FARM JOURNAL

Is your paper, made for you and not a misfit. It is 22 years old. It is the great boiler-down, hit-the-nail-on-the-head, quit-after-you-have-said-it, Farm and Household paper in the world—the biggest paper of its size in the United States of America—having over a million and a-half regular readers.

Any ONE of the BIGGLE BOOKS, and the FARM JOURNAL 5 YEARS (remainder of 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903) will be sent by mail to any address for A DOLLAR BILL. Sample of FARM JOURNAL and circular describing BIGGLE BOOKS free. WILMER ATKINSON, CHAS. F. JENKINS. Address, FARM JOURNAL, PHILADELPHIA

Farm and Household.

In all pruning care should be taken to train every tree to shade its own trunk.

In selecting trees or plants it is always best to select young, healthy ones.

The best strawberries are born on the thriest and most vigorous plants. A little well-rotted manure put around each plant will aid materially to secure this condition.

Painting Farm Buildings.

Early in spring is a much better time to paint farm buildings than later on in the season, when insects become more plentiful. Every farmer ought to know how to use the paint brush, so as to do this kind of work himself. Painters always ask high wages, and they are right in doing so, for constant work among paints especially those that contain lead, is unhealthy.

To Master a Kicking Cow.

There are few things around a farm that are more exasperating than a balky horse or a kicking cow. No trouble will be had with the latter if this plan is tried. Take two straps with a buckle on the end of each. Buckle one of them about the animal's hind legs just above the big joint and back of the udder. This should not be loose enough to slip over the joint and not tight enough to prevent slipping the other strap through it. Slip the second strap through the first, and draw up until the legs are held close together. You can then proceed in safety with the milking. Your cow will neither kick nor run away.

There should be no foolishness about the business of milking. Make the cow glad to have you come to her relief. If you can not do this, you are not the one to milk. Let there be neither jerking, dawdling nor fussing, and especially no harshness. Neither can you milk and tell yarns at the same time.

Household Items.

When baking a cake the paper which lines the tin should be removed as soon as the cake is taken out of the oven.

When mashing potatoes use hot milk, and if you have been used to using cold you will be surprised at the difference in their lightness.

When in need of a poultice to keep heat but not to "draw" very much, as in neuralgia, use cinnamon instead of mustard. Make and use the same as for the mustard.

A quick way to stop the toothache, if the tooth is a "hollow" one, is to moisten a small bit of cotton in warm water, then dip in soda and place it in the cavity of the tooth.

Nothing will help a sore throat caused by a cold, sooner than a cloth wrung out of cold water and wrapped around the neck on retiring. Always wrap a thick piece of flannel around the other cloth.

To clean a greasy range rub it while still hot with a piece of rag dipped in turpentine. This removes all grease; and if a drop or two of turpentine is also mixed with the blacking the stove will polish with very little trouble.

When giving cod-liver or castor oil or like substances to either children or adults, let them take a few drops of vinegar in the mouth first; also first dip in vinegar the spoon that you use. This effectually removes all taste or smell of the oil.

How to treat wet shoes—Wipe off all dirt with a damp cloth, then well rub in a little sweet oil or vaseline. Stand in a cool place to dry, and then polish with blacking, to which a drop or two of paraffin has been added. Filling wet boots with dry bran is an excellent plan, as the bran absorbs the moisture, and leaves the leather soft and pliable.

Successful Country Homes.

Every one is interested in a pretty home, and The Ladies' Home Journal is going to picture a number of the best houses—artistically and architecturally—in this country. Each will be shown in sufficient detail to make it serve as a model for any one wishing to build a home—either like the original or with such modifications as existing circumstances may necessitate. Only houses that really stand for the best results in architecture will enter into the series, which will start in the April Journal.

It is not well to become so deeply engrossed in the petty cares of housekeeping that we allow our lives to narrow into certain grooves, nor to bind ourselves to chains of habit that in time we find so hard to break.

Well would it be for every woman whose life is tending towards narrowness to plan for some change of thought and scene at least once a week, if not oftener.

We need society change of air and place. No woman can expect to keep continually calm, serene, and pleasant amid the cares and worries of daily life who steadily ignores the needs of her nature, for change of work, scene, fresh air, and the society of other minds outside the home circle.

Recreation in some form, at occasional intervals, is as imperative a need of our lives if we would keep our minds, nerves and tempers in a healthy condition, as food and drink are imperative needs of our bodies. It will prevent our minds from becoming shut in upon ourselves, and we shall thereby be better able to put in practice Dr. Hale's grand motto, which though written especially for young people, is applicable for all:

Look up and not down,
Look forward and not back,
Look out and not in,
And lend a hand.

—Alice Brown Cutler.

Advice to Literary Aspirants.

In submitting manuscript for publication in a magazine, the placing of the author's full name and address at the head of the first sheet and the enclosing of return postage, are universally accepted by editors as sufficiently indicating the fact that the article is to be paid for if it is to be published, or to be returned to the author if it is not acceptable. Letters are usually sent with manuscripts, but are really superfluous unless some special explanation is necessary. A price should not be put upon a manuscript unless the author has positively decided not to accept any smaller amount.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

The foolish practice of tossing a helpless baby in the air, while it screams with fright and delight, is a most dangerous one.

A physician with a large practice tells the story of a precociously bright child which showed evident delight when tossed in this way by a doting grandfather who was accustomed to play with it every evening, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. The child trembled with delight when the night frolic was over, but one evening from this trembling it passed into a spasm, the first indication of one of those fatal brain diseases against which medical science is helpless.

The Cost of a Boy.

I read the other day that it cost five thousand dollars to bring up a city boy and educate him and dress well. I said to myself: "That is because everything in the city has to be bought and living is high." But I began to study the thing, and I found out that even a country boy costs his parents a good deal.

When you count what a boy eats and what he wears, and the school books he has to have, and the doctor's bills that have to be paid when he gets the measles or the scarlet fever, he will cost his folks at home at least one hundred dollars a year. If a boy is pretty bad to smash things or to kick his shoes right out, he costs more than that, so when I am twenty-one and old enough to do for myself, I shall have cost father more than two thousand dollars.

Mother cooked my food, made my clothes and patched them, washed and ironed for me when I was a little fellow and whenever I was sick, and she never charged anything for that. If she were dead and father had to hire all that done, it would cost another hundred dollars a year more; and that two thousand dollars' worth of work mother will have done for me by the time I am a man.

Four thousand dollars for a boy! what do you think of that?

"These are hard times. When parents put four thousand dollars into a boy, what have they a right to expect from him? Is it fair for a boy to play truant at school? Is it fair for him to play ball, go in swimming, or hang around town, all the time, when maybe his father's potatoes are not dug nor the wood brought in for his mother? Is it fair for him to disappoint them by swearing and drinking? Is it fair to forget his parents and neglect even to write them letters?"

"Some of our parents have put about all of the property they have into us boys and girls. If we make whiskey decenter of ourselves, they will be poor indeed; but if we make good honest citizens and substantial men, they will feel as if they had good pay for bringing us up."

Boys what are you worth to your parents?—The Advance.

A Great Pictorial Serial for a Magazine.

Photographs of the most interesting and picturesque spots in America have been made for The Ladies' Home Journal, and they will be reproduced in that magazine on the finest coated paper. This series of pictures—"Picturesque America," as it is to be called—will show the great beauties of landscape and waterscape of this country in a way in which they have never been seen before. Many of the pictures are of places that have escaped the eye of the tourist following the beaten paths of travel. They were collected by one who has crossed the continent more than one hundred times, who has viewed the scenery with appreciative eyes, and who is, perhaps, the best qualified man in the country to describe them.

Brain worry wears much faster than work, and too much mental work is harmful. The brain wears rapidly, and requires abundant time for rest and repair in sleep. When this is supplied almost any amount of work may be performed. With sleep comes a lessened activity of the circulation of the blood in the brain, and thereby is furnished a period of rest and reinvigoration. Then it is that the substance of the brain is renewed and prepared for fresh activities.

Clara—Did you notice that fine looking gentleman turn found to look back at me after he had passed?

Maud—Yes. Isn't it queer how little it takes to turn a man's head?

The quiet honeymoon is to be commended, even though it may result in partial disillusion. It is better to face prosaic facts at the outset, and shape one's course accordingly.

"My husband courted me for five years," once remarked a middle-aged woman, "and we thought we were alike in all our tastes—perfectly in accord in all our sympathies. It took only five days of the honeymoon to find out that we were unlike in everything, and did not care for the same things at all. So we had to begin over again, and become acquainted with each other as we really were. It was trying at first, but we had the mental pliability of youth, and soon learned to make the best of things. Now we are as happy as most people, and have never regretted that our eyes were opened to the truth in time"—New York Telegram.

OUR CLUBBING OFFER.—Having made arrangements with the Publishers of the "Family Herald and Weekly Star," of Montreal, we are prepared to give that excellent paper with the QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE and the two beautiful pictures "Alma" and "Pussy Willows" for $1.50. ### Bob McCready.

Above is a splendid portrait of Bob McCready, one of the best football players in Canada. He is a member of the Ottawa University team, and has been in all of its championship matches. He is a splendid specimen of robust Canadian manhood, but, strong as he is, he has known what it is to suffer from dyspepsia. So seriously afflicted was he at the opening of the past (1899) season, that he was not able to go out with his team. Pains in the back and sides, intermittent headache, and the awful pangs he suffered after eating, the result of an impaired digestion, warned him that he was in no condition to play football, the hardest of all games. Besides, he lacked the energy to carry him through a campaign. He consulted his physician, but that gentleman gave him no relief. "At this stage," he writes, "I was advised to try Dr. Petty's Pills, the new remedy that one of my friends assured me was wonderful in its effects. I was skeptical, but he sounded their praises so persistently that I was at length induced to try them. The very first dose drove the pain away, and at the end of a week I regained my team, and I have since through one of our hardest seasons in the best form that I have ever been in. Dr. Petty's Pills are alone to thank for my fine condition. They are the best medicine I have ever taken. They make one so strong and so full of energy, I, for one, shall never take any others when I feel in need of a strengthener." Such is the recommendation of this well-known athlete, and such will be the experience of everyone who tries this wonderful remedy. If your druggist cannot supply you, write to us, enclosing price, 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for $2.50. Address The Dr. Petty Medicine Co., Ottawa, Canada.
