," said Nurse Emily, "and how I wished I could tell the mothers in isolated country places everywhere to keep hold of their boys, to keep them pure and sweet and true, not ashamed of the home love or the mother love, for it is the strong christian mothers that are the hope of the nation and of the world to-day."

Richard Coblen.
Money spent in the purchase of alcoholic liquor is so much money thrown away; so much money employed to purchase for one's self weakness and hurt of body and soul. This money would bring comfort to loved ones at home; it would be a safeguard against days of sickness and old age; poured into channels of benevolence, it would call down upon the giver blessings from men and from God.—Archbishop Ireland.

"I tell you," said a gentleman not long since, when conversing with a friend on temperance, how much it cost me to open my eyes on this subject. I commenced housekeeping with a beautiful supply of liquors; I continued in this way till my boy became a drunkard. Then my eyes were opened."—Temperance Herald.
Ammonia as a Fire Extinguisher.
Probably the best fire extinguishing liquid is aqua ammonia, without any addition whatever. We have personally had experience with the almost marvelous power of this substance in this direction. In one instance, where fire had originated probably from spontaneous combustion, in a pile containing several tons of cotton seed, and the interior of which was almost a solid body of live coal, a half gallon of ammonia completely smothered the fire.
In another, which occurred at Savenay, France, the vapors of a tank containing 50 gallons of gasoline caught fire in the linen room of a laundry. The room was instantly a mass of living flames, but a gallon and a half of ammonia water thrown into it completely and almost immediately extinguished the fire. The ammonia was in a glass demijohn in an apothecary shop next door to the laundry and was thrown into the room by the druggist as an experiment. So completely was the fire extinguished that workmen were enabled to enter the room almost immediately, where they found the iron tank of gasoline intact.—National Druggist.

Simple Food For Children.
To promote children's appetites there is no better plan than to give plenty of outside exercise, fun and frolic; make them regular in their habits and diet only upon plain, nourishing food and they will seldom, if ever, complain of lack of appetite. Never, however, keep them over-tasked in school or confine them closely to the house after school hours and frown down any attempt at play. If children are fed upon rich or highly seasoned food, nuts, etc., or are allowed to eat between meals it is hopeless to expect them to have an appetite for their proper meals. Don't allow them to study too much and especially keep them from reading the "penny dreadful." Sickness is the most expensive nuisance in the world, and although there are many cases where it makes children or people better, it generally makes them selfish, sad and misanthropic, mean and miserable. The best way to make children happy and good is to keep them well.
"Insomnia is a self-inflicted curse, through the violation of nature's laws," writes E. B. Warman in the Ladies Home Journal. "The cause may be over anxiety, planning for the morrow, thinking and worrying over the yesterday's and today's, but no opiate can remove the cause, even though it may induce sleep. If the cause is merely mental overwork, it may be quickly removed by relieving the excess of blood. Physical exercise is a panacea for about every ailment which human flesh is heir to. Therefore stand erect and rise slowly from the heels; descend slowly. Do this 40 or 50 times until you feel the congestion in the muscles of the leg. Almost instant relief follows, and sleep is soon induced. For those who are averse to a little work I would recommend instead a bowl of very hot milk (without so much as a wafer) immediately before retiring. The hotter the milk the better for the purpose. This will prove a better sleep producer than all the opiates known to medical science. It brings about an increased activity of the blood vessels of the stomach causing slight temporary congestion, which relieves the blood vessels of the brain. The hot milk is also quite strengthening to the stomach."

Appendicitis.
Appendicitis is not the surely fatal disease it has been often regarded. Professor Nothagel of Vienna finds that not less than 80 per cent of the cases run a simple course and recover under purely medical treatment. He states that opiates should be given, but no purgatives. There need be no uneasiness if the patient has no movement of the bowels for six or eight days.
TO CONSUMPTIVES.
The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge), a copy of the prescription used, which will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address,
