Poetry.
MANHOOD.
He stands the test where souls are tried, And truest honor finds, Who conquers, manfully, the pride That rules in feeble minds; Who seeks not rest in life's career Nor yet beyond the grave; Whose heaven is duty's noblest sphere— Not that which idlers crave.

He covets not the lordling's place, Nor vainly strives to scan The Master's mind, but asks for grace To do the best he can. His peace not torpor of the soul, But harmony within— Renouncing self to reach the goal And triumph over sin.
Once on the plough his hand he lays, His eyes ne'er backward turn; Fortune he seeks in virtue's way, Ill bought success he spurns. Looking his fellow in the face, He sees God's image there; What'er may help to lift the race His hand is quick to share.

Meekly he takes life's daily tasks As part of heaven's great plan; This boon—ought else denied—he asks To be a manly man. Angels attend on such an one, And stars their courses move To light his pathway to throne And garnish it with love. HIS NEW BROTHER.

Say, I've got a little brother, Never teased to have him, nuther, But he's here; They just went ahead and bought him, And, last week the doctor brought him, Wasn't that queer?

When I heard the news from Molly Why, I thought at first 'twas jolly, 'Cause, you see, I sposed I could go and get him And then mamma, course, would let him Play with me.

But when I had once looked at him, "Why!" I says "My sakes, is that him?" Just that mite!" They said "Yes" and "Ain't he cunnin'?" And I thought they must be funn'— He's a sight!

He's so small, it's just amazin', And you'd think that he was blazin', He'd so red; And his nose as like a berry, And he's bald as Uncle Jerry On his head.

Why he isn't worth a dollar! All he does is cry and holler More and more; Won't sit up; you can't arrange him— I don't see why pa don't change him At the store.

Now we've got to dress and feed him, And we really didn't need him More'n a frog. Why'd they buy a baby brother When they'd know I'd good deal ruther Have a dog?

"DO-IT-NOW" "WAIT-A-WHILE", Little Mistress "Wait-a-while," In the village of Old Style, Unhooked gown and slippers feet, Gazing at the idle street.

Little Master "Do-It-Now," Passing, sues with his best bow; "Go with me by cheerful ways To the town of Modern Days."

"There is work for us to do; And if each to a plain is true, There we'll build a pleasant home, You and I; and what's to come."

"I'm not ready," she replied; "And I'll wait till I can ride," The she moved to hide her gown, And her hair came tumbling down.

With regret the lad passed on; With regret the maid sat down; He to work, and do, and dare; She to worry, fret and care.

In the town of "Modern Days" Each one tells me, each one says Happy dwells bright "Do-It-Now," With his wife, sweet "I-Know-How."

In the village of "Old Style" Loiters still Miss "Wait-a-While," Unhooked gown and slippers feet, Gazing at the idle street.

The coming of the day. And when death's messenger to me The last sad message bears, Oh, let my soul ascend to God, Bright with a woman's prayers! A Domestic Remedy.

A strong decoction of dried camomile flowers is recommended to be used as a hot fomentation in cases of severe pain. It is very soothing for a gathering inside the mouth, and severe neuralgic pains in the face are often relieved by using it. Make two flannel bags and fill them lightly with boiled flowers. Squeeze one bag and apply it as hot as it can be borne to the painful part, covering with warm dry flannel folded twice. When this bag gets cold change with the second bag, which should be kept stewing between two plates in the oven. Keep repeating this until the pain is relieved.

How to Utilize Buttermilk. The housewives who always use sweet milk and baking powder in articles where such ingredients or their equivalents are called for little guess the superior results which may be obtained from the use of sour buttermilk and soda. If sour milk is used it must be freshly soured, not stale; hence, the best time to use it is in the summer time. Buttermilk is preferable all the year round. Biscuits, griddle-cakes, waffles, cornbreads, muffins, gems, gingerbread, cookies, etc., are all of them more tender, delicate and probably more wholesome (since the majority of baking powders are adulterated) if they are made of buttermilk and soda. A general rule is one level teaspoonful of soda to one pint of buttermilk or freshly soured milk. The soda must be first pulverized by rubbing with a knife on the table or bread board, then added to the flour, to be sifted with it. It is even well to sift the flour, soda and salt together two or three times to insure an even blending. In a very short time one learns to gauge the soda exactly to the acidity of the milk to be used. Baking powder cannot give the best results in the class of articles enumerated.—Woman's Home Companion.

TO CONSUMPTIVES. The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge), a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address.

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, 33-lyr. Brooklyn, New York

Thus they were Married. An exchange prints the following marriage ceremony, which was said by a Tennessee squire a short time ago: "Wilt thou take her for thy pard, for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard till hauled off in a hearse? Wilt thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes, make the fire every day and help her wash the dishes? Wilt thou comfort and support her father and mother, Aunt Jemima and Uncle John, three sisters and a brother?" And his face grew pale and blank; it was too late to jilt; as through the floor he sank he said, "I wilt."

"Oh, mamma," said little Tommy at a concert the other night, while the cornetist was rendering a difficult solo, "just hear the man, how he stutters through his trumpet."

Wheat bran is one of the best and cheapest foods for chickens, and eminently healthful. More bran and less corn would improve almost any flock. A richer food is bran and chops mixed, but, where whole corn is fed at evening, bran and oats mixed and fed wet is better for the morning meal.

Cook's Penetrating Plasters. Actor-Pugilist—Say, wot do you really tink of my actin'? Critic—Well—re—if you don't mind, I should prefer to tell you over the telephone.

Willie—Did he say Willie or William? Jimmie—He said William Henry. Willie—Good-by.

A woman whose pastor asked after her health replied dolefully: I feel very well; but I always feel bad when I feel well because I know I'm going to feel worse afterwards.

Often in the morning there comes a feeling of weariness, indescribable; not exactly ill, nor fit to work, but too near well to remain idle. A Ripans Tabule taken at night, before retiring, or just after dinner, has been known to drive away that weariness for months.
