Denim for Tablecloths, Etc.

For tablecloths denim is used plain, fringed all around, with a strip of white corduroy laid down the centre of the table, says the Decorator and Furnisher. Lines may be used in place of the corduroy if desired. The etched denim is used with the white counterpiece and sometimes with a pale yellow one, but that depends upon the color of the bowls and flowers to be used for the decoration. With the plain blue pale yellow bowls filled with dark red and red brown crysanthemums may be used with the best effect. The rockwood ware is exceedingly pretty with the etched table covers. These covers may be embroidered if desired, but the color is rich background, and it is well to make the decorations of flowers and china, A tablespread to use in a sitting room oi chamber might be embroidered with good effect.

Counterpanes and bolster covers are made of demin, some very elaborately ornamented, others plain with only a raveled fringe on three sides or a white knotted fringe is oceassionally seen.

Curry Cows Before Milking.

Cows should be curried and brushed in the morning before milking, as then they have just arisen from an all night's recumbency and are as dirty and dusty as at any time during the 24 hours. A prevalent custom for some milkers is to brush off the udder and teats after they have sat down to milk. This is wrong, as then more or less of the dirt will get into the empty pail, or, adhering to the hands of the milker, drop in afterwards. All the cows should be curried and their sides and udders brushed before the milking process has begun.

Care of Old People.

Many people when old require something to eat in the night; a more comfortable bed and pillows than they once needed; light but warm clothing on the bed. A flannel night dress and bed slippers would give better rest. Sometimes the sheets are too cold, and a rubber bag filled with hot water to warm the bed would prevent the loss of heat from the weakened body. A cup of coffee, if it agrees, strengthens the pulse. As much as can be digested of cream, butter, marrow and fat are often useful. Gelatine in boiled shanks of beef is good in soup with cayenne pepper.

Many old persons starve partially because they cannot chew, or feel too weak to chew their food, which cannot digest as well as before. See that your grandfather gets some good nourishment at every meal, of a kind he can and bread, or something comforting before retiring if he stays up until ten at night. If he goes early to bed he should get some nourishment early in the morning. Old people often wake at four. Young people may not have any idea how a weak pulsed person feels, who wakes early and must wait to a certain hour for breakfast. A cup of coffee or tea on rising or regularly at six in the morning, will enable an old man to enjoy the freshest hours of the day, instead of enduring them.

Dirty Eggs.

The shell of an egg is porous, and any offensive matter on it soon finds its way do to you, do ye even so to them." by odor at least, to the albumen within, and soon effects it injuriously. Care should be taken to allow no excrement of hens in nests where they lay their eggs. Neither should hens be allowed to make nests in manure piles, as they are quite apt to do, as the heating of manure will often start the germ if the egg is left too long in the nest, and the quickened germ will perish when removed from the warmth that started it into life. We are always suspicious of discolored eggs.

Farmers, make a note of this. Have you tried seeding your grain both ways of the fields? It will not only increase the yield, but help to protect the crop from hot winds. Drill in one-half bushel of wheat per acre in the ordinary way; then drill in one-half bushel per acre at right angles to the first seeding. If good seed is used, one bushel per acre is enough. By this method you cover the ground better, get a finer and firmer seed-bed, and a better yield. The rows of grain running both ways of the field will prevent the dry winds from blowing through and evaporating the moisture from the soil. Reports received from eleven farmers along the Soo line of North Dakota, who tried this method in 1898, show an adjoining, reports an increase of seven bushels of wheat per acre from the field 33-1yr. that was drilled both ways. Cross seeding requires a little more work, but it pays big returns. Give it a trial this

Rise up ye Women that are at Ease

WHAT WOMEN MAY DO TO PROMOTE PEACE ON EATRH.

Every woman can study for herself the beauty, purity and divine authority of the Principles of Peace and the claims they have on her personal allegiance, whether founded on our common humanity or upon the teaching and example of Christ.

When a woman has once grasped the fact that the seeds from which War springs and the fruit that it bears are full of evil, she will be at no loss to find ways of combating the Wrong and cherishing the Right.

IN THE HOME

Women may use their influence:

By distilling into the minds of the chil dren, both boys and girls, the noble principles of forgiveness of injuries, of patience with the less favored, of overcoming evil with good.

By stamping indelibly upon their minds the fundamental truth that all men are brothers, with the command of Christ, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy-

By guarding them from military toys, and objecting to warlike games; or anything that makes them familiar with taking life as a pastime.

By discouraging the spirit that loves to exalt itself at the expense of others, or to boast of superiority. or take advantage of the weak or ignorant.

By teaching them the divine law as to the sacredness of human life.

By setting before them examples of true heroism in saving life or property, or in self-denying labors for the good of mankind, instead of the false glories of War.

By watching carefully over their read ing, placing before them the pure and true, and accustoming them to try what they read by the New Testament standard of right and wrong.

IN SOCIAL LIFE

Women may use powerful influence: By the gentle advocacy of goodwill, patience, and charity towards all; of forbearance and heroic willingness to suffer, rather than do, a wrong.

By introducing the Teaching and Example of the Prince of Peace into the Sunday School, the Bible Class, or the Mother's Meeting.

By getting up drawing-room or other neetings for adults or juveniles.

By the pen, either in private letters, or in the magazines or newspapers. By circulating the many appropriate papers, leaflets, and tracts already written, and thus arousing interest and spreading information. By breasting with quiet confidence in God the waves of war panic which every now and then pass over the country. By refusing to repeat evil report against our neighbors.

By welcoming every token of right feeling. "If there be any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things."

By setting ever before ourselves and others the golden rule: "Whatsoever ye would that men should Neutralization, simultaneous mutual reduction of all armed forces, and whatever other fair and honorable means are devised either for settling International differences without war, or for preventing their arising.

The Foot of a Horse.

The foot of a horse is one of the most ingenious and unexampled pieces of mechanism in animal structure. The hoof contains a series of cal and thin laminæ of horn, amounting to about 500 and forming a complete lining to it. In this are fitted as many laminæ belonging to the coffin bone, while both sets are elastic and adherent. The edge of a quire of paper, inserted leaf by leaf into another, will convey a sufficient idea of the arrangement. Thus There was a long silence, then one of the weight of the animal is supported by as many elastic springs as there are laminæ in all the feet, amounting to about 4,000, distribuied in the most secure manner, since every spring is acted on in an oblique direction.
